Hard Test Is Facing Proposal

Expect Monopoly Cry at Hearings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads turned their efforts today to persuading the federal government that their proposed merger, endorsed by stockholders of the two huge lines, was in the public interest.

The merger plan highballed through simultaneous annual meetings of the railroads Tuesday, the Pennsylvania's in Philadelphia and the Central's in Albany.

$5 Billion Assets

The endorsement was overwhelming.

The proposal next goes to the Interstate Commerce Commission where it is expected to face a stern test.

Railroad officials predicted ICC hearings beginning in mid-summer and approval of the merger by the end of next year.

However, labor unions and some government officials were expected to oppose the merger at the hearings.

The Transport Workers Union, which claims 30,000 members employed by the two lines, said in New York City that the proposed "monopoly merger jeopardizes our national safety...and threatens wholesale slaughter of railroad jobs."

If the merger goes through, the combined system — to be called the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co. — would have assets of about $5 billion, 20,000 miles of rail routes, and 120,000 employes.

The merger is the largest ever proposed. The Pennsylvania has greater assets than any other railroad in the country, and the Central ranks third, behind Southern Pacific.

Alfred E. Perlman, Central president, expressed confidence that the merger would win ICC approval.

"I don't see how it could fall through," he commented. "I don't think the administration would want to cripple public transportation."

No Surprise

The reaction on the stock market to the merger votes indicated that investors considered the outcome of the shareholders' meetings no surprise.

Pennsylvania was off ⅛ and the Central gained ⅛.

The merger proposal is one of a series in the industry. It is aimed, in part, at combatting rising costs and increasing competition from truck, water, and air carriers.

The railroads expect savings of more than $75 million a year to result from their union.

Quilty Bid Is Low on Insurance

Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced that the Lawrence A. Quilty Agency, 58 Pearl Street, which bid low at a fixed premium of $35,213.18 has been awarded the city's package insurance coverage.

Insurances provided are comprehensive automobile liability, comprehensive general liability, workmen's compensation and employes' liability, and other physical damage insurance.

Other Bidders

Other local insurance companies in the open competitive bidding advertised March 20 and their bids were: Ronald A. Augustine, Inc. 255 Wall Street, $36,203.11; the Flisser-deGroff Agency, Inc. 52 Main Street, $40,384; C. M. Rinschler Inc., 52 Main Street, which bid only on workmen's compensation and employes' liability coverage, and Tremper, Gaffken & McEntee, Inc. 44 Main Street, which entered a retrospective rating bid of $46,386. The Quilty Agency also entered a retrospective bid of $39,034.

The mayor reported that the Quilty Agency bid of $35,213.18 represents an annual premium savings of $2,280.50 under the premiums charged the city by the Marie A. Koenig Agency for the same types of coverage. However, he said, the Quilty bid included an increase in the limits of liability bodily injury protection to $250,000 and $1,000,000 from the $100,000 and $300,000 limits in the Koenig policies. Also, there is an increase in the limits of property damage coverage from $100,000 to $250,000. Were the Koenig policies set at these higher protective limits, he explained the annual premium would have been approximately $39,763, some $4,550 higher than the Quilty bid.

Subject to Audit

The mayor said that all these policies, including those formerly held by the Koenig Agency, are subject to annual audit, and the final premium cannot be determined until the end of the policy year.

The mayor revealed that he had been considering the merits of retrospective rating plan insurance as against coverage at a fixed annual premium since the bids were opened on April 10 in the presence of the bidding agencies, corporation counsel, and city clerk. The Mayor explained that retrospective rating plans offer the possibility of premium reductions if the total amount of the claims against the City are lower than normal during the policy year.

Considers Saving

"However," he said, "I don't think the city is in a financial position where it should gamble on its future loss record. Since we are able to take advantage of a substantial savings with a fixed annual premium, I have awarded the contract for these four types of insurance coverage (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

May Slow Rusk Move With Reds

Split Could Build UpOtherProblems

WASHINGTON (AP)—A potentially dangerous open split between the United States and West Germany clouded the outlook today for future U.S. talks with the Soviet Union on terms of a possible Berlin settlement.

U.S. officials said the Kennedy administration is fully determined to go ahead with the probing conversations. But there was some uncertainty as to just how fast Secretary of State Dean Rusk would be able to move. He is due to have another meeting with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin in the next week or so.

JFK View Expected

President Kennedy was expected to discuss the situation at a midafternoon news conference, probably emphasizing his intention that the conversations be carried on in full consultation with West Germany and other directly interested countries.

Officials here said it was not possible to assess immediately the full impact of the open breach between Adenauer and the Kennedy administration over the conduct of the U.S.-Soviet talks.

But any such rift in Allied ranks is always worrisome and potentially hazardous because of the possible impact on other Allied problems.

Useless: Adenauer

The line which Adenauer has taken in public discussion at Berlin this week was described by these officials as differing sharply from the line which Foreign Minister Gerhardt Schroeder took in talks with Rusk at Athens as recently as last weekend.

Adenauer told a news conference Tuesday that "I see no ground for continuing the talks" between American and Soviet officials. He also asked at one point in the news conference: "Do you think there is no danger in continuing talks indefinitely without result??" The effect of his question was to suggest that he thinks it might prove dangerous to carry on the exploratory discussion indefinitely.

Levitt Charges Rocky Fails on Jobs, Taxes

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The state comptroller says New York State has "lagged behind the nation" since 1958 in employment and business activity and that preferential tax treatment has failed to stimulate business and has reduced revenues.

Arthur Levitt spoke Tuesday night at the 35th annual dinner of the Union Lable and Service Trades Department, AFL-CIO.

Denies Improvement

Levitt, the only Democratic member of Gov. Rockefeller's Republican Administration, said a decline in employment between 1958 and 1961 failed to support claims that business had improved. The governor's administration, he said, claims that the business picture had improved in the past four years.

"The modest increase in manufacturing, construction, wholesale and retail trade activity during this period has not been of significant magnitude to cause an upswing in the basic economy of our state," he said.

The comptroller said there had been "too much emphasis on tax policies" as a means of stimulating business and employment.

"Preferential tax treatment afford to high income individuals and businessmen through tax conformity and through affording capital gains treatment to stock option, have served not to stimulate business, but to lessen revenue available to the state."

Must Sell Advantages

Rather, he said, the state should stress the state's natural advantages as an aid to the economy. Officials should "sell" the advantages of various regions of the state to various types of business firms, he added.

Levitt questioned the need for state authorities such as the Job Development Authority. He said he agreed with the purpose of the authority but expressed belief that the state government could handle its function.

The authority was created to loan money to local development agencies for further loans to firms for industrial expansion.

He also said he was disappointed that the Legislature had not enacted the $1.50 minimum wage and increase unemployment insurance benefits to a permanent 39 weeks duration.

UAW Plans Big Drive to Get Out Vote

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Labor strategists have come up with an embarrassing statistic: Union members outnumber professionals and business executives 2-1 but each group exercises about equal voting power in national elections.

Politically conscious delegates to the United Auto Workers Union convention got this information before they acted to support a drive to add 20 to 30 liberal House members to Congress in the fall elections. President Kennedy made it plain he counts on UAW support for Democrats.

President Walter Reuther and other major UAW officers were due to be elected by the convention today to new two-year terms. His slate included a Negro for the first time, Nelson (Jack) Edwards of Detroit, candidate for the UAW Executive Board.

REPAIRING DAMAGE TO POWER LINES—A trailer truck, moving away from the curb on Maiden Lane between Albany and Clinton Avenues Tuesday afternoon police said snapped a utility line pole and its weight, plus that of wires, involved two others. Service was disrupted in the shopping area on Albany Avenue near Maiden Lane and in the nearby residential area. Repairs and replacement of poles were completed last night. The poles are jointly owned by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. and the New York Telephone Company. The tractor-trailer, owned by Automobile Transportation, Inc., of Mahwah, N. J., police said, was driven by John Fusco, 44, of 102 Trinity Place, Hillside, N. J. Utility company repairmen are shown here at the scene. The mishap was reported to the police at 3:15 p. m. Must Speed Up Use of Research Findings, Health Groups Advised

"The pace of the application of the findings of medical research must be accelerated," Virginia G. S. Burnham, of Greenwich, Conn., consultant to the Surgeon General on Health Research Facilities, told 200 people at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday night.

Mrs. Burnham was principal speaker at the annual dinner-meeting of the Ulster County TB and Health Association participated in by the Ulster County Heart Chapter. She is a past member of the National Heart Council of the National Institutes of Health, and director of Connecticut Heart Association and Gaylor Hospital.

Officials Elected

Elections were held by both the TB Association and the Heart Chapter, directors being chosen by the the health group and executive committee members by the Heart Chapter.

Mrs. Burnham's topic was "An Ounce of Prevention."

"Health is God's great blessing with which we are endowed at birth, without which we cannot live to the full, and which I firmly believe it is our solemn duty to ourselves, our families and society to maintain to the best of our ability," the speaker said.

"What do we do as individuals about the prevention of illness and disability? What is our society doing about the maintenance and epidemiology of health?" the speaker asked.

Mrs. Burnham said there is much that we as individuals can do. Probably the most advanced and best developed field of preventive medicine today is in the field of pediatrics, she remarked.

"The majority of us take care of our children, and see that they have periodic checkups from the time they are born, as well as the vaccinations and inoculations to prevent many of the diseases that killed so many babies and children 50 years ago," Mrs. Burnham said.

"What is our society doing about preventive medicine?" asked the speaker, who is president of the Connecticut Manufacturing Co. Inc. and an outstanding leader in the field of health. "There is a great deal being accomplished by organized medicine and by the government at all levels," she said. Svirsky Appeals to Lions For Backing on Parking Plan

"When the patient has a heart attack, the doctor doesn't treat his toenail," is the statement George Svirsky, uptown pharmacist, used in describing the problem and possible solutions to the uptown section's need for immediate action on the part of the city government. Svirsky, addressing fellow members of the Kingston Lions Club, made a spirited appeal to the organization Tuesday to back the uptown businessmen in obtaining the remedy of a bond issue for the purchase of public parking facilities.

Describing North Front Street as one suffering from the "disease of deteriorating buildings, Svirsky displayed both enthusiasm and impatience as he forthrightly called for a quick, positive solution to decreasing assessments on Wall Street, with consequent shifting of a heavier tax burden to all other property owners in the city, by the creation of adequate parking space on North Front Street to replace many of the "dying" buildings. Financing of this project would be through a bond issue that would be self-liquidating over a thirty-year period, with the city not only saving the uptown business section, but, eventually owning a revenue-producing parking area with a $23,000 income.

Deals With Cost

The cost of such a project Svirsky estimated at $500,000. The interest cost was estimated at $173,000 over the 30 years. An estimated $23,000 of annual (Continued on Page 10, Col. 8)

Two Parties Start Trading Talk Concerning Taxes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republicans and Democrats in the State Legislature have begun their biennial election battle by trading verbal punches over taxes.

Lawmakers in both parties met here Tuesday in what were billed as kick-off meetings for the 1962 legislative campaigns.

Republican leaders gave full support to Gov. Rockefeller's pledge that he would hold the line on taxes if he were elected to another four-year term in November.

But Democrats said there was a "certainty of increased taxes if Rockefeller is returned to office." They said taxes would be a major campaign issue.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino told a news conference he had "a great deal of confidence in the governor's ability to predict the economic future."

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney agreed with Carlino. The two leaders of the GOP-controlled Legislature said they endorsed Rockefeller's position that an expanding state economy (Continued on Page 10, Col. 8)

Centaur Failure May Force Delay Of Orbital Shot

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Radio signals and telescopic camera films were analyzed today by technicians seeking the cause of the in-flight explosion of the first Centaur high-energy space rocket.

The study was watched closely by Project Mercury officials for any clue which might force a delay of the orbital space flight of astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, scheduled for May 17.

Is Serious Blow

The 105-foot Centaur blew apart 30,000 feet above the Atlantic Ocean 55 seconds after it was fired on its maiden flight Tuesday.

The spectacular failure dealt a severe blow to U.S. plans to develop the rocket as a booster for sending heavyweight paylods into earth orbit and to the moon, Mars and Venus.

Mercury officials were concerned lest the trouble be traced to the Centaur's Atlas first stage. There were indications that the Atlas was at fault.

A similar Atlas missile in on a launching pad here being prepared to loft Carpenter into space on a three-orbit mission similar to that made by Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. on Feb. 20.

The Atlas is a complex vehicle with more than 300,000 moving parts. If the Centaur failure is traced to the Atlas system, then that part of Carpenter's booster would be checked thoroughly before a green light would be given to his space ride. Analysis of the data may take two or three days.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had hoped for a successful first flight of the Centaur to help reduce nearly a year of frustrating delays in launching the rocket. The main problem stems from developing high-energy liquid hydrogen as a propellant for the second stage.

Mansfield Concedes

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana had conceded in advance, in a talk with newsmen, that the leadership couldn't muster the needed two-thirds vote to restrict debate. He said it "looks pretty close."

Mansfield said that regardless of the outcome of the effort to (Continued on Page 10, Col. 7)

Centaur Failure May Force Delay Of Orbital Shot

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Radio signals and telescopic camera films were analyzed today by technicians seeking the cause of the in-flight explosion of the first Centaur high-energy space rocket.

The study was watched closely by Project Mercury officials for any clue which might force a delay of the orbital space flight of astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter, scheduled for May 17.

Is Serious Blow

The 105-foot Centaur blew apart 30,000 feet above the Atlantic Ocean 55 seconds after it was fired on its maiden flight Tuesday.

The spectacular failure dealt a severe blow to U.S. plans to develop the rocket as a booster for sending heavyweight payloads into earth orbit and to the moon, Mars and Venus.

Mercury officials were concerned lest the trouble be traced to the Centaur's Atlas first stage. There were indications that the Atlas was at fault.

A similar Atlas missile in on a launching pad here being prepared to loft Carpenter into space on a three-orbit mission similar to that made by Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. on Feb. 20.

The Atlas is a complex vehicle with more than 300,000 moving parts. If the Centaur failure is traced to the Atlas system, then that part of Carpenter's booster would be checked thoroughly before a green light would be given to his space ride. Analysis of the data may take two or three days.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had hoped for a successful first flight of the Centaur to help reduce nearly a year of frustrating delays in launching the rocket. The main problem stems from developing high-energy liquid hydrogen as a propellant for the second stage. Controlling this tricky, supercold fuel, which must be kept at (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

REPAIRING DAMAGE TO POWER LINES—A trailer truck, moving away from the curb on Maiden Lane between Albany and Clinton Avenues Tuesday afternoon police said snapped a utility line pole and its weight, plus that of wires, involved two others. Service was disrupted in the shopping area on Albany Avenue near Maiden Lane and in the nearby residential area. Repairs and replacement of poles were completed last night. The poles are jointly owned by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. and the New York Telephone Company. The tractor-trailer, owned by Automobile Transportation, Inc., of Mahwah, N. J., police said, was driven by John Fusco, 44, of 102 Trinity Place, Hillside, N. J. Utility company repairmen are shown here at the scene. The mishap was reported to the police at 3:15 p. m. Officers Thomas Coffey and George Barringer investigated. (Freeman photo)

Money to Remove Tracks, Not for Sewers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Area Redevelopment Administration has approved a grant of $25,000 to finance removal of railroad tracks and other facilities at Auburn, N.Y.

An earlier announcement from the agency had said erroneously that the money was to help finance rerouting of water and sewer lines.

The ARA said Tuesday that removal of the railroad tracks and other facilities would help Alco Products expand its plant at Auburn and create 183 new jobs. The firm now employes 627 persons at the plant.

Auburn has given 60,000 square feet of land for the expansion and Alco plans to spend $28,000 for additional land. The Auburn Industrial Development Foundation contributed $2,000.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS

In continues to be a good general rule of thumb that summit meetings are not likely to be productive unless there has been sound preparation at a lower diplomatic level. More or less impromptu meetings between heads of state cannot be expected to produce much in the way of solid agreements.

It does not follow that such meetings would invariably be futile. Rather a good case can be made for the position that there should be more summit talks. If they were not built up too much in advance, such talks might be a means toward the desirable end of increasing understanding—and correspondingly reducing the danger of misunderstanding—among those responsible for the decisions of peace and war.

One trouble in the past has been that the public expected too much of these confrontations. The problem may be mainly psychological. It involves making clear that final solutions should not be expected from all summit conferences. Once that idea was accepted, such talks could be held now and then simply for an exchange of views. This would not exclude the possibility of reaching conclusive agreements, but the public would not always expect world-shaking results.

Historically, meetings of heads of state from rival powers have been full of pomp and portent. There was reason for that when summitry was both laborious and time-consuming. In these days of jet travel, meetings are possible on short notice, with little preparation and fanfare. They should be held, as President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan said recently, whenever there are indications that they might do some good.

'FREE' TV MOVIES

The alert television viewer may have noticed that some of what he has seen lately has been neither regularly scheduled programs nor commercials. So-called public relations films, varying in length from a minute to half an hour, are being used increasingly as "fillers" by stations scattered throughout the country.

Numerous such films are available to stations without charge. Some of the films, though purporting to be educational, are outrightly commercial; others employ a much "softer" sell, depending on casual mention of a firm or product. The effort, in almost all of them, is to portray something that will engage the attention of viewers and focus it to some extent on a sales message.

The stations get such films for nothing. The firms or organizations which supply the films also get something for nothing—advertising which in some cases would be worth a considerable sum if it came through ordinary channels. This may all sound fine, but there is a catch to it as far as the public is concerned.

The catch is that relatively few stations using such films bother to tell their audience that what it is seeing is a commercial or ideological message. This is not so bad when the film concerned is one that makes no bones about advertising. But what of the film that subtly infuses its educational and entertaining footage with a plug for ideas or products?

In a newspaper or magazine, generally speaking, "public service" ads of companies or organizations are clearly labeled as such. The television audience is entitled to a similar designation of the free "public service" movies.

CHICKEN UNDER WRAPS

It is pleasant to learn that while some branches of science and technology have been preoccupied with sending a man to the moon, others have concentrated their efforts on that mundane but tasty item, the chicken. We do not have reference to those who juggle genes and thus produce a fowl with a bigger drumstick or more white meat. The fellows we're thinking of try to do more with the bird now at hand.

Specifically, we refer to the development of a machine which will put a cut-up chicken together again. No magic is involved; the cut-up bird remains cut up. What the machine does is fit the pieces in the original arrangement, then wrap them in transparent, stretchy plastic.

Result: A chicken that looks like a chicken but that comes apart in neat segments when unwrapped. This saves the housewife some work. It also tends to ease tension among members of the Society of Nervous Carvers. And it provides welcome assurance that science is thinking about something besides What's Out There.

'These Days'

THE DAIRYMAN'S BATTLE

When a dairyman faces fines amounting to $20,899.99, because a bureaucrat says so, it is time for all citizens to have a look at the situation. Dairyman Jesse R. Stalker of Ravena, New York, in September 1958, purchased a 20 quart can of sweet cream from Crowley's Dairy's Albany Division. This was an accommodation for his customers because his own herd of 175 cows did not produce enough milk that month for him to process cream.

The following October and November, he ordered three more cans each month. Had Stalker purchased the cream in two quart containers, he would not have been in trouble, but as he bought them in 20 quart containers, he had violated a regulation. Thereupon the Department of Agriculture decided to ruin him, put him out of business, destroy him. He is, in effect, ordered, to pay a fine. As Representative Riehlman says:

". . . Because Mr. Stalker was unaware of this small technicality in the law, it is likely to cost him most of what he and his wife have spent a lifetime of hard work building up. He will be forced to sell his entire dairy herd or he will be forced to mortgage his farm. Incidentally, the regulations will only let him sell his herd between the months of June and November."

Who does these crazy things?

Well, the Department of Agriculture, on December 1, 1961, issued Order No. 2 "Regulating the Handling of Milk in the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area," which prior to January 1, 1962, was Federal Order No. 27. (Do not question me about these dates, I am copying them exactly as they appear on the cover of the document.) No wonder that milk, when it comes to the big cities, costs so much — one needs to hire a specialist to read the order. If a farmer misses a slight point in the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area geography, which includes areas in New York State, New Jersey and — Oh, the Devil with it — here is the description:

"The following counties and parts of counties in the State of New York: Albany; Broome; Cayuga (except the townships of Sterling, Victory, Conquest, and Montezuma); Chemung; Chenango; Columbia; Cortland; Delaware; Dutchess; that part of Essex consisting of the townships of Schroon, Ticonderoga, Crown Point, and Moriah; Fulton (except the township of Stratford); Greene; Herkimer (except the townships of Webb, Ohio, and Salisbury); Madison; Montgomery; Oneida (except the townships of Ava, Boonville, Forestport, and Florence); Onondaga; Orange; Oswego (except the townships of Redfield and Boylston); Otsego; Putnam; Rensselaer; Rockland; Saratog (except the townships of Day, Edinburg, and Providence); Schenectady; Schoharie; Schuyler; that part of Steuben consisting of the townships of Addison, Corning, and Erwin; Sullivan; Tioga; Tompkins; Ulster; Warren (except the townships of Johnsburg, Thurman, and Stony Creek); Washington; and Yates (except the townships of Italy, Middlesex, and Potter); and in the State of New Jersey: Bergen; Essex; Hudson; Hunterdon; Middlesex; Monmouth; Morris; Ocean (except the boroughs of Barnegat Light, Beach Haven, Harvey Cedars, Ship Bottom, Surf City, Tuckerton, and the townships of Eagleswood, Lacey, Little Egg Harbor, Long Beach, Ocean, Stafford, and Union); Passaic; Somerset; Sussex; Union; and Warren."

There apparently is a Marketing Administrator, who has the powers of a Czar. He can "make rules and regulations to effectuate the terms and provisions" of the order. All good law places the burden of proof on the complainant. For instance, if a man is arrested for stealing, the police must prove that he stole. Not so a milk handler. Sec. 1002.31 under the title "Burden of proof," puts the burden on the handler.

The object of regulation is not to provide advantages to big operators or to molest small or big operators. It is to assist an industry to provide efficiently a good product, at a fair price. Agricultural regulation had for its objective the protection of the American farmer so that he would not sink to the status of a peasant. But the regulators are job-holders and status-developers and unless they are regulated themselves they become mandarins, who give the impression of being superior to all other humans.

Congress ought to investigate that $20,899.99 fine and other farmers ought to rise in their wrath at such nonsense. It is not only injustice; it is stupidity. The OPA was like that and we still have OPA-minded regulators.

Public's Health Guarded By Dedicated Citizenry

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How is the public health guarded?

The Public Affairs Committee (22 East 38 St., New York 16, N. Y.) has just published a new 25-cent pamphlet on the activities of the Division of Environmental Engineering and Food Protection of the U.S. Public Health Service. Entitled "Quiet Guardians of the People's Health," the booklet describes the detailed attention given to the design and operation of the watr supply and sewerage systems of dairies, ships, home trailers, schools, hospitals, restaurants and other areas.

In each instance, codes must be set up, standards are strictly observed.

Unfortunately, too little attention is given these and many other of the day-in, day-out public services that we are apt to take for granted, such, as for example those of the Telephone Pioneers of America, a volunteer organization of electronic experts, employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries.

Working on their own time, these dedicated citizens spend their lunch hours repairing the "talking books" supplied free to the blind by our Library of Congress. Thus, they serve some 350,000 blind persons, including 12,000 high school children and 1,200 college students. They salvage records of the thousands of titles that can be played on the record players made available to the blind by our government.

Then there are the nurses, nurse-midwives, social service workers and courier girls who ride horseback and drive jeeps for the Frontier Nursing Service that cares for the medical problems of Kentuckians who live in remote sections of the Cumberland Mountains. Started in 1921 by Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, this nonprofit organization now maintains a 25-bed and 12-bassinet general hospital, six outpost nursing centers and the Frontier Graduate School of Midwifery.

These are but a few examples of what is being done in the public interest by governmental officers and volunteer citizens. Maybe someday, reports of their activiites will replace the television fare that's now being shown at prime time.

"Ouch!"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Rumored mass resignation of older State Department foreign service officers to take advantage of higher pensions now available under a special law has failed to develop.

A threatened disruption of diplomatic operations in many United States embassies overseas has thereby been avoided.

The office of Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Personnel, Herman Pollack, has just announced that fewer than 210 foreign service officers are expected to retire before June 30—at most, only 49 more than the 161 retiring last year.

Early this year it was reported that there might be from 100 to 200 additional retirements and resignations.

THOSE RETIRING BEFORE MAY 31 will, under special legislation passed by Congress in 1960, receive an additional 12 per cent annuity. This will make up for their years of service at lower salary scales before the last foreign service pay increase act went into effect in 1958.

Under the law, an FSO must have served five years in his grade at retirement in order to receive maximum pension.

The way it figures out by a complicated formula is that a career ambassador with 35 years of service whose pay is $20,000 a year will receive a pension of $15,860 a year for retiring now, instead of the $14,000 under normal procedure.

ONLY FIVE CAREER AMBASSADORS have so far chosen to retire under this special formula. They are:

Ambassador to Canada Livingston Merchant, Ambassador to Austria H. Freeman Matthews, Ambassador to Uruguay Edward J. Sparks, Ambassador to Liberia Elbert G. Matthews and Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs, who was to have been assigned to Madrid but was forced to retire on account of illness. In addition, Edward J. Page Jr., a career minister assigned to Bulgaria, has resigned.

This is a far smaller retirement list of top diplomats than had been anticipated. The possibility of three or four experienced diplomats leaving one embassy, with a newly-appointed ambassador in charge, developed something of a scare.

Many of the senior FSOs delayed informing the State Department of their intentions. To prod them, a letter was sent to all officers over 50 having 20 years or more service. They were advised of their added annuity right available this year only, and asked if they wishe to retire.

ONE REASON FOR THE DELAY in receiving replies was that many of the senior officers were waiting to see if their names would be on this year's promotion list. When that list was finally announced, it showed that President Kennedy had recommended to Congress promotion of 717 career diplomats.

It included six promotions from Class Two to Class One, another 25 from Class Two to Class One with the rank of consuls general, 60 from Class Three to Class Two. The other 636 promotions were in the five lower grades.

These promotions kept most of the senior officers in the service. But another 16 career ministers and 24 Class One FSOs have chosen to retire now to get the higher pensions and a few more may be received before the deadline on May 31.

Further promotions to fill vacancies caused by these retirements are expected on the next promotion list President Kennedy sends to Congress. A Foreign Service staff review panel to consider promotions was convened March 30. It is not expected to complete its work before the end of May.

THREE CAREER MINISTERS were recently promoted to career ambassador, highest rank in the foreign service. They were: Ambassador to Ceylon Frances E. Willis, highest ranking woman in the diplomatic corps; Ambassador to Germany Walter C. Dowling, and U. S. Representative to the European Communities in Brussels, Amb. W. Walton Butterworth.

Only one other ambassadorial appointment is reported pending. It would make Jacob D. Beam ambassador to Moscow succeeding Llewellyn E. Thompson on his transfer or retirement.

Every ambassadorship is now filled. In general the Kennedy appointments have been considered good, with a maximum number of career foreign service officers.

A Simple Political Truism: Price Vs. Wage Demands

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The whole country has been waiting to see if President Kennedy would be just as firm with labor unions as he recently was in his crusade against the steel companies.

To put it another way the nation has been waiting to make up its mind whether Mr. Kennedy is indeed an impartial President of the United States or just a political tactician eager to do whatever is necessary in his judgment to win votes and financial support from labor unions for his next political campaign.

An answer has come more clearly than most observers thought it would. It came in opening and closing paragraphs of the address which President Kennedy carefully prepared in advance to deliver to the annual convention of the United Auto Workers—one of the largest labor unions in America He didn't follow his prepared text in detail, but an official text of certain important sections of the speech was released by the White House just before the President started speaking. Two of the excerpts read as follows:

"I appreciate your slogan and your sentiments. In the legislative and political battles which lie ahead, I am counting on your support."

At the end of the document, after a long discussion of labor-management problems, came this plea for votes from the President:

"I am here today to ask your help in guiding on this beginning. We need progress in the Congress this spring and summer—we need victory at the polls this fall—and on our success at home rests our success around the globe, in pursuing the cause of freedom."

'Conflict of Interest'

Both these sections of the address which the President prepared for presentation to a big labor union contained his first outright bid for political support in the coming Congressional elections. This raises a question of "conflict of interest" on the part of a Chief Executive who is supposed not to seek or accept favors from any group involved in governmental action and policy.

Yet Mr. Kennedy has boldly phrased his appeal for the re-election of a Democratic party majority next autumn. Since the pronouncement was prepared for delivery to a large labor union, it will be widely interpreted, especially in labor circles, as a sign that Mr. Kennedy does not intend to do anything that might possibly offend labor unions which collect campaign funds for him and his party.

Usually Presidents of the United States refrain between campaigns from activity in partisan politics except to attend fund-raising dinners. To find President Kennedy making an appeal for campaign support from a big labor union scarcely a month after he cracked down on big business is bound to make people wonder whether he can be impartial. He sent out detectives to interrogate newspapermen at night so as to get evidence against the steel companies to present to a Federal grand jury. He used the contract power of the Department of Defense to coerce steel companies to refrain from participating in a price-increase movement.

Coercion Disclaimed

Despite all those facts of intimidation against big business, President Kennedy nevertheless told the United Auto Workers that he really doesn't use any coercive powers at all. His exact words in the speech were as follows:

"We possess and seek no powers of compulsion and must rely primarily on the voluntary efforts of labor and management, and their sense of public responsibility, to make certain that the national interest is preserved.

"This Administration has not undertaken and will not undertake, to fix prices and wages in a piece-time economy. We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute. We are neither able nor willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at every local bargaining table in the country. We can suggest but we cannot fix a single pattern for every plant and industry."

While the President thus disclaimed any responsibilities for wage settlements, he reserved the right to critize price changes and to call them "inflationary" whenever he is so disposed.

As for the much-talked about "guidelines" of "productivity," the President said to the convention that all three groups—labor, management and the investors—can "reap the rewards of that productivity, and still pass lower prices on to the consumer."

The President called abstractly and vaguely for self-restraint in raising wages or prices. But nowhere was there a specific recognition of the need for higher prices in order to earn a fair return to the investor—productivity in profits. Nowhere did Mr. Kennedy chide even gently the chief of the auto workers union, who the night before had issued a report to the convention which said:

"Wages and salaries, at least in the immediate future, must increase faster than our normal potential for increasing productivity."

Since this seemed to be inconsistent with what President Kennedy had previously stated as his policy, auto union president Walter Reuther merely said later on that he had meant, of course, that all this would be "non-inflationary."

So it comes down to the simple political truism of the day—that its "inflationary" and a violation of "productivity guidelines" when any large business increases its prices to meet wage scales forced on it by strikes or threats of strikes, but it's "non-inflationary" when a labor union—a staunch supporter and financial ally of the President in his political campaigns—comes out for higher and higher wages irrespective of "productivity guidelines."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PECOS, TEX. May 8 — About a week after Billie Sol Estes was arrested on Federal indictments concerning bogus chattel mortgages on imaginary tanks for hypothetical ammonia to fertilize fictitious cotton patches, the local conservative paper, the semi-weekly Independent, carried an ad covering a whole page by the Security State Bank of Pecos. The ad was a fatherly whacking with the old-fashioned hair brush of Walter Holcombe, president of the bank. He calls Estes "Wonderboy" in public and the old-fashioned fighting word rhyming with "itch" in private and to his face. Estes is 37 and a mountebank. Holcombe is up toward 70, portly around the girth but square-rigged up toward the chin and jovially pugnacious. He chews his cigar until the stump looks like a roofer's mop, and cuts paper dolls with a sharp pocket knife as he talks about the wild wave of larceny that almost drowned out the morals and economy of Reeves County and other Texas counties as well as areas of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Democratic Party of Texas.

"My advice to everyone in Pecos is to hitch up their belt and go to work," Mr. Holcombe said in his closing admonition. "We have a wonderful country and a wonderful town and it will continue to grow in the future as it has in the past. What Pecos is in the future will largely be what we make it by our work and efforts and our attention to business. If anyone has a problem you will find all the staff of this bank happy to discuss them with you. In the meantime we are looking to the future and advise you to do the same. Yours very truly, Walter H. Holcombe, president."

Mr. Holcombe had known about the fantastic paraphrase of the classical Ponzi scandal for two years. But he said in his ad that "although several of our customers are involved, every account has been given careful consideration and I am happy to state that we have definitely determined that if we are affected at all, the amount cannot amount to as much as $500."

When I called on Mr. Holcombe I asked, "Didn't these farmers have a lot of larceny in their hearts?"

"Of course," he said. "I kept telling them they were buying moonbeams, but people think it is legitimate to steal from the Government. One farmer couldn't cash out for more than $50,000 but he is hooked for $1,069,000 on chattel mortgages on those tanks. I know only two out of 16 that I can sincerely believe when they say they were not trying to cheat anyone. These two say they just wanted to help their friend, Billie Sol. One of these signed mortgage notes for three quarters of a million as a favor but never got a penny. Another signed for half a million to help a friend. Here is a fellow couldn't even raise $10,000 and he is involved for a million."

As soon as the "happening" became public. Mr. Holcombe gave the bank's affair "a very careful and complete scrutiny." Every account was examined. The results of that "consideration" were poised in his left hand in the form of formal reports.

I asked about a deal in which he invested $49,000 in war surplus wooden houses from Los Alamos in the White Sands area of New Mexico and wound up losing $16,000 to Estes, the genius of the undertaking. He said it was not $16,000 but $18,000 and that after Estes had stalled him many time he stopped him saying: "Listen you dirty name rhyming with "itch," "you know you stole that money. You owe it to me, but don't you ever mention it to me again."

So there the matter died and Mr. Holcombe has marked off his loss of the profit although he did recoup his investment of $49,000, borrowed from a bank in Dallas.

"I went out to Estes' place the day he had that big barbecue for 3,000 people," Mr. Holcombe said. "There were Mexicans and Negroes and white folks in dungarees and city clothes. It is a big patch by his house. They did not have any booze; he doesn't drink or serve liquor. Only Cokes and Seven-Up. Three steers? I don't know how many steers. That isn't many for 3,000. And there was an office of one of those finance companies that bought the chattel mortgages from Billie Sol. He was going around telling people this was a good business. His company liked this business. It was good for everybody. I heard him three times like that, to different groups."

He refused to name this man.

There are suspicions that Estes persuaded one or more employes of one or more investment companies to sell out to him in this way. If that should be true, then some of the farmers might be able to wiggle off on the contention that an agent of the finance company was in collusion with Billie Sol. Otherwise the finance companies might just about ruin the county's economy by wiping out most of the minority of farmers who assets.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS

In continues to be a good general rule of thumb that summit meetings are not likely to be productive unless there has been sound preparation at a lower diplomatic level. More or less impromptu meetings between heads of state cannot be expected to produce much in the way of solid agreements.

It does not follow that such meetings would invariably be futile. Rather a good case can be made for the position that there should be more summit talks. If they were not built up too much in advance, such talks might be a means toward the desirable end of increasing understanding—and correspondingly reducing the danger of misunderstanding—among those responsible for the decisions of peace and war.

One trouble in the past has been that the public expected too much of these confrontations. The problem may be mainly psychological. It involves making clear that final solutions should not be expected from all summit conferences. Once that idea was accepted, such talks could be held now and then simply for an exchange of views. This would not exclude the possibility of reaching conclusive agreements, but the public would not always expect world-shaking results.

Historically, meetings of heads of state from rival powers have been full of pomp and portent. There was reason for that when summitry was both laborious and time-consuming. In these days of jet travel, meetings are possible on short notice, with little preparation and fanfare. They should be held, as President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan said recently, whenever there are indications that they might do some good.

'FREE' TV MOVIES

The alert television viewer may have noticed that some of what he has seen lately has been neither regularly scheduled programs nor commercials. So-called public relations films, varying in length from a minute to half an hour, are being used increasingly as "fillers" by stations scattered throughout the country.

Numerous such films are available to stations without charge. Some of the films, though purporting to be educational, are outrightly commercial; others employ a much "softer" sell, depending on casual mention of a firm or product. The effort, in almost all of them, is to portray something that will engage the attention of viewers and focus it to some extent on a sales message.

The stations get such films for nothing. The firms or organizations which supply the films also get something for nothing—advertising which in some cases would be worth a considerable sum if it came through ordinary channels. This may all sound fine, but there is a catch to it as far as the public is concerned.

The catch is that relatively few stations using such films bother to tell their audience that what it is seeing is a commercial or ideological message. This is not so bad when the film concerned is one that makes no bones about advertising. But what of the film that subtly infuses its educational and entertaining footage with a plug for ideas or products?

In a newspaper or magazine, generally speaking, "public service" ads of companies or organizations are clearly labeled as such. The television audience is entitled to a similar designation of the free "public service" movies.

CHICKEN UNDER WRAPS

It is pleasant to learn that while some branches of science and technology have been preoccupied with sending a man to the moon, others have concentrated their efforts on that mundane but tasty item, the chicken. We do not have reference to those who juggle genes and thus produce a fowl with a bigger drumstick or more white meat. The fellows we're thinking of try to do more with the bird now at hand.

Specifically, we refer to the development of a machine which will put a cut-up chicken together again. No magic is involved; the cut-up bird remains cut up. What the machine does is fit the pieces in the original arrangement, then wrap them in transparent, stretchy plastic.

Result: A chicken that looks like a chicken but that comes apart in neat segments when unwrapped. This saves the housewife some work. It also tends to ease tension among members of the Society of Nervous Carvers. And it provides welcome assurance that science is thinking about something besides What's Out There.

'These Days'

THE DAIRYMAN'S BATTLE

When a dairyman faces fines amounting to $20,899.99, because a bureaucrat says so, it is time for all citizens to have a look at the situation. Dairyman Jesse R. Stalker of Ravena, New York, in September 1958, purchased a 20 quart can of sweet cream from Crowley's Dairy's Albany Division. This was an accommodation for his customers because his own herd of 175 cows did not produce enough milk that month for him to process cream.

The following October and November, he ordered three more cans each month. Had Stalker purchased the cream in two quart containers, he would not have been in trouble, but as he bought them in 20 quart containers, he had violated a regulation. Thereupon the Department of Agriculture decided to ruin him, put him out of business, destroy him. He is, in effect, ordered, to pay a fine. As Representative Riehlman says:

". . . Because Mr. Stalker was unaware of this small technicality in the law, it is likely to cost him most of what he and his wife have spent a lifetime of hard work building up. He will be forced to sell his entire dairy herd or he will be forced to mortgage his farm. Incidentally, the regulations will only let him sell his herd between the months of June and November."

Who does these crazy things?

Well, the Department of Agriculture, on December 1, 1961, issued Order No. 2 "Regulating the Handling of Milk in the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area," which prior to January 1, 1962, was Federal Order No. 27. (Do not question me about these dates, I am copying them exactly as they appear on the cover of the document.) No wonder that milk, when it comes to the big cities, costs so much — one needs to hire a specialist to read the order. If a farmer misses a slight point in the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area geography, which includes areas in New York State, New Jersey and — Oh, the Devil with it — here is the description:

"The following counties and parts of counties in the State of New York: Albany; Broome; Cayuga (except the townships of Sterling, Victory, Conquest, and Montezuma); Chemung; Chenango; Columbia; Cortland; Delaware; Dutchess; that part of Essex consisting of the townships of Schroon, Ticonderoga, Crown Point, and Moriah; Fulton (except the township of Stratford); Greene; Herkimer (except the townships of Webb, Ohio, and Salisbury); Madison; Montgomery; Oneida (except the townships of Ava, Boonville, Forestport, and Florence); Onondaga; Orange; Oswego (except the townships of Redfield and Boylston); Otsego; Putnam; Rensselaer; Rockland; Saratog (except the townships of Day, Edinburg, and Providence); Schenectady; Schoharie; Schuyler; that part of Steuben consisting of the townships of Addison, Corning, and Erwin; Sullivan; Tioga; Tompkins; Ulster; Warren (except the townships of Johnsburg, Thurman, and Stony Creek); Washington; and Yates (except the townships of Italy, Middlesex, and Potter); and in the State of New Jersey: Bergen; Essex; Hudson; Hunterdon; Middlesex; Monmouth; Morris; Ocean (except the boroughs of Barnegat Light, Beach Haven, Harvey Cedars, Ship Bottom, Surf City, Tuckerton, and the townships of Eagleswood, Lacey, Little Egg Harbor, Long Beach, Ocean, Stafford, and Union); Passaic; Somerset; Sussex; Union; and Warren."

There apparently is a Marketing Administrator, who has the powers of a Czar. He can "make rules and regulations to effectuate the terms and provisions" of the order. All good law places the burden of proof on the complainant. For instance, if a man is arrested for stealing, the police must prove that he stole. Not so a milk handler. Sec. 1002.31 under the title "Burden of proof," puts the burden on the handler.

The object of regulation is not to provide advantages to big operators or to molest small or big operators. It is to assist an industry to provide efficiently a good product, at a fair price. Agricultural regulation had for its objective the protection of the American farmer so that he would not sink to the status of a peasant. But the regulators are job-holders and status-developers and unless they are regulated themselves they become mandarins, who give the impression of being superior to all other humans.

Congress ought to investigate that $20,899.99 fine and other farmers ought to rise in their wrath at such nonsense. It is not only injustice; it is stupidity. The OPA was like that and we still have OPA-minded regulators.

Public's Health Guarded By Dedicated Citizenry

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How is the public health guarded?

The Public Affairs Committee (22 East 38 St., New York 16, N. Y.) has just published a new 25-cent pamphlet on the activities of the Division of Environmental Engineering and Food Protection of the U.S. Public Health Service. Entitled "Quiet Guardians of the People's Health," the booklet describes the detailed attention given to the design and operation of the watr supply and sewerage systems of dairies, ships, home trailers, schools, hospitals, restaurants and other areas.

In each instance, codes must be set up, standards are strictly observed.

Unfortunately, too little attention is given these and many other of the day-in, day-out public services that we are apt to take for granted, such, as for example those of the Telephone Pioneers of America, a volunteer organization of electronic experts, employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries.

Working on their own time, these dedicated citizens spend their lunch hours repairing the "talking books" supplied free to the blind by our Library of Congress. Thus, they serve some 350,000 blind persons, including 12,000 high school children and 1,200 college students. They salvage records of the thousands of titles that can be played on the record players made available to the blind by our government.

Then there are the nurses, nurse-midwives, social service workers and courier girls who ride horseback and drive jeeps for the Frontier Nursing Service that cares for the medical problems of Kentuckians who live in remote sections of the Cumberland Mountains. Started in 1921 by Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, this nonprofit organization now maintains a 25-bed and 12-bassinet general hospital, six outpost nursing centers and the Frontier Graduate School of Midwifery.

These are but a few examples of what is being done in the public interest by governmental officers and volunteer citizens. Maybe someday, reports of their activiites will replace the television fare that's now being shown at prime time.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Rumored mass resignation of older State Department foreign service officers to take advantage of higher pensions now available under a special law has failed to develop.

A threatened disruption of diplomatic operations in many United States embassies overseas has thereby been avoided.

The office of Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Personnel, Herman Pollack, has just announced that fewer than 210 foreign service officers are expected to retire before June 30 —at most, only 49 more than the 161 retiring last year.

Early this year it was reported that there might be from 100 to 200 additional retirements and resignations.

THOSE RETIRING BEFORE MAY 31 will, under special legislation passed by Congress in 1960, receive an additional 12 per cent annuity. This will make up for their years of service at lower salary scales before the last foreign service pay increase act went into effect in 1958.

Under the law, an FSO must have served five years in his grade at retirement in order to receive maximum pension.

The way it figures out by a complicated formula is that a career ambassador with 35 years of service whose pay is $20,000 a year will receive a pension of $15,860 a year for retiring now, instead of the $14,000 under normal procedure.

ONLY FIVE CAREER AMBASSADORS have so far chosen to retire under this special formula. They are:

Ambassador to Canada Livingston Merchant, Ambassador to Austria H. Freeman Matthews, Ambassador to Uruguay Edward J. Sparks, Ambassador to Liberia Elbert G. Matthews and Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs, who was to have been assigned to Madrid but was forced to retire on account of illness. In addition, Edward J. Page Jr., a career minister assigned to Bulgaria, has resigned.

This is a far smaller retirement list of top diplomats than had been anticipated. The possibility of three or four experienced diplomats leaving one embassy, with a newly-appointed ambassador in charge, developed something of a scare.

Many of the senior FSOs delayed informing the State Department of their intentions. To prod them, a letter was sent to all officers over 50 having 20 years or more service. They were advised of their added annuity right available this year only, and asked if they wish to retire.

ONE REASON FOR THE DELAY in receiving replies was that many of the senior officers were waiting to see if their names would be on this year's promotion list. When that list was finally announced, it showed that President Kennedy had recommended to Congress promotion of 717 career diplomats.

It included six promotions from Class Two to Class One, another 25 from Class Two to Class One with the rank of consuls general, 60 from Class Three to Class Two. The other 636 promotions were in the five lower grades.

These promotions kept most of the senior officers in the service. But another 16 career ministers and 24 Class One FSOs have chosen to retire now to get the higher pensions and a few more may be received before the deadline on May 31.

Further promotions to fill vacancies caused by these retirements are expected on the next promotion list President Kennedy sends to Congress. A Foreign Service staff review panel to consider promotions was convened March 30. It is not expected to complete its work before the end of May.

THREE CAREER MINISTERS were recently promoted to career ambassador, highest rank in the foreign service. They were: Ambassador to Ceylon Frances E. Willis, highest ranking woman in the diplomatic corps; Ambassador to Germany Walter C. Dowling, and U. S. Representative to the European Communities in Brussels, Amb. W. Walton Butterworth.

Only one other ambassadorial appointment is reported pending. It would make Jacob D. Beam ambassador to Moscow succeeding Llewellyn E. Thompson on his transfer or retirement.

Every ambassadorship is now filled. In general the Kennedy appointments have been considered good, with a maximum number of career foreign service officers.

Today in National Affairs

A Simple Political Truism: Price Vs. Wage Demands

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The whole country has been waiting to see if President Kennedy would be just as firm with labor unions as he recently was in his crusade against the steel companies.

To put it another way the nation has been waiting to make up its mind whether Mr. Kennedy is indeed an impartial President of the United States or just a political tactician eager to do whatever is necessary in his judgment to win votes and financial support from labor unions for his next political campaign.

An answer has come more clearly than most observers thought it would. It came in opening and closing paragraphs of the address which President Kennedy carefully prepared in advance to deliver to the annual convention of the United Auto Workers—one of the largest labor unions in America. He didn't follow his prepared text in detail, but an official text of certain important sections of the speech was released by the White House just before the President started speaking. Two of the excerpts read as follows:

"I appreciate your slogan and your sentiments. In the legislative and political battles which lie ahead, I am counting on your support."

At the end of the document, after a long discussion of labor-management problems, came this plea for votes from the President:

"I am here today to ask your help in guiding on this beginning. We need progress in the Congress this spring and summer—we need victory at the polls this fall—and on our success at home rests our success around the globe, in pursuing the cause of freedom."

'Conflict of Interest'

Both these sections of the address which the President prepared for presentation to a big labor union contained his first outright bid for political support in the coming Congressional elections. This raises a question of "conflict of interest" on the part of a Chief Executive who is supposed not to seek or accept favors from any group involved in governmental action and policy.

Yet Mr. Kennedy has boldly phrased his appeal for the re-election of a Democratic party majority next autumn. Since the pronouncement was prepared for delivery to a large labor union, it will be widely interpreted, especially in labor circles, as a sign that Mr. Kennedy does not intend to do anything that might possibly offend labor unions which collect campaign funds for him and his party.

Usually Presidents of the United States refrain between campaigns from activity in partisan politics except to attend fund-raising dinners. To find President Kennedy making an appeal for campaign support from a big labor union scarcely a month after he cracked down on big business is bound to make people wonder whether he can be impartial. He sent out detectives to interrogate newspapermen at night so as to get evidence against the steel companies to present to a Federal grand jury. He used the contract power of the Department of Defense to coerce steel companies to refrain from participating in a price-increase movement.

Coercion Disclaimed

Despite all those facts of intimidation against big business, President Kennedy nevertheless told the United Auto Workers that he really doesn't use any coercive powers at all. His exact words in the speech were as follows:

"We possess and seek no powers of compulsion and must rely primarily on the voluntary efforts of labor and management, and their sense of public responsibility, to make certain that the national interest is preserved.

"This Administration has not undertaken and will not undertake, to fix prices and wages in a piece-time economy. We have no intention of intervening in every labor dispute. We are neither able nor willing to substitute our judgment for the judgment of those who sit at every local bargaining table in the country. We can suggest but we cannot fix a single pattern for every plant and industry."

While the President thus disclaimed any responsibilities for wage settlements, he reserved the right to critize price changes and to call them "inflationary" whenever he is so disposed.

As for the much-talked about "guidelines" of "productivity," the President said to the convention that all three groups—labor, management and the investors—can "reap the rewards of that productivity, and still pass lower prices on to the consumer."

The President called abstractly and vaguely for self-restraint in raising wages or prices. But nowhere was there a specific recognition of the need for higher prices in order to earn a fair return to the investor—productivity in profits. Nowhere did Mr. Kennedy chide even gently the chief of the auto workers union, who the night before had issued a report to the convention which said:

"Wages and salaries, at least in the immediate future, must increase faster than our normal potential for increasing productivity."

Since this seemed to be inconsistent with what President Kennedy had previously stated as his policy, auto union president Walter Reuther merely said later on that he had meant, of course, that all this would be "non-inflationary."

So it comes down to the simple political truism of the day—that its "inflationary" and a violation of "productivity guidelines" when any large business increases its prices to meet wage scales forced on it by strikes or threats of strikes, but it's "non-inflationary" when a labor union—a staunch supporter and financial ally of the President in his political campaigns—comes out for higher and higher wages irrespective of "productivity guidelines."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PECOS, TEX. May 8 — About a week after Billie Sol Estes was arrested on Federal indictments concerning bogus chattel mortgages on imaginary tanks for hypothetical ammonia to fertilize fictitious cotton patches, the local conservative paper, the semi-weekly Independent, carried an ad covering a whole page by the Security State Bank of Pecos. The ad was a fatherly whacking with the old-fashioned hair brush of Walter Holcombe, president of the bank. He calls Estes "Wonderboy" in public and the old-fashioned fighting word rhyming with "itch" in private and to his face. Estes is 37 and a mountebank. Holcombe is up toward 70, portly around the girth but square-rigged up toward the chin and jovially pugnacious. He chews his cigar until the stump looks like a roofer's mop, and cuts paper dolls with a sharp pocket knife as he talks about the wild wave of larceny that almost drowned out the morals and economy of Reeves County and other Texas counties as well as areas of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Democratic Party of Texas.

"My advice to everyone in Pecos is to hitch up their belt and go to work," Mr. Holcombe said in his closing admonition. "We have a wonderful country and a wonderful town and it will continue to grow in the future as it has in the past. What Pecos is in the future will largely be what we make it by our work and efforts and our attention to business. If anyone has a problem you will find all the staff of this bank happy to discuss them with you. In the meantime we are looking to the future and advise you to do the same. Yours very truly, Walter H. Holcombe, president."

Mr. Holcombe had known about the fantastic paraphrase of the classical Ponzi scandal for two years. But he said in his ad that "although several of our customers are involved, every account has been given careful consideration and I am happy to state that we have definitely determined that if we are affected at all, the amount cannot amount to as much as $500."

When I called on Mr. Holcombe I asked, "Didn't these farmers have a lot of larceny in their hearts?"

"Of course," he said. "I kept telling them they were buying moonbeams, but people think it is legitimate to steal from the Government. One farmer couldn't cash out for more than $50,000 but he is hooked for $1,069,000 on chattel mortgages on those tanks. I know only two out of 16 that I can sincerely believe when they say they were not trying to cheat anyone. These two say they just wanted to help their friend, Billie Sol. One of these signed mortgage notes for three quarters of a million as a favor but never got a penny. Another signed for half a million to help a friend. Here is a fellow couldn't even raise $10,000 and he is involved for a million."

As soon as the "happening" became public. Mr. Holcombe gave the bank's affair "a very careful and complete scrutiny." Every account was examined. The results of that "consideration" were poised in his left hand in the form of formal reports.

I asked about a deal in which he invested $49,000 in war surplus wooden houses from Los Alamos in the White Sands area of New Mexico and wound up losing $16,000 to Estes, the genius of the undertaking. He said it was not $16,000 but $18,000 and that after Estes had stalled him many time he stopped him saying: "Listen you dirty name rhyming with "itch," "you know you stole that money. You owe it to me, but don't you ever mention it to me again."

So there the matter died and Mr. Holcombe has marked off his loss of the profit although he did recoup his investment of $49,000, borrowed from a bank in Dallas.

"I went out to Estes' place the day he had that big barbecue for 3,000 people," Mr. Holcombe said. "There were Mexicans and Negroes and white folks in dungarees and city clothes. It is a big patch by his house. They did not have any booze; he doesn't drink or serve liquor. Only Cokes and Seven-Up. Three steers? I don't know how many steers. That isn't many for 3,000. And there was an office of one of those finance companies that bought the chattel mortgages from Billie Sol. He was going around telling people this was a good business. His company liked this business. It was good for everybody. I heard him three times like that, to different groups."

He refused to name this man.

There are suspicions that Estes persuaded one or more employes of one or more investment companies to sell out to him in this way. If that should be true, then some of the farmers might be able to wiggle off on the contention that an agent of the finance company was in collusion with Billie Sol. Otherwise the finance companies might just about ruin the county's economy by wiping out most of the minority of farmers who assets.

Little League Will Begin Season May 30

The boys of the Little New Paltz League are now selling booster tickets and it is hoped that the people of the community will respond with their help when asked for support in this worthwhile community project.

The boys have been asked to participate with the league this year in the Memorial Day Parade. Some $900 has been spent for new uniforms and this is the reason for this request of the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts to allow the boys to parade with the Little New Paltz League this year.

The Town Boards of New Paltz and Gardiner are especially thanked for the equipment supplied the league for the coming season. Twelve dozen baseballs, four dozen bats, four complete catcher's outfits and other miscellaneous equipment is being supplied by the boards. The boys also have new caps this year with the white letters NP.

The same rules in the league as last year will be observed. Accident insurance at a cost of $150 is provided by the league and if anyone is injured at any time the manager of the team must be told at once.

The 16 week league season will start Memorial Day and end the week after Labor Day.

All boys have already been assigned to teams, and with two new teams this year, ten additional helpers were needed to take care of these teams.

For the past few months the Benedictine Sisters have given them the necessary instructions. Parents and friends attended the ceremony.

Sunday, the children of St. Joseph's parish took part in the annual May procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin. Starting from the parochial school the line of march proceeded to the lawn in front of the church to the statue of Our Lady. Here the Rosary was recited, followed by the Litany of the Loretto with appropriate hymns of the occasion. The crowning of the Blessed Virgin brought the outdoor ceremonies to a close. Proceeding to the church the assembly sang hymns for Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Parley Speaker Urges Better Oral Health

KIAMESHA LAKE — Better oral health care of the aged, chronically ill and handicapped, "who have been termed the most dentally neglected people in American society," was urged here this week by Dr. Matthew Besdine, Brooklyn, president of the Dental Society of the State of New York.

In his president's report, presented at the society's 94th annual meeting at the Concord Hotel, Dr. Besdine noted that advancing skills in medicine and surgery have greatly extended the life expectancy of such individuals, of whom there are approximately eighteen million in this country, according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

"Our profession," he said, "is therefore confronted with a constantly growing number of these patients, many of whom are referred to as homebound. In the case of older members of this group, this home environment may be the nursing home."

Many Buyers Are Paying 40 PC for Mutual Shares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one-third of those who buy certain mutual fund shares on the installment plan wind up paying a sales commission of more than 40 per cent, according to figures compiled by federal securities loan investigators.

This point was developed at length Monday as the Securities and Exchange Commission began two weeks of public hearings on the training, fitness and sales of fund salesmen and brokerage employes.

Fund distributors also occupied today's witness list. Representatives of top brokerage firms are scheduled to begin testifying Friday.

The hearings are part of a broad SEC study of the entire securities industry. Much of the investigation is being conducted in secret.

Three Area Road Projects Included In Bid Offering

ALBANY—J. Burch McMorran, state superintendent of public works, announced that sealed bids will be opened here on Thursday, June 7, for 27 highway projects—three in this area—and 2 grade crossing elimination jobs, estimated at a total of $7,724,700.

The highway work, involving construction or other improvements along approximately 114 miles of roads in 20 counties, is part of Governor Rockefeller's $400 million highway program for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

As in other highway lettings this spring, there are a large number of resurfacing projects, many aimed at strengthening highways which presently must be "posted" against use by heavy vehicles during the spring. These improvements are part of the department's continuing program to eliminate posted highways.

The bids will be opened publicly at 10:30 a. m. in Hearing Room 1 of the Governor Alfred E. Smith State Office Building.

Location, description and estimated costs of the projects follow:

Sullivan and Ulster Counties—Furnishing and erecting traffic signs and delineators along a section of Route 209 being reconstructed from the Route 17 interchange near Wurtsboro in Sullivan County northeasterly 9.39 miles to just north of Sandburg Creek in Ulster County, just north of the county line. Estimated at $7,000. (This project originally was included in the highway letting of March 29, when no bids were received. Originally estimated at $5,500).

Greene County — Resurfacing of Route 42 from the Ulster County line northerly 7.45 miles to Route 23A at Lexington. The 18 to 27-foot-wide pavement will be resurfaced with asphalt concrete. Estimated at $263,000.

Greene County — Resurfacing 4.21 miles of Route 214 in two sections. The 20-foot-wide pavement will be resurfaced with asphalt concrete from the Ulster County line northeasterly 3.94 miles to the hamlet of Edgewood and in an 0.27-mile section from Route 23A southerly. Estimated at $210,000.

It is estimated that falls account for about 27 per cent of the accidental deaths of farm people.

He is a member of the Wiltwyck Country Club and received a bachelor of science degree in accounting from Rider College.

Gill, his wife Elizabeth and children Timothy, 6, and Susan, 4, reside on the Zena-West Hurley Road.

Scout Cookie Sale Results Announced

Mrs. John Hoffman, chairman of the Girl Scout cookie sale in New Paltz this year, has announced that 4,260 boxes of cookies were sold.

The New Paltz Troops this year made a profit of five cents on each box, netting them $615.

Mrs. Hoffman has expressed her appreciation for the help of the troop cookies chairmen who were the Mmes. Robert Kelly, Bud Ingraham, Stanley Schneider, Allbert Ganzer, Darwin Boorom, Kenneth Baumgartner, Robert Reid Jr., David Polhamus, Robert Clarkson, Kenneth DePuy, Bruce Sutherland, William Cuthbert, Charles Hamilton and Theodore Gierisch.

Little League Will Begin Season May 30

The boys of the Little New Paltz League are now selling booster tickets and it is hoped that the people of the community will respond with their help when asked for support in this worthwhile community project.

The boys have been asked to participate with the league this year in the Memorial Day Parade. Some $900 has been spent for new uniforms and this is the reason for this request of the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts to allow the boys to parade with the Little New Paltz League this year.

The Town Boards of New Paltz and Gardiner are especially thanked for the equipment supplied the league for the coming season. Twelve dozen baseballs, four dozen bats, four complete catcher's outfits and other miscellaneous equipment is being supplied by the boards. The boys also have new caps this year with the white letters NP.

The same rules in the league as last year will be observed. Accident insurance at a cost of $150 is provided by the league and if anyone is injured at any time the manager of the team must be told at once.

The 16 week league season will start Memorial Day and end the week after Labor Day.

All boys have already been assigned to teams, and with two new teams this year, ten additional helpers were needed to take care of these teams.

Methodist Members

New members received in the New Paltz Methodist Church recently are:

Miss Jean Boorom, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cutler, Mrs. Marvin Gildersleeve, Phillip Gildersleeve, Richard Gildersleeve, Miss Karen Hasbrouck, Karen Hornbeck, Linda Hornbeck, Betty Ann Kruger, Miss Martina Guick, Clyde Ronk, Patricia Ronk, Sherry Lee Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ronk, Miss Janet Squire, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner, Charles Turner Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Quentin White and Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Wood.

First Communion

Sixty-one children received their First Holy Communion at the 9 o'clock Mass Saturday, in St. Joseph's Church.

For the past few months the Benedictine Sisters have given them the necessary instructions. Parents and friends attended the ceremony.

Sunday, the children of St. Joseph's parish took part in the annual May procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin. Starting from the parochial school the line of march proceeded to the lawn in front of the church to the statue of Our Lady. Here the Rosary was recited, followed by the Litany of the Loretto with appropriate hymns of the occasion. The crowning of the Blessed Virgin brought the outdoor ceremonies to a close. Proceeding to the church the assembly sang hymns for Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Parley Speaker Urges Better Oral Health

KIAMESHA LAKE — Better oral health care of the aged, chronically ill and handicapped, "who have been termed the most dentally neglected people in American society," was urged here this week by Dr. Matthew Besdine, Brooklyn, president of the Dental Society of the State of New York.

In his president's report, presented at the society's 94th annual meeting at the Concord Hotel, Dr. Besdine noted that advancing skills in medicine and surgery have greatly extended the life expectancy of such individuals, of whom there are approximately eighteen million in this country, according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

"Our profession," he said, "is therefore confronted with a constantly growing number of these patients, many of whom are referred to as homebound. In the case of older members of this group, this home environment may be the nursing home."

Seeking Brecht Rights

NEW YORK (AP)—Producer Cheryl Crawford is joining the current vogue for the plays of Bertolt Brecht. On a recent trip to Europe, Miss Crawford conferred with the late dramatist's son, Stefan. Having previously obtained rights for production here of "Mother Courage," she is seeking performance rights to three other Brecht works, "Saint Joan of the Stockyards," "A Man's a Man" and "The Caucasion Chalk Circle," not previously done here.

Many Buyers Are Paying 40 PC for Mutual Shares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one-third of those who buy certain mutual fund shares on the installment plan wind up paying a sales commission of more than 40 per cent, according to figures compiled by federal securities loan investigators.

This point was developed at length Monday as the Securities and Exchange Commission began two weeks of public hearings on the training, fitness and sales of fund salesmen and brokerage employes.

Fund distributors also occupied today's witness list. Representatives of top brokerage firms are scheduled to begin testifying Friday.

The hearings are part of a broad SEC study of the entire securities industry. Much of the investigation is being conducted in secret.

Three Area Road Projects Included In Bid Offering

ALBANY—J. Burch McMorran, state superintendent of public works, announced that sealed bids will be opened here on Thursday, June 7, for 27 highway projects—three in this area—and 2 grade crossing elimination jobs, estimated at a total of $7,724,700.

The highway work, involving construction or other improvements along approximately 114 miles of roads in 20 counties, is part of Governor Rockefeller's $400 million highway program for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

As in other highway lettings this spring, there are a large number of resurfacing projects, many aimed at strengthening highways which presently must be "posted" against use by heavy vehicles during the spring. These improvements are part of the department's continuing program to eliminate posted highways.

The bids will be opened publicly at 10:30 a. m. in Hearing Room 1 of the Governor Alfred E. Smith State Office Building.

Location, description and estimated costs of the projects follow:

Sullivan and Ulster Counties—Furnishing and erecting traffic signs and delineators along a section of Route 209 being reconstructed from the Route 17 interchange near Wurtsboro in Sullivan County northeasterly 9.39 miles to just north of Sandburg Creek in Ulster County, just north of the county line. Estimated at $7,000. (This project originally was included in the highway letting of March 29, when no bids were received. Originally estimated at $5,500).

Greene County — Resurfacing of Route 42 from the Ulster County line northerly 7.45 miles to Route 23A at Lexington. The 18 to 27-foot-wide pavement will be resurfaced with asphalt concrete. Estimated at $263,000.

Greene County — Resurfacing 4.21 miles of Route 214 in two sections. The 20-foot-wide pavement will be resurfaced with asphalt concrete from the Ulster County line northeasterly 3.94 miles to the hamlet of Edgewood and in an 0.27-mile section from Route 23A southerly. Estimated at $210,000.

It is estimated that falls account for about 27 per cent of the accidental deaths of farm people.

Javits Is Running Scared Despite Dems' Reluctance

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., is running scared in his campaign for re-election, despite the apparent reluctance of any Democrats to announce they will seek to run against him.

"It's one of his traits," a Washington source said. "He remembers Harriman and Hughes."

It was Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Javits' running mate this year, who defeated Democrat Averell Harriman for re-election as governor four years ago.

And Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey scored an upset victory last November over his Republican opponent, former Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Javits is reported to feel he can't relax in his efforts to win, because President Kennedy apparently is anxious for New York Democrats to select statewide candidates who will stir voter imagination.

Rockefeller has said he, too, is running scared.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City discussed New York's political climate with Kennedy last week, but the mayor declined to make known his choices for the Democratic gubernatorial and senatorial races.

Javits, who has not yet announced his candidacy and probably won't until July, has stepped up his speaking activity in the state as part of his unofficial campaign.

The Rockefeller and Javits' camps have set up a working relationship that includes an agreement to exchange papers outlining their positions on various issues.

Javits also has agreed to coordinate his upstate speaking schedule with Rockefeller's whenever possible.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said the 42,000 letters he received last month included these from:

A man who writes yearly to say he's feeling fine. "You will be glad to learn that I have now passed my 101st birthday and am still doing well," the man reported.

A second-grader who sent a copy of his report card to prove he is "verry (sic) smart in school."

A constituent who admonished: "You're a bady boy. Unless you vote to abolish taxes, I'll stand you in the corner."

A constituent who writes daily and signs herself, or himself, only as a "U.S. Born Citizen." The envelopes are postmarked Brooklyn.

Committees Are Organized for '62 By Legislature

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's 40 joint legislative committees have been organized to assume their roles "as vehicles by which the people (may) present their views when the Legislature is not in session."

Four of the committees are new ones. The 40 will have $1,452,500 to spend this year.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, who characterized the role of the committees at a news conference Tuesday, called them "training grounds for lawmakers in many complicated fields.

Most committee chairmen were re - elected. In one important change, Sen. Ernest I. Hatsfield, R - Poughkeepsie, was named chairman of the Banking Law Revision Committee. He succeeds former Sen. John H. Cooke, R-Alden, who resigned on the final day of the 1962 Legislative session to become a judge of the State Court of Claims.

The four new committees organized Tuesday, their chairmen, and appropriations:

Professional boxing — Assemblyman Hayward H. Poumadore, R-Franklin County, $25,000.

Appraisal and assessment of state-owned lands—Sen. Dutton S. Peterson, R-Odessa, $25,000.

Lake Erie-Lake Ontario Canal — Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, R-Buffalo, majority leader, $10,000.

Villages — Assemblyman Grant W. Johnson, R-Essex County, $25,000.

Faces the Classics

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee Strasberg, director of the Actors' Studio, says the time has come for young American performers "to face classic roles" in public performance. The move, he says "would end some of the criticism that Method Acting has received." Its naturalistic aspects, which contrast with traditional formal acting style, he feels have been over-exaggerated.

Court Rules

Insurance Firm Not Liable for Crash Coverage

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—The Appellate Division Superior Court has ruled the American Mercury Insurance Co. of Washington, D.C., was not liable for insurance coverage in a plane crash in which three people were killed.

The court ruled Tuesday that when student pilot Louis La Bruzzo of Edison took two passengers for a plane ride he violated terms of his insurance policy.

The plane crashed into a mountain near Greenville, N.Y., Oct. 31, 1959, killing La Bruzzo and the passengers—William V. Bradley Jr. and George Bradley of Staten Island, N.Y.

The plane was covered by an insurance policy. Mrs. La Bruzzo sued the insurance company for $13,000 damage to the plane. The Bradley heirs sued Mrs. La Bruzzo for $400,000 on grounds her husband had been negligent.

The insurance company denied both damage and liability coverage on the ground its policy specifically excluded coverage if La Bruzzo carried passengers. But Middlesex County Judge Samuel V. Convery ruled that the exclusion applied only to paying passengers. He said the Bradleys were non-paying guests in the plane.

The Appellate Division reversed Convery's ruling. It said the term passengers in aviation regulations applies both to paying and non-paying riders.

Contract Talks To Start Friday For Gov. Clinton

Negotiations for a new contract will begin Friday morning between Hotel Local 666 and the management of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The present contract expires June 2. Approximately 75 persons are employed at the hotel. Negotiations will be conducted at the hotel.

Under the present contract the hotel is operated under a Union Shop plan under which employes are required to become members of the union after 30 days of employment. It was reported the union will seek a continuance of the union shop and ask for an increase in wages.

The union will oppose an "open shop" which is being sought by the hotel management and also any exclusion of additional employes from the bargaining unit. Under the "open shop" plan an employe may elect to become a union member or remain non-union.

West Is Staying In Berlin: Rusk

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Australians tonight Berlin is the most direct Soviet challenge to the free world and reaffirmed: "We will not be forced, squeezed or harassed out of West Berlin."

Rusk spoke at a dinner given in honor of him and New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake at the end of a two-day ANZUS council meeting. His speech was broadcast throughout Australia.

"We have made it plain that the freedom and viability of West Berlin, free access and the Allies' presence are necessary to ensure its freedom," Rusk said.

"In Southeast Asia, likewise, the free world has vital interests which you and New Zealand and we, with our other allies in SEATO, have special obligations to protect."

ANZUS is a mutual security pact of Australia, New Zealand and the United States. SEATO is the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Rusk noted that in the last several months, the United States has substantially increased its assistance to South Viet Nam, where Communists are waging guerrilla warfare.

"You are helping there in significant ways, but there is more for all of us to do," he said. "We should like to see many other free nations lend a helping hand. Aggression against Southeast Asia must not be allowed to succeed."

Contracts Are Given for Town Garage Building

A total of $27,644 in contracts for the town garage were awarded by the Rosendale Town Board at its meeting Monday night.

Low bidder with a bid of $21,452 for general construction and $4,067 for plumbing and heating was Kenneth Clark of Tillson. Wessel Cross of Kyserike offered a bid of $2,125 for electrical work.

Ferdinand Fiedler chairman of the assessors announced that the assessment of the Central Hudson properties would not be lowered this year. He asked for an adding machine to help with the work in his office which is increasing each year and the board voted to purchase the equipment.

A petition was presented with several names of people living close to the Tillson School asking that the dances being held on Friday nights be moved to the Maple Hill School as there was too much noise and blowing of horns at a late hour which is disturbing to the people who live in the vicinity of the school. After much discussion it was planned to continue with the dances but local constables will be in charge and on duty to try and keep order.

The High Falls Park residents asked to have the paved road in their development cleaned of dirt and dust. Town Superintendent Charles Markle said he would make an effort to secure a sweeper to do this work in the park and on several other roads in the town.

Mayor DeFelicis of the Village of Rosendale was present and suggested that the Town and the Village of Rosendale both use the public dump on the same basis as in previous years. This was agreeable to the Town Board.

The much-discussed go kart race track was again brought up and after some lengthy debate a resolution restricting and regulating the use and operation of such tracks within the town was proposed. A public hearing on this proposed town ordinance will be held May 29 at 8 p. m. at the Binnewater Firehouse, at which time all interested parties may express their views.

Hunt Continuing For 3rd Suspect InModenaHoldup

Search for a third suspect wanted in connection with the $100 robbery at Paul Handy's grocery store at Modena, continued today under the direction of State Police BCI investigators from Kingston and Orange County stations.

Under arrest and facing grand jury action on charges of robbery first degree in connection with the holdup are Richard Cobb, 16, and Claude Lee Anderson, 27, both of Pine Island, Orange County.

State police identified the third man as 18 or 19 years old, five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds. The suspect is light skinned Negro, troopers said.

Handy and his wife were in their store last Wednesday night when the three men entered. One man hit Handy on the head with a beer bottle, causing injuries which necessitated treatment at Vassar Hospital. Another man assaulted Mrs. Handy and a third man rifled the cash register of $100.

Jobless Is Under 4-Million Figure 1st Time in '62

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped by 430,000 in April and went below the four-million figure for the first time this year, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg announced today.

Although the improvement was normal for the season, Goldberg said the decline—and a simultaneous rise in employment to an April record—was an encouraging sign of continued business expansion.

The unemployment rate remained at 5.5 per cent of the civilian labor force, the same as in March as against the 6.9 per cent of a year earlier.

The rate is based on seasonal adjustments, and remained unchanged this month because the drop was expected.

The number of long-term unemployed — those out of work 15 weeks or longer—was unchanged at 1.5 million, Goldberg said.

He told a news conference: "The country can do better and will do better."

With the drop in unemployment, the total counted as jobless in April was 3,952,000.

The number of employed increased by 711,000 over the month to an April all-time high of 67,027,000.

The latter figure was 1,293,000 greater than the number holding jobs a year earlier.

Guard Alert Set During May 13-19

ALBANY—New York State will test the Alert mobilization capabilities of the New York Army National Guard at an unannounced time and date during the period May 13-19.

Gov. Rockefeller, commander-in-chief of the State Military Forces, has directed Major General A. C. O'Hara, his Chief of Staff and Commanding General, New York Army National Guard, to place this test into operation without prior knowledge of the 26,000 New York Army National Guardsmen quartered in nearly 100 armories in as many communities throughout the State.

At the Governor's direction, the test Alert signal will emanate from Albany to all Commanders who in turn will place into effect mobilization plans to assemble all units in the shortest period of time.

Radio and TV will be asked to cooperate in notifying Guardsmen when the signal is passed, in addition to the normal telephone military radio net utilized by the National Guard.

Employers are asked to cooperate in the event the test alert is ordered during business hours.

The public is cautioned that this is a TEST for the purpose of determining mobilization capabilities of the National Guard. No public action is required.

The last such Statewide Alert was called in 1955.

Veterans Advised Of Changing Laws

The recent session of the New York State Legislature passed several bills effecting the Empire State's veteran population which Governor Rockefeller signed into law. Each piece of this recent legislation can change in some way the rights of many veterans and servicemen.

"The rights of many veterans vary from year to year from factors other than the many new laws and regulations," report Charles L. Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Service Agency. "For instance, changes in income might materially affect the pension entitlements of some survivors and dependents. There are many changing circumstances including age, health or unemployment," Culver and Tyler continued, "that point up the advisability of keeping well informed on veterans' affairs."

The New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency counsels thousands of veterans each year on their status under Federal and State Laws. All veterans, survivors, and servicemen in this area are invited to bring questions and problems relating to veterans' affairs to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office, 32 Main Street.

Court Rules

Insurance Firm Not Liable for Crash Coverage

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—The Appellate Division Superior Court has ruled the American Mercury Insurance Co. of Washington, D.C., was not liable for insurance coverage in a plane crash in which three people were killed.

The court ruled Tuesday that when student pilot Louis La Bruzzo of Edison took two passengers for a plane ride he violated terms of his insurance policy.

The plane crashed into a mountain near Greenville, N.Y., Oct. 31, 1959, killing La Bruzzo and the passengers—William V. Bradley Jr. and George Bradley of Staten Island, N.Y.

The plane was covered by an insurance policy. Mrs. La Bruzzo sued the insurance company for $13,000 damage to the plane. The Bradley heirs sued Mrs. La Bruzzo for $400,000 on grounds her husband had been negligent.

The insurance company denied both damage and liability coverage on the ground its policy specifically excluded coverage if La Bruzzo carried passengers. But Middlesex County Judge Samuel V. Convery ruled that the exclusion applied only to paying passengers. He said the Bradleys were non-paying guests in the plane.

The Appellate Division reversed Convery's ruling. It said the term passengers in aviation regulations applies both to paying and non-paying riders.

Contract Talks To Start Friday For Gov. Clinton

Negotiations for a new contract will begin Friday morning between Hotel Local 666 and the management of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The present contract expires June 2. Approximately 75 persons are employed at the hotel. Negotiations will be conducted at the hotel.

Under the present contract the hotel is operated under a Union Shop plan under which employes are required to become members of the union after 30 days of employment. It was reported the union will seek a continuance of the union shop and ask for an increase in wages.

The union will oppose an "open shop" which is being sought by the hotel management and also any exclusion of additional employes from the bargaining unit. Under the "open shop" plan an employe may elect to become a union member or remain non-union.

West Is Staying In Berlin: Rusk

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Australians tonight Berlin is the most direct Soviet challenge to the free world and reaffirmed: "We will not be forced, squeezed or harassed out of West Berlin."

Rusk spoke at a dinner given in honor of him and New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake at the end of a two-day ANZUS council meeting. His speech was broadcast throughout Australia.

"We have made it plain that the freedom and viability of West Berlin, free access and the Allies' presence are necessary to ensure its freedom," Rusk said.

"In Southeast Asia, likewise, the free world has vital interests which you and New Zealand and we, with our other allies in SEATO, have special obligations to protect."

ANZUS is a mutual security pact of Australia, New Zealand and the United States. SEATO is the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Rusk noted that in the last several months, the United States has substantially increased its assistance to South Viet Nam, where Communists are waging guerrilla warfare.

"You are helping there in significant ways, but there is more for all of us to do," he said. "We should like to see many other free nations lend a helping hand. Aggression against Southeast Asia must not be allowed to succeed."

Contracts Are Given for Town Garage Building

A total of $27,644 in contracts for the town garage were awarded by the Rosendale Town Board at its meeting Monday night.

Low bidder with a bid of $21,452 for general construction and $4,067 for plumbing and heating was Kenneth Clark of Tillson. Wessel Cross of Kyserike offered a bid of $2,125 for electrical work.

Ferdinand Fiedler chairman of the assessors announced that the assessment of the Central Hudson properties would not be lowered this year. He asked for an adding machine to help with the work in his office which is increasing each year and the board voted to purchase the equipment.

A petition was presented with several names of people living close to the Tillson School asking that the dances being held on Friday nights be moved to the Maple Hill School as there was too much noise and blowing of horns at a late hour which is disturbing to the people who live in the vicinity of the school. After much discussion it was planned to continue with the dances but local constables will be in charge and on duty to try and keep order.

The High Falls Park residents asked to have the paved road in their development cleaned of dirt and dust. Town Superintendent Charles Markle said he would make an effort to secure a sweeper to do this work in the park and on several other roads in the town.

Mayor DeFelicis of the Village of Rosendale was present and suggested that the Town and the Village of Rosendale both use the public dump on the same basis as in previous years. This was agreeable to the Town Board.

The much-discussed go kart race track was again brought up and after some lengthy debate a resolution restricting and regulating the use and operation of such tracks within the town was proposed. A public hearing on this proposed town ordinance will be held May 29 at 8 p. m. at the Binnewater Firehouse, at which time all interested parties may express their views.

Hunt Continuing For 3rd Suspect InModenaHoldup

Search for a third suspect wanted in connection with the $100 robbery at Paul Handy's grocery store at Modena, continued today under the direction of State Police BCI investigators from Kingston and Orange County stations.

Under arrest and facing grand jury action on charges of robbery first degree in connection with the holdup are Richard Cobb, 16, and Claude Lee Anderson, 27, both of Pine Island, Orange County.

State police identified the third man as 18 or 19 years old, five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds. The suspect is light skinned Negro, troopers said.

Handy and his wife were in their store last Wednesday night when the three men entered. One man hit Handy on the head with a beer bottle, causing injuries which necessitated treatment at Vassar Hospital. Another man assaulted Mrs. Handy and a third man rifled the cash register of $100.

Jobless Is Under 4-Million Figure 1st Time in '62

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped by 430,000 in April and went below the four-million figure for the first time this year, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg announced today.

Although the improvement was normal for the season, Goldberg said the decline—and a simultaneous rise in employment to an April record—was an encouraging sign of continued business expansion.

The unemployment rate remained at 5.5 per cent of the civilian labor force, the same as in March as against the 6.9 per cent of a year earlier.

The rate is based on seasonal adjustments, and remained unchanged this month because the drop was expected.

The number of long-term unemployed — those out of work 15 weeks or longer—was unchanged at 1.5 million, Goldberg said.

He told a news conference: "The country can do better and will do better."

With the drop in unemployment, the total counted as jobless in April was 3,952,000.

The number of employed increased by 711,000 over the month to an April all-time high of 67,027,000.

The latter figure was 1,293,000 greater than the number holding jobs a year earlier.

Guard Alert Set During May 13-19

ALBANY—New York State will test the Alert mobilization capabilities of the New York Army National Guard at an unannounced time and date during the period May 13-19.

Gov. Rockefeller, commander-in-chief of the State Military Forces, has directed Major General A. C. O'Hara, his Chief of Staff and Commanding General, New York Army National Guard, to place this test into operation without prior knowledge of the 26,000 New York Army National Guardsmen quartered in nearly 100 armories in as many communities throughout the State.

At the Governor's direction, the test Alert signal will emanate from Albany to all Commanders who in turn will place into effect mobilization plans to assemble all units in the shortest period of time.

Radio and TV will be asked to cooperate in notifying Guardsmen when the signal is passed, in addition to the normal telephone military radio net utilized by the National Guard.

Employers are asked to cooperate in the event the test alert is ordered during business hours.

The public is cautioned that this is a TEST for the purpose of determining mobilization capabilities of the National Guard. No public action is required.

The last such Statewide Alert was called in 1955.

Veterans Advised Of Changing Laws

The recent session of the New York State Legislature passed several bills effecting the Empire State's veteran population which Governor Rockefeller signed into law. Each piece of this recent legislation can change in some way the rights of many veterans and servicemen.

"The rights of many veterans vary from year to year from factors other than the many new laws and regulations," report Charles L. Culver, counselor New York State Division of Veterans Service Agency. "For instance, changes in income might materially affect the pension entitlements of some survivors and dependents. There are many changing circumstances including age, health or unemployment," Culver and Tyler continued, "that point up the advisability of keeping well informed on veterans' affairs."

The New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency counsels thousands of veterans each year on their status under Federal and State Laws. All veterans, survivors, and servicemen in this area are invited to bring questions and problems relating to veterans' affairs to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office, 32 Main Street.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who shuffles the figures has been adding corporate status. Each year more companies set up the title of vice president-finance.

Thus they confer top level executive rank on the man whose duties have expanded manyfold since the early days when book keeping was just that and not a policy-making function, knee deep in tax laws and electronics.

The production man was the corporate darling of the early postwar era. But clerical work has taken an increasingly large proportion of the average company's activities. Major corporate decisions now usually call for conference with, and maybe approval of, the finance officer.

Importance Shown

Two recent straws in the wind point up the growing numbers and importance of the white collar worker and his boss.

1. Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers noted that white collar workers tended not only to increase steadily in numbers but also to hold their jobs when production workers were idled. So the union suggested that any blue collar employe laid off because of automation be given first crack at clerical jobs.

2. The Controllers Institute of America has just changed its name to Financial Executives Institute because so many members have risen in status. When the group started in 1931, controller was a pretty far out term itself. Few companies had any title that fancy.

Job, Title Grows

The job and title had grown over the years from head bookkeeper to accountant, cost accountant, chief accountant and finally controller.

But times changed fast during the Thirties and since. The job grew as office work was multiplied by federal measures like the Securities Act, National Labor Relations Act, Social Security Act and National Fair Labor Standards Act.

World War II added the excess profits tax, withholding tax, manpower and materials controls, wage and salary stabilization. Pay checks became a complicated residue of withholding for federal and state taxes, health insurance, pension funds, union dues and overtime.

Planning Enters Picture

Soon came management planning and control, which means corporate navigation based on forecasts and budgets. Things like operations research and electronic data processing were never heard of by the old time bookkeeper.

The recent wave of mergers and acquisitions and the far greater demand for capital and for skill in handling the cash flow multiplied the finance officer's tasks. Increasingly there are more complex tax problems.

The sums of money the financial manager handles have grown manyfold—whether in spending for expansions, modernization and automation, or in appropriations for research and development to create new products, or in payrolls and inventories, or in many cases in short-term investments, or in fund-raising in the securities markets.

So in many companies the keeper of the till is being raised to vice president, on par, with the heads of production, marketing and sales.

Health for All

Save the Children

A father and his six-months-old daughter are living under the same roof. But they're not at home. They are both patients in the same TB hospital.

When the father's TB was found, his wife and child were tested. That's when the baby's illness was discovered. She's lucky, at that. Her TB is being treated early.

In a recent year, more than 2,000 children under five years of age came down with active tuberculosis. In the same year nerly 200 babies died of the disease. Many of these tragedies could have been prevented.

If there is an adult with tuberculosis in the house, there's always a good chance that any children living in the same house have also been infected. Even if there is no adult TB in the house, all children, no matter how young, should have a regular tuberculin test to find out if they have picked up the TB infection anywhere.

A child who has been infected with TB germs, can be treated with isoniazid, the anti-tuberculosis drug, to prevent active disease from developing. If the child already has X-ray signs or other symptoms of active disease, treatment is essential, usually with two or more drugs, not only to clear up the TB, but to prevent such life-threatening complications as meningitis (inflamation of the covering of the brain and spinal cord), and miliary tuberculosis (TB spread throughout the body).

Ask your doctor about a TB checkup, not only for the baby, but for the family.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Phil Silvers is a charming, intelligent and talented comedian.

How do I know that?

He told me.

"Tell you how to start your story," said Silver in his ratatatat style. " 'Phil Silvers is a charming, intelligent and talented comedian.' "

Phil was making a sentimental return to 20th Century-Fox, where he spent eight of his youthful years.

"Just dropped in to see my old friend, Dean Martin, and what happens?" he said indignantly. "They put me to work."

The work is playing a cameo role as an insurance man in "Something's Got to Give." Silvers made it seem more like play than work as he and Mart gagged between and during scenes.

"This is your world," Silvers scoffed, "Mine is the theatuh. Ah, to be back on the boards again."

The boards will have to do without Silvers for a while. After winding up "Do Re Mi" in Detroit, he moved his family here. He has enough work to engage him. In fact, he is cast in three films currently shooting. Besides this one, he is to play Tony Curtis' boss in "40 Pounds of Trouble" and a con man in "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

Silvers admitted things weren't the same at Fox on his return: "I'm not following John Payne around."

One of the major reasons for Silvers' settling back in his old haunts is his family. A late starter, he has managed to amass a harem that consists of wife Evelyn, daughters Tracey, 5, Nancy, 3, plus twins Cathy and Candie, 9 months.

"This is a great place for kids," the comedian observed.

"The only place!" said Martin, himself the father of six.

According to latest census figures, the average U.S. widower is aged 72 years or about 4½ years older than the average widow.

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who shuffles the figures has been adding corporate status. Each year more companies set up the title of vice president-finance.

Thus they confer top level executive rank on the man whose duties have expanded manyfold since the early days when book keeping was just that and not a policy-making function, knee deep in tax laws and electronics.

The production man was the corporate darling of the early postwar era. But clerical work has taken an increasingly large proportion of the average company's activities. Major corporate decisions now usually call for conference with, and maybe approval of, the finance officer.

Importance Shown

Two recent straws in the wind point up the growing numbers and importance of the white collar worker and his boss.

1. Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers noted that white collar workers tended not only to increase steadily in numbers but also to hold their jobs when production workers were idled. So the union suggested that any blue collar employe laid off because of automation be given first crack at clerical jobs.

2. The Controllers Institute of America has just changed its name to Financial Executives Institute because so many members have risen in status. When the group started in 1931, controller was a pretty far out term itself. Few companies had any title that fancy.

Job, Title Grows

The job and title had grown over the years from head bookkeeper to accountant, cost accountant, chief accountant and finally controller.

But times changed fast during the Thirties and since. The job grew as office work was multiplied by federal measures like the Securities Act, National Labor Relations Act, Social Security Act and National Fair Labor Standards Act.

World War II added the excess profits tax, withholding tax, manpower and materials controls, wage and salary stabilization. Pay checks became a complicated residue of withholding for federal and state taxes, health insurance, pension funds, union dues and overtime.

Planning Enters Picture

Soon came management planning and control, which means corporate navigation based on forecasts and budgets. Things like operations research and electronic data processing were never heard of by the old time bookkeeper.

The recent wave of mergers and acquisitions and the far greater demand for capital and for skill in handling the cash flow multiplied the finance officer's tasks.

Increasingly there are more complex tax problems.

The sums of money the financial manager handles have grown manyfold—whether in spending for expansions, modernization and automation, or in appropriations for research and development to create new products, or in payrolls and inventories, or in many cases in short-term investments, or in fund-raising in the securities markets.

So in many companies the keeper of the till is being raised to vice president, on par with the heads of production, marketing and sales.

Health for All

Save the Children

A father and his six-months-old daughter are living under the same roof. But they're not at home. They are both patients in the same TB hospital.

When the father's TB was found, his wife and child were tested. That's when the baby's illness was discovered. She's lucky, at that. Her TB is being treated early.

In a recent year, more than 2,000 children under five years of age came down with active tuberculosis. In the same year nerly 200 babies died of the disease. Many of these tragedies could have been prevented.

If there is an adult with tuberculosis in the house, there's always a good chance that any children living in the same house have also been infected. Even if there is no adult TB in the house, all children, no matter how young, should have a regular tuberculin test to find out if they have picked up the TB infection anywhere.

A child who has been infected with TB germs, can be treated with isoniazid, the anti-tuberculosis drug, to prevent active disease from developing. If the child already has X-ray signs or other symptoms of active disease, treatment is essential, usually with two or more drugs, not only to clear up the TB, but to prevent such life-threatening complications as meningitis (inflamation of the covering of the brain and spinal cord), and miliary tuberculosis (TB spread throughout the body).

Ask your doctor about a TB checkup, not only for the baby, but for the family.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Phil Silvers is a charming, intelligent and talented comedian.

How do I know that?

He told me.

"Tell you how to start your story," said Silver in his ratatatat style. "'Phil Silvers is a charming, intelligent and talented comedian.'"

Phil was making a sentimental return to 20th Century-Fox, where he spent eight of his youthful years.

"Just dropped in to see my old friend, Dean Martin, and what happens?" he said indignantly. "They put me to work."

The work is playing a cameo role as an insurance man in "Something's Got to Give." Silvers made it seem more like play than work as he and Mart gagged between and during scenes.

"This is your world," Silvers scoffed, "Mine is the theatuh. Ah, to be back on the boards again."

The boards will have to do without Silvers for a while. After winding up "Do Re Mi" in Detroit, he moved his family here. He has enough work to engage him. In fact, he is cast in three films currently shooting. Besides this one, he is to play Tony Curtis' boss in "40 Pounds of Trouble" and a con man in "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

Silvers admitted things weren't the same at Fox on his return: "I'm not following John Payne around."

One of the major reasons for Silvers' settling back in his old haunts is his family. A late starter, he has managed to amass a harem that consists of wife Evelyn, daughters Tracey, 5, Nancy, 3, plus twins Cathy and Candie, 9 months.

"This is a great place for kids," the comedian observed.

"The only place!" said Martin, himself the father of six.

According to latest census figures, the average U.S. widower is aged 72 years or about 4½ years older than the average widow.

To Complete Probe

SEC Asks Congress For Time, $200,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission asked Congress today for more time and money to complete its investigation of the securities industry.

Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr., D-Ill., said he was introducing, at the agency's request, a bill that would give the commission an extra $200,000 for its inquiry and extend by three months the deadline for a final report.

$750,000 Authorized

Congress last year authorized $750,000 for the investigation, which it wanted completed by Jan. 3, 1963.

The inquiry moved from behind closed doors this week as the SEC began public hearings on the training, fitness and sales practices of mutual fund salesmen and brokerage employes.

Mack called it "the broadest and most penetrating investigating of securities markets since the early 1930s." In a speech prepared for delivery to the House, he said the SEC should be allowed to complete its work "in order to maintain full investor confidence."

"I have every reason to believe," Mack said, "that the commission is conducting its study and investigation in a very serious, diligent and responsible manner."

Mostly on Mutual Funds

The public hearings so far have dealt with the operations of mutual funds. Favorites with small investors, these firms are corporations which buy stock off other companies, assigning proportionate interests in their portfolios to those who buy fund shares.

Investigators heard testimony Tuesday about what was called a universal fund practice of throwing "reciprocal business" to brokerage firms that sell fund shares to the public.

Eugene J. Habas, senior vice president of Hugh W. Long & Co., Inc., Elizabeth, N.J., said this often takes the form of orders to execute stock transactions stemming from changes in a fund's portfolio. In many other cases, he added, brokers which execute transactions of this sort agree to share their commissions with firms designated by a fund.

Richard H. Paul, chief counsel for the investigation, suggested the need to generate enough "reciprocal business" to keep all brokers happy might induce the fund to buy and sell more stocks than necessary. Habas said responsible people would not do this.

Chamber Reports 28 New Members, Roll Totals 199

The membership committee reported 199 memberships at the board of directors' meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. This represented 171 renewals for the fiscal year starting May 1 and 28 new memberships enrolled yesterday.

In reporting on the directors' meeting today Chamber president Sam Pepper stated that the publication of a classified membership directory will be considered in which only paid-up members will be listed. The decision as to the directory and closing date for listings was left up to the executive committee by the directors.

Reports on Panel

Christus J. Larios, a Chamber director and chairman of the Community Development Committee, reported on a recent panel the committee held on industrial development. One tangible result of this study Larios reported will be close coordination of the industrial activities of three presently established committees working in this field. They include the Kingston Mayors' Committee, headed by Harry Kaprielian, the commitee of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors of which Clarence Raichle is the chairman and the Chamber of Commerce Committee headed by Hugh R. Elwyn. All three were present at the study panel arranged by the Chamber Committee.

In reporting on the discussion at the directors' meeting relating to the Chamber membership Pepper said that a more stringent policy will be adopted relating to non-payment of dues. A change in the by-laws will be considered for possible action at the next breakfast meeting. It was agreed that the first breakfast meeting Apri 25 was successful and afforded an opportunity for members to hear about some Chamber activities and meet some of the volunteer workers serving on various committees.

Plan Defense Seminar

The directors also authorized the appointment of a small planning committee to start making arrangements for the two-week National Defense Seminar, sponsored by the Industrial College of the armed forces to be one of 14 held nationally during the 1962--63 series. Kingston is the smallest city in which a seminar of this kind has been held.

The next study panel to be held by the Chamber's Community Development Committee will be on Natural Resources. The first major subject considered was commercial development and the second, industrial development, reported on at the Tuesday's director's meeting. In each category specific suggestions are being made for further study, recommendations to the board of directors followed by a program of action. The stand taken in regard to the need for parking in the Uptown business district, as a beginning to meet the parking problems in all parts of the city was cited as one example as to how this committee functions.

Chickens were domesticated in southeastern Asia perhaps as recently as 1500 B.C., according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Quilty Bid . . .

to the lowest bidder," he added.

The Quilty Agency has placed the city's policies with Insurance By North America, which also provides for the Kingston Consolidated School District.

One of the additional benefits to the city through the new liability and compensation package coverage, he noted, is the safety engineering program that North America will institute in the municipal government at no additional expense to the city. This program, he explained, is designed to help reduce accidents and thus reduce the city's loss record.

The mayor thanked the other insurance agencies who bid, for their time and effort in drawing prospective insurance programs for the city.

Centaur Failure

a temperature of 423 degrees below zero to remain liquid is the key to Centaur's extra muscle.

Once harnessed, liquid hydrogen will produce 40 per cent greater thrust per pound of fuel than chemical fuels used on present rockets like the Atlas. Centaur's second stage has two hydrogen-driven engines with total thrust of 30,000 pounds—a potent kick when ignited in the vacuum of space.

When operation, hopefully in about two years, Centaur will be capable of lifting 8,500-pound satellites into earth orbit, landing 2,300 pounds on the moon or sending 1,300 pounds to the vicinity of Mars and Venus.

Stricken Ill at Home

Police were dispatched Tuesday afternoon to give emergency assistance to Stephen Baliszewski, 64, of 34 Sycamore St., who, they were told, had been taken suddenly ill and fell to the kitchfloor of his home. Emergency oxygen treatment was given and a Fatum ambulance was dispatched there. Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw with Officers Richard Dempsey, Thomas Kearney and Joseph Kivlan answered the call. Mr. Baliszewski's condition was reported as serious at the Benedictine Hospital today.

League Fence Damaged

Police were notified at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday that someone had hit and knocked down some 40 to 50 feet of fence at the Little League baseball park near the state armory. Damage was estimated at $75. Officers Richard Dempsey and Thomas Kearney who investigated, said there was indication that the vehicle was of red and yellow color.

AT TB HEALTH AND HEART DINNER—Among principals at Tuesday's dinner of the TB and Health Association, joined by the Ulster County Heart Chapter, were (l-r) Charles Snyder, honorary member of the board of directors; Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, elected for three years on executive committee of Heart Chapter; Mrs. Virginia G. S. Burnham, outstanding leader in the field of health, from Connecticut, guest speaker; Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., re-elected as director for three years, TB and Health Association, and Mrs. William H. McNamee, honorary member of the TB and Health board of directors. (Freeman photo).

Must Speed Up

Polio Vaccine Is Example

"A prime example is the Salk polio vaccine," Mrs. Burnham said. She stated that there are still many new cases of paralytic poliomyelitis among children and adults. She noted that it is estimated that there are at least 40 million persons under 40 years in this country who have not had polio vaccine.

"This is truly appalling when one considers the fact that the vaccine is there for the asking—and for those who cannot afford it—without cost," the speaker stated.

"What is the reason for this deplorable situation?" asked the speaker. She stated that she could only give as a reason the abject apathy and lethargy on the part of parents of children and the individual to avail themselves of this privilege offered to the world by medical science.

"Unfortunately," she said, apathy-lethargy-inertia, call it what you will, is a common disease which is shared by almost all mankind. What motivation is needed to dispel this fifth horseman of the Apocalypse? Is not good health, our common heritage, a sufficient motivating factor? It certainly should be."

Demand on Doctors

Emphasizing another point, Mrs. Burnham said, "Our nation's physicians, whose life work it is to minister to the sick, spend an average of from 10 to 14 hours daily in the practice of medicine. The focus of their attention is upon illness, and this is necessarily so, for while there has been maintained a constant ratio of physicians to the population, rapid advances in medical care and the awakened awareness of the public have place such great demands upon the individual doctor in practice that he is finding it almost impossible to keep pace."

Mrs. Burnham told her listeners that their health association is "making a great contribution" in this area through programs of education and community services. She stated there is a need for more groups such as the health association to broaden the base of this concerted effort.

The speaker contended there is a desperate, crying need for manpower. More doctors, more scientists in every field, more nurses, social workers and technicians in every field are needed. "The explosive increase in population which is taking place worldwide since the war, and which gives every indication of continuing, will increase the number of young people going into the life sciences, but the trend is strongly indicative of a greater interest in the physical sciences, such as electronics, engineering or astronautics, rather than the biological sciences," Mrs. Burnham said.

Progress in Heart Research

"February is Heart Month—our No. 1 health problem is heart disease, it is the cause of 54 per cent of all deaths," the speaker said. "The 1950's will go down in history as the decade in which physicians and scientists learned more about the human heart and its disorders than in any decade in human history. In no other field of medicine has so much been achieved in so short a time. Through research, the speaker noted, rheumatic fever has become what might be called a controllable disease, and is now on its way to becoming a rare disease. Continuing research will unearth the specific factor which determines individual susceptibility to rheumatic fever. "In the meantime, it can be controlled," Mrs. Burnham said.

Through research, the speaker pointed out, subacute bacterial endocarditis—once nearly 100 per cent fatal — yields in most cases to treatment. She stated that more than 100,000 young lives have been saved because of the surgeon's newly-found ability to correct both congenital and acquired heart defects. She further noted that other impressive gains include surgery to replace diseased or damaged blood vessels with nylon tubes, and in selected cases to replace malfunctioning heart valves with plastic valves.

"We also have seen the development of drugs to control most cases of high blood pressure, drugs that inhibit clotting and thus guard against repeat heart attacks, and vastly improved methods of diagnosis and treatment." Mrs. Burnham stated.

Mrs. Burnham said further "all of these achievements, plus many others supply eloquent documentation of the tremendous progress that has taken place during the 1950 decade.

NYC, Pennsy Says

had a net profit of $3.5 million on an investment of $2.9 billion. The Central reported a net loss in 1961 of $12.5 million.

1961 Worst Year

Allen J. Greenough, president of the Pennsylvania, said 1961 throughout the railroad industry "was the worst year ... since the prewar depression."

Savings in the Pennsylvania-Central merger would result from elimination of duplicated facilities, sale of property that became surplus, reduced overhead and shorter routes.

Looking to the hurdle that the merger plan faces in the ICC, Perlman and James M. Symes, Pennsylvania board chairman, said the union would be part of an emerging pattern for three "competitively balanced" rail systems.

Besides the Pennsylvania-Central system, there would be the system developing out of the proposal consolidation of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio, and the other from the proposed merger of the Norfolk & Western with the Wabash and Nickel Plate railroads.

Perlman's View

"You are not doing away with competition," Perlman said. "You are fostering competition."

Symes also contended that the merger would improve the railroad employment picture.

"It would mean a more prosperous railroad that should be able to obtain more business — and that should mean more jobs," Symes said.

Perlman told Central stockholders that 7,000 jobs might be cut in the merger. However, he added that the two railroads together had eliminated an average of 11,000 jobs a year over the past decade.

In general, the merged system would serve the area between the East Coast and the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

Symes said no route mileage would be abandoned.

Less than one per cent of the Central stockholders who voted on the plan opposed it. In Philadelphia, the negative vote was less than 1.5 per cent of the total.

Under the merger plan, Central stockholders would receive 1.3 shares in the new company for each share of Central stock they hold. Pennsylvania stock will be exchanged on a one-for-one basis.

A collection of photographs of "Yesterday and Today" from the files of the Kingston Hospital Alumnae Association is on display this week at the Artcraft Camera Center, 694 Broadway. The pictures include views of the hospital building as it was 60 years ago, as well as the old and new operating rooms, nursery and the nurses' home. Nurses pictured in two World Wars and in student uniforms of yesterday and today illustrate the balance between tradition and change that characterizes the nursing profession itself. Graduation pictures of many of the classes are also in the exhibit, which was arranged for the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Kingston Hospital Alumnae Association. The Artcraft Camera Center is open to the public 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily except Sunday.

These '62 Purchases Rated as 'Mixed Bag'

Q) "Early this year I bought 100 shares each of the following stocks: National Distillers, Sunbeam, San Diego Imperial, and Southwest Gas Producing. What is your opinion of these issues?" H. L.

A) You have a rather mixed bag of stocks but, with one exception, I think that each of your selections is good in its own way.

National Distillers and Sunbeam, in my opinion, are stocks best suited to conservative, dividend-conscious accounts. Both issues have moved in a generally sideways pattern for a number of years, and I believe it will take the prospect of some unusually strong earnings gains to jolt them out of their lethargy and send them higher. Since I'm unable to see any evidence of this happening, I must rate each as mainly an income holding.

San Diego Imperial, to me, is a sound growth holding. The market image of savings and loan stocks is rather tarnished now because of a proposed new Federal tax on this particular group. It may take a year or so before San Diego can resume its former rate of expansion. Nevertheless, I think that the shares offer considerable value at present price levels — much more so than the majority of investors realizes.

My opinion of your fourth stock, Southwest Gas Producing, is not nearly so high. The firm's earnings record lacks any sign of an upward trend, and the shares today sell for much less than they did ten years ago. If I owned the stock, I'd switch to Coastal State Gas Producing (OTC) or Tex-Star Oil & Gas (OTC) — two issues which I believe will show much better appreciation in the years to come.

Q) Should I continue to hold my shares of Coca-Cola?" T. C.

A) I think you should, Coca-Cola, in my opinion, is a good commitment for dividend income plus long range gains.

Senate Won't Cut

limit debate, he would move immediately thereafter to table the literacy bill in a procedural step designed to obtain a test of Senate sentiment on the legislation.

Southern foes of the bill seemed confident that the move to put the rule into effect, requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting, would fail.

The showdown will come automatically one hour after the start of the Senate session. A vote will be taken on a debate-limitation petition filed Monday by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and 29 other senators.

The literacy test bill, the chief civil rights measure urged by President Kennedy, was offered by Mansfield and Dirksen just two weeks ago today.

Southern opponents have hammered away at it as an unconstitutional attempt to deprive the states of the right to fix the qualifications of voters.

The measure provides that anyone with at least a sixth-grade education shall not be disqualified from voting in presidential and congressional elections because of failure to pass a state literacy test.

Proponents contend that in about 100 Southern counties large numbers of Negroes have been kept from registering as voters because of racial discrimination in the administration of literacy tests.

Soviet Bars Test

any treaty on banning nuclear tests unless France is a party to it."

France has never taken part in the test ban talks, and has boycotted the disarmament confeence since it opened March 14.

The United States detected the French nuclear test before Paris announced it and Zorin used this to support the Soviet position that no international control system is necessary to police a test ban.

"The fact that the test was picked up by the United States bears out our assertion that all tests can be detected by national detection systems," Zorin declared.

The test ban negotiations are deadlocked by the Soviet refusal to discuss any arrangements allowing for compulsory inspection of suspicious earth tremors. The United States and Britain refuse to accept a test ban without such a control system.

Western delegation officials said the British and American position on French participation in a test ban treaty remains unchanged.

"We are certain that if the Soviets signed a treaty, the French would accept it sooner or later," one official said.

He declined comment on Zorin's argument that American detection of the Reggane underground test proved that an international verification system was unnecessary.

revenue from metered parking, the speaker felt that the net cost to the city, even when taking into account maintenance of the facility, would be negligible.

Svirsky reminded his listeners that Kingston is the county seat of Ulster; that the uptown business section is the financial center of the county, as well. He pointed out that 40 per cent of the county's savings deposits, which have tripled in the last 20 years, is located in this section of the city, making the uptown section the real "heart" of the city.

Explains Federal Help

With the hope of the early approval of urban renewal funds for the uptown section, Svirsky estimated that the federal government would invest seven dollars for each dollar that the city spent and that this project would make a most appropriate beginning.

Svirsky cited the fact that neighboring cities in the Mid-Hudson Area, including Newburgh and Poughkeepsie, along with the village of Saugerties, have been taking bold steps in the direction of solving their "uptown" shopping area parking problems and that Kingston must keep in step.

Among several guests at the regular noonday meeting were Paul Patchin, past International director of the Lions Club and District Governor Walter Eckels.

Major Arthur Foehser announced that the speaker at next week's meeting, in honor of Armed Forces Week, would be Admiral Richard Gregory Ganahl, a 1920 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy. The Admiral, decorated with both the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star, has a distinguished service record, and he will address a joint meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, with a sizable delegation of Rotarians expected.

UAW Plans . . .

voting and census figures show union members made up 37 per cent of the voting population but represented only 26 per cent of the votes cast. Executives and professionals making up 18 per cent of the eligible vote cast 26 per cent of the ballots.

Roy Reuther is heading a $1-million drive by the AFL-CIO's 130 affiliated unions to get many thousands more workers registered and voting in this fall's congressional polling. He said one out of three Americans of voting age fail to exercise their ballots.

The UAW voted overwhelming approval to an all-out political action resolution Tuesday after hearing Kennedy make a major address. The President remarked that after speaking to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and to American Medical Association executives he had begun to wonder how he ever got elected.

"Now I remember," Kennedy said upon hearing the UAW's roaring reception.

Kennedy skipped an opening line in his prepared text saying he was counting on staunch UAW support in coming legislative and political battles. But the President intimated as much in other passages of his speech.

Two Parties Start

would produce enough revenue to meet rising expenditures.

But the Democrats charged that higher taxes would result from what they called the governor's "blind devotion to pay-as-you-go."

Rockefeller said in Jamestown last week that there would be no increase in state taxes in the foreseeable future. He later said this could be interpreted to mean the next four years.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assembly Anthony J. Travia, the Democratic minority leaders, contended that a Republican victory in November would result in "some new way to get more money out of the hides and pockets of taxpayers."

The Democrats say that continuation of the governor's pay-as-you-go policy—without borrowing through bond issues—will require tax increases.

All 208 seats in the Legislature are at stake in the election Nov. 6. The Republicans have a 33-25 edge in the Senate and control the Assembly, 84-66.

To Complete Probe

SEC Asks Congress For Time, $200,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission asked Congress today for more time and money to complete its investigation of the securities industry.

Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr., D-Ill., said he was introducing, at the agency's request, a bill that would give the commission an extra $200,000 for its inquiry and extend by three months the deadline for a final report.

$750,000 Authorized

Congress last year authorized $750,000 for the investigation, which it wanted completed by Jan. 3, 1963.

The inquiry moved from behind closed doors this week as the SEC began public hearings on the training, fitness and sales practices of mutual fund salesmen and brokerage employes.

Mack called it "the broadest and most penetrating investigating of securities markets since the early 1930s." In a speech prepared for delivery to the House, he said the SEC should be allowed to complete its work "in order to maintain full investor confidence."

"I have every reason to believe," Mack said, "that the commission is conducting its study and investigation in a very serious, diligent and responsible manner."

Mostly on Mutual Funds

The public hearings so far have dealt with the operations of mutual funds. Favorites with small investors, these firms are corporations which buy stock off other companies, assigning proportionate interests in their portfolios to those who buy fund shares.

Investigators heard testimony Tuesday about what was called a universal fund practice of throwing "reciprocal business" to brokerage firms that sell fund shares to the public.

Eugene J. Habas, senior vice president of Hugh W. Long & Co., Inc., Elizabeth, N.J., said this often takes the form of orders to execute stock transactions stemming from changes in a fund's portfolio. In many other cases, he added, brokers which execute transactions of this sort agree to share their commissions with firms designated by a fund.

Richard H. Paul, chief counsel for the investigation, suggested the need to generate enough "reciprocal business" to keep all brokers happy might induce the fund to buy and sell more stocks than necessary. Habas said responsible people would not do this.

Chamber Reports 28 New Members, Roll Totals 199

The membership committee reported 199 memberships at the board of directors' meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. This represented 171 renewals for the fiscal year starting May 1 and 28 new memberships enrolled yesterday.

In reporting on the directors' meeting today Chamber president Sam Pepper stated that the publication of a classified membership directory will be considered in which only paid-up members will be listed. The decision as to the directory and closing date for listings was left up to the executive committee by the directors.

Reports on Panel

Christus J. Larios, a Chamber director and chairman of the Community Development Committee, reported on a recent panel the committee held on industrial development. One tangible result of this study Larios reported will be close coordination of the industrial activities of three presently established committees working in this field. They include the Kingston Mayors' Committee, headed by Harry Kaprielian, the commitee of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors of which Clarence Raichle is the chairman and the Chamber of Commerce Committee headed by Hugh R. Elwyn. All three were present at the study panel arranged by the Chamber Committee.

In reporting on the discussion at the directors' meeting relating to the Chamber membership Pepper said that a more stringent policy will be adopted relating to non-payment of dues. A change in the by-laws will be considered for possible action at the next breakfast meeting. It was agreed that the first breakfast meeting Apri 25 was successful and afforded an opportunity for members to hear about some Chamber activities and meet some of the volunteer workers serving on various committees.

Plan Defense Seminar

The directors also authorized the appointment of a small planning committee to start making arrangements for the two-week National Defense Seminar, sponsored by the Industrial College of the armed forces to be one of 14 held nationally during the 1962--63 series. Kingston is the smallest city in which a seminar of this kind has been held.

The next study panel to be held by the Chamber's Community Development Committee will be on Natural Resources. The first major subject considered was commercial development and the second, industrial development, reported on at the Tuesday's director's meeting. In each category specific suggestions are being made for further study, recommendations to the board of directors followed by a program of action. The stand taken in regard to the need for parking in the Uptown business district, as a beginning to meet the parking problems in all parts of the city was cited as one example as to how this committee functions.

Chickens were domesticated in southeastern Asia perhaps as recently as 1500 B.C., according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Quilty Bid . . .

to the lowest bidder," he added.

The Quilty Agency has placed the city's policies with Insurance By North America, which also provides for the Kingston Consolidated School District.

One of the additional benefits to the city through the new liability and compensation package coverage, he noted, is the safety engineering program that North America will institute in the municipal government at no additional expense to the city. This program, he explained, is designed to help reduce accidents and thus reduce the city's loss record.

The mayor thanked the other insurance agencies who bid, for their time and effort in drawing prospective insurance programs for the city.

Centaur Failure

a temperature of 423 degrees below zero to remain liquid is the key to Centaur's extra muscle.

Once harnessed, liquid hydrogen will produce 40 per cent greater thrust per pound of fuel than chemical fuels used on present rockets like the Atlas. Centaur's second stage has two hydrogen-driven engines with total thrust of 30,000 pounds—a potent kick when ignited in the vacuum of space.

When operation, hopefully in about two years, Centaur will be capable of lifting 8,500-pound satellites into earth orbit, landing 2,300 pounds on the moon or sending 1,300 pounds to the vicinity of Mars and Venus.

Stricken Ill at Home

Police were dispatched Tuesday afternoon to give emergency assistance to Stephen Baliszewski, 64, of 34 Sycamore St., who, they were told, had been taken suddenly ill and fell to the kitchfloor of his home. Emergency oxygen treatment was given and a Fatum ambulance was dispatched there. Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw with Officers Richard Dempsey, Thomas Kearney and Joseph Kivlan answered the call. Mr. Baliszewski's condition was reported as serious at the Benedictine Hospital today.

League Fence Damaged

Police were notified at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday that someone had hit and knocked down some 40 to 50 feet of fence at the Little League baseball park near the state armory. Damage was estimated at $75. Officers Richard Dempsey and Thomas Kearney who investigated, said there was indication that the vehicle was of red and yellow color.

Must Speed Up

Polio Vaccine Is Example

"A prime example is the Salk polio vaccine," Mrs. Burnham said. She stated that there are still many new cases of paralytic poliomyelitis among children and adults. She noted that it is estimated that there are at least 40 million persons under 40 years in this country who have not had polio vaccine.

"This is truly appalling when one considers the fact that the vaccine is there for the asking—and for those who cannot afford it—without cost," the speaker stated.

"What is the reason for this deplorable situation?" asked the speaker. She stated that she could only give as a reason the abject apathy and lethargy on the part of parents of children and the individual to avail themselves of this privilege offered to the world by medical science.

"Unfortunately," she said, apathy-lethargy-inertia, call it what you will, is a common disease which is shared by almost all mankind. What motivation is needed to dispel this fifth horseman of the Apocalypse? Is not good health, our common heritage, a sufficient motivating factor? It certainly should be."

Demand on Doctors

Emphasizing another point, Mrs. Burnham said, "Our nation's physicians, whose life work it is to minister to the sick, spend an average of from 10 to 14 hours daily in the practice of medicine. The focus of their attention is upon illness, and this is necessarily so, for while there has been maintained a constant ratio of physicians to the population, rapid advances in medical care and the awakened awareness of the public have place such great demands upon the individual doctor in practice that he is finding it almost impossible to keep pace."

Mrs. Burnham told her listeners that their health association is "making a great contribution" in this area through programs of education and community services. She stated there is a need for more groups such as the health association to broaden the base of this concerted effort.

The speaker contended there is a desperate, crying need for manpower. More doctors, more scientists in every field, more nurses, social workers and technicians in every field are needed. "The explosive increase in population which is taking place worldwide since the war, and which gives every indication of continuing, will increase the number of young people going into the life sciences, but the trend is strongly indicative of a greater interest in the physical sciences, such as electronics, engineering or astronautics, rather than the biological sciences," Mrs. Burnham said.

Progress in Heart Research

"February is Heart Month—our No. 1 health problem is heart disease, it is the cause of 54 per cent of all deaths," the speaker said. "The 1950's will go down in history as the decade in which physicians and scientists learned more about the human heart and its disorders than in any decade in human history. In no other field of medicine has so much been achieved in so short a time.

Through research, the speaker noted, rheumatic fever has become what might be called a controllable disease, and is now on its way to becoming a rare disease. Continuing research will unearth the specific factor which determines individual susceptibility to rheumatic fever. "In the meantime, it can be controlled," Mrs. Burnham said.

Through research, the speaker pointed out, subacute bacterial endocarditis—once nearly 100 per cent fatal — yields in most cases to treatment. She stated that more than 100,000 young lives have been saved because of the surgeon's newly-found ability to correct both congenital and acquired heart defects. She further noted that other impressive gains include surgery to replace diseased or damaged blood vessels with nylon tubes, and in selected cases to replace malfunctioning heart valves with plastic valves.

"We also have seen the development of drugs to control most cases of high blood pressure, drugs that inhibit clotting and thus guard against repeat heart attacks, and vastly improved methods of diagnosis and treatment," Mrs. Burnham stated.

Mrs. Burnham said further "all of these achievements, plus many others supply eloquent documentation of the tremendous progress that has taken place during the 1950 decade.

NYC, Pennsy Says

had a net profit of $3.5 million on an investment of $2.9 billion. The Central reported a net loss in 1961 of $12.5 million.

1961 Worst Year

Allen J. Greenough, president of the Pennsylvania, said 1961 throughout the railroad industry "was the worst year ... since the prewar depression."

Savings in the Pennsylvania-Central merger would result from elimination of duplicated facilities, sale of property that became surplus, reduced overhead and shorter routes.

Looking to the hurdle that the merger plan faces in the ICC, Perlman and James M. Symes, Pennsylvania board chairman, said the union would be part of an emerging pattern for three "competitively balanced" rail systems.

Besides the Pennsylvania-Central system, there would be the system developing out of the proposal consolidation of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio, and the other from the proposed merger of the Norfolk & Western with the Wabash and Nickel Plate railroads.

Perlman's View

"You are not doing away with competition," Perlman said. "You are fostering competition."

Symes also contended that the merger would improve the railroad employment picture.

"It would mean a more prosperous railroad that should be able to obtain more business — and that should mean more jobs," Symes said.

Perlman told Central stockholders that 7,000 jobs might be cut in the merger. However, he added that the two railroads together had eliminated an average of 11,000 jobs a year over the past decade.

In general, the merged system would serve the area between the East Coast and the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

Symes said no route mileage would be abandoned.

Less than one per cent of the Central stockholders who voted on the plan opposed it. In Philadelphia, the negative vote was less than 1.5 per cent of the total.

Under the merger plan, Central stockholders would receive 1.3 shares in the new company for each share of Central stock they hold. Pennsylvania stock will be exchanged on a one-for-one basis.

These '62 Purchases Rated as 'Mixed Bag'

Q) "Early this year I bought 100 shares each of the following stocks: National Distillers, Sunbeam, San Diego Imperial, and Southwest Gas Producing. What is your opinion of these issues?" H. L.

A) You have a rather mixed bag of stocks but, with one exception, I think that each of your selections is good in its own way.

National Distillers and Sunbeam, in my opinion, are stocks best suited to conservative, dividend-conscious accounts. Both issues have moved in a generally sideways pattern for a number of years, and I believe it will take the prospect of some unusually strong earnings gains to jolt them out of their lethargy and send them higher. Since I'm unable to see any evidence of this happening, I must rate each as mainly an income holding.

San Diego Imperial, to me, is a sound growth holding. The market image of savings and loan stocks is rather tarnished now because of a proposed new Federal tax on this particular group. It may take a year or so before San Diego can resume its former rate of expansion. Nevertheless, I think that the shares offer considerable value at present price levels — much more so than the majority of investors realizes.

My opinion of your fourth stock, Southwest Gas Producing, is not nearly so high. The firm's earnings record lacks any sign of an upward trend, and the shares today sell for much less than they did ten years ago. If I owned the stock, I'd switch to Coastal State Gas Producing (OTC) or Tex-Star Oil & Gas (OTC) — two issues which I believe will show much better appreciation in the years to come.

Q) Should I continue to hold my shares of Coca-Cola?" T. C.

A) I think you should. Coca-Cola, in my opinion, is a good commitment for dividend income plus long range gains.

Senate Won't Cut

limit debate, he would move immediately thereafter to table the literacy bill in a procedural step designed to obtain a test of Senate sentiment on the legislation.

Southern foes of the bill seemed confident that the move to put the rule into effect, requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting, would fail.

The showdown will come automatically one hour after the start of the Senate session. A vote will be taken on a debate-limitation petition filed Monday by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and 29 other senators.

The literacy test bill, the chief civil rights measure urged by President Kennedy, was offered by Mansfield and Dirksen just two weeks ago today.

Southern opponents have hammered away at it as an unconstitutional attempt to deprive the states of the right to fix the qualifications of voters.

The measure provides that anyone with at least a sixth-grade education shall not be disqualified from voting in presidential and congressional elections because of failure to pass a state literacy test.

Proponents contend that in about 100 Southern counties large numbers of Negroes have been kept from registering as voters because of racial discrimination in the administration of literacy tests.

any treaty on banning nuclear tests unless France is a party to it."

France has never taken part in the test ban talks, and has boycotted the disarmament conference since it opened March 14.

The United States detected the French nuclear test before Paris announced it and Zorin used this to support the Soviet position that no international control system is necessary to police a test ban.

"The fact that the test was picked up by the United States bears out our assertion that all tests can be detected by national detection systems," Zorin declared.

The test ban negotiations are deadlocked by the Soviet refusal to discuss any arrangements allowing for compulsory inspection of suspicious earth tremors. The United States and Britain refuse to accept a test ban without such a control system.

Western delegation officials said the British and American position on French participation in a test ban treaty remains unchanged.

"We are certain that if the Soviets signed a treaty, the French would accept it sooner or later," one official said.

He declined comment on Zorin's argument that American detection of the Reggane underground test proved that an international verification system was unnecessary.

Svirsky Appeals

revenue from metered parking, the speaker felt that the net cost to the city, even when taking into account maintenance of the facility, would be negligible.

Svirsky reminded his listeners that Kingston is the county seat of Ulster; that the uptown business section is the financial center of the county, as well. He pointed out that 40 per cent of the county's savings deposits, which have tripled in the last 20 years, is located in this section of the city, making the uptown section the real "heart" of the city.

Explains Federal Help

With the hope of the early approval of urban renewal funds for the uptown section, Svirsky estimated that the federal government would invest seven dollars for each dollar that the city spent and that this project would make a most appropriate beginning.

Svirsky cited the fact that neighboring cities in the Mid-Hudson Area, including Newburgh and Poughkeepsie, along with the village of Saugerties, have been taking bold steps in the direction of solving their "uptown" shopping area parking problems and that Kingston must keep in step.

Among several guests at the regular noonday meeting were Paul Patchin, past International director of the Lions Club and District Governor Walter Eckels.

Major Arthur Foehser announced that the speaker at next week's meeting, in honor of Armed Forces Week, would be Admiral Richard Gregory Ganahl, a 1920 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy. The Admiral, decorated with both the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star, has a distinguished service record, and he will address a joint meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, with a sizable delegation of Rotarians expected.

UAW Plans . . .

voting and census figures show union members made up 37 per cent of the voting population but represented only 26 per cent of the votes cast. Executives and professionals making up 18 per cent of the eligible vote cast 26 per cent of the ballots.

Roy Reuther is heading a $1-million drive by the AFL-CIO's 130 affiliated unions to get many thousands more workers registered and voting in this fall's congressional polling. He said one out of three Americans of voting age fail to exercise their ballots.

The UAW voted overwhelming approval to an all-out political action resolution Tuesday after hearing Kennedy make a major address. The President remarked that after speaking to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and to American Medical Association executives he had begun to wonder how he ever got elected.

"Now I remember," Kennedy said upon hearing the UAW's roaring reception.

Kennedy skipped an opening line in his prepared text saying he was counting on staunch UAW support in coming legislative and political battles. But the President intimated as much in other passages of his speech.

Two Parties Start

would produce enough revenue to meet rising expenditures.

But the Democrats charged that higher taxes would result from what they called the governor's "blind devotion to pay-as-you-go."

Rockefeller said in Jamestown last week that there would be no increase in state taxes in the foreseeable future. He later said this could be interpreted to mean the next four years.

Sen. Joseph Zaretzki and Assembly Anthony J. Travia, the Democratic minority leaders, contended that a Republican victory in November would result in "some new way to get more money out of the hides and pockets of taxpayers."

The Democrats say that continuation of the governor's pay-as-you-go policy—without borrowing through bond issues—will require tax increases.

All 208 seats in the Legislature are at stake in the election Nov. 6. The Republicans have a 33-25 edge in the Senate and control the Assembly, 84-66.

A collection of photographs of "Yesterday and Today" from the files of the Kingston Hospital Alumnae Association is on display this week at the Artcraft Camera Center, 694 Broadway. The pictures include views of the hospital building as it was 60 years ago, as well as the old and new operating rooms, nursery and the nurses' home. Nurses pictured in two World Wars and in student uniforms of yesterday and today illustrate the balance between tradition and change that characterizes the nursing profession itself. Graduation pictures of many of the classes are also in the exhibit, which was arranged for the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Kingston Hospital Alumnae Association. The Artcraft Camera Center is open to the public 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily except Sunday.

Are you still pushing this around?

Are hoods on the way out?

You see more and more trucks without them these days.

Leading makes that used to have them.

Must be some reason for this Volkswagen influence.

Could it be that a truck is easier to park without that 3 foot proboscis?

Or carries more? (It does, you know. A VW carries 1,830 lbs. A half-ton carries only—well, half a ton. 1,000 lbs.)

Or has elbow room for big boxy objects? (170 cubic feet—there's enough room for a baby elephant.)

The VW Truck also started something with its big side doors. No more climbing in back for everything. Even though we have a door there, too.

The VW engine is in the rear. (The weight gives your drive wheels traction in the snow. You hardly ever see a VW stuck.)

The engine's air-cooled. No water to freeze or boil over.

No anti-freeze to buy.

And gas—almost everybody gets over 20 miles a gallon. A few even get 30.

And you're still pushing a hood around.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

One of the numerous war veterans in the Town of Woodstock during post-bellum years was Van Rennselaer Vradenburgh, a farmer. The descendant of early Dutch settlers, he was son of Andrew and Mahala (Shultis) Vradenburgh. He attended the Woodstock School and in 1862 enlisted in the 156th Infantry, a regiment recruited largely in the southern towns of Ulster County, serving until the end of the war. He was with General Banks' 19th Army Corps at New Orleans, Vicksburg and Port Hudson, and with Gen. Phil Sheridan's forces in the heavy fighting of the Shenandoah Valley campaign. He was married to Leah Van Etten at Woodstock and their children were Edward, Sheldon, William G., Elbert and Schaffer Vradenburgh. He served as commissioner of highways and he and his wife were members of the Reformed Church.

Died in Service

Woodstock soldiers who died while serving with the Union Army included the following:

Stephen A. Bonesteel—enlisted Oct. 7, 1861—20th Regiment—died July 17, '64, at Andersonville.

Alonzo Lewis—8/20/'62—120th—2/20/'64, Richmond, Va.

Conrad Ricks—2/2/'62—15th Artillery—9/9/'62, City Point, Va.

Gilbert Myers—8/24/'62—120th—killed July 2, '62, Gettysburg.

David Berkins—10/1/'62—156th—June 1, '63 at Brazier City.

Jacob Clapper — 8/25/'62 — 120th July 16, '65, City Point.

Philip Vandebogart—8/14/'62—120—1/22/'63, Falmouth, Va.

James Mosher—8/25/'62—156th—Oct. 10, '64, Cedar Creek, Va.

Your Old Timer hereby acknowledges with thanks a communication from a member of Ulster County's large family of Civil War fans, Mrs. William (Edith M.) Hendry of Kingston, who furnishes some interesting data re her Union Army relatives. Mrs. Hendry's grandfather, Aaron Hoes, was a member of our 120th Regiment, N. Y. State Volunteers, while three great-uncles, Amos, William and Daniel Treat, fought with the Old Twentieth, or Ulster Guard. Mrs. Hendry further states: "In one of your columns, you mentioned David Treat but I think that name should have been Daniel. David was the youngest brother of the family and although he wanted to enlist he was not sent. After the war my grandfather married Elizabeth Treat, sister of those who took part in the war.

One of the best short-short stories being told around the army camps and passed along to the folks back home was related by a Yankee infantryman as follows: "After a Johnny, concealed somewhere in the bushes at a considerable distance from one end of the breastworks had wounded several Yanks, our gallant colonel hit upon an ingenius, though dangerous experiment for dislodging the trigger-happy Grey-back: 'Boys,' he said, after picking a squad of our best marksmen, 'Look where the smoke comes from and then let him have it quick.' Then getting up out of the rifle pit, the colonel calmly sat down on a nearby stump. Scarcely had he seated himself when the sharpshooter sent a minie ball whizzing past his head and too close for comfort; but ere the Johnny's smoke had cleared a valley of bullets slammed into his hiding place. 'There, boys,' said the colonel, didn't I tell you I could draw his fire! 'Now go in there and bring him out.'

Well, what the 'boys' dragged out was not a pleasant sight. The fellow was reeking with gore, having no less than three holes through him."

(And not a very pretty tale, either, tho' illustrative of the fierceness and tenacity with which young Americans of opposite beliefs 'had at' each other, through those seemingly interminable four years of bitter warfare).

In Lighter Vein

Wartime yarns spun with a bit of humor also were popular amongst our Boys in Blue and the folks they left behind, furnishing a brief 'lift' from the cares and sorrows incident to those long drawn out years of 1861-'65. Like the following:

Humorist Artemus Ward on Enlisting: "Young man, enlist, right off. Air you afraid it will it will spoil your buty? Why, the best & purtiest gals in the country air hereafter a-goin to be korted by fellers on crutches, who hev done great things in battle. You chaps who staid to home in your country's dark hours won't stand no more chance of gettin' one of 'em than old Jeff Davis a-goin to Heaven in a balloon. So, Enlist! In the name of Hamlet's Daddy, 'list, oh 'list!"

A Yankee soldier in the hospital at Resaca, Ga., wrote to his home paper: "I seen my name reported in deaths here. I knew it was a lie as soon as I read it. Hereafter, when you publish my death, write me first and find out if it is so."

An old gentleman in a stagecoach was greatly amused by the constant flow of words between two ladies. Finally, one of them kindly inquired if their conversation did not make his head ache, whereupon he replied, with a great naivete, "No Ma'am, I've been married 38 years."

A Yankee in Tennessee writes that after the Battle of Chicamauga which terminated our successful campaign in that 'half and half state' our boys got up cotillion parties which were attended by both Union and Secesh ladies of the Valley. The Southern girls were very careful lest they offend our fellows; one of them stepped to Wash, the fiddler, and said very politely, "Will you be so kind as to play the Federal Doodle?"

A local man who bought a dozen of those new fangled paper collars, nice and so cheap, was quite disgusted when, on his way to church, a great loafer came along and tore off the whole side of his collar to light his smelly old cigar butt. He very properly thought that was "cutting it too fat."

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Watervliet Arsenal's new Research and Engineering Center was formally dedicated today as the "Benet Laboratories" in honor of Brig. Gen. Stephen Vincent Benet, chief of ordnance, 1874-1891, and his son, Col. James Walker Benet, Arsenal commanding officer from 1919 to 1921. In his dedicatory remarks at the new facility in Building 40, Maj. Gen. H. F. Ithaca College Gets $3 Million for Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ithaca (N.Y.) College has been granted a $3 million loan by the Community Facilities Administration to help finance construction of five residence halls and an infirmary.

The residence halls will accommodate 630 male students at the college's new campus, one and one-half miles from downtown Ithaca. The infirmary would have 20 beds. Five other such residence halls already are under construction.

The loan, announced Tuesday by the administration, also will finance the purchase of food-service equipment for a cafeteria in the college union building.

Daily Fashion Show On Main Street

Night and day. Summer, fall, winter, spring. Every day, every week, every month of every season there's a fashion show on Main Street—produced and directed by your local women's wear retailer.

It's a smart, sophisticated show. A hit show that's got everything: from fresh new styles to the classics.

It takes experience, inherent good taste and a sharp buying eye to produce this year-round fashion show. It takes an ability to sense genuine fashion trends from fads. It even takes a dash of good old-fashioned showmanship. These are some of the qualities that make the women's wear retailer—whether chain, specialty, variety, department store or neighborhood shop—unique. This is why he invariably has just what you want, when you want it, at the price you can afford.

And the retailer, the smart retailer, knows that when he carries garments with the union label in them, he carries the best in American style, craftsmanship and quality.

Main Street isn't quite what it used to be in the novels of Sinclair Lewis. It's grown up now. People with taste and imagination have given it a new sense of verve and style. People like the women's wear retailer who help make the American woman the best dressed woman in the world.

This, then, is a tribute to the retailer from the members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union; the 450,000 men and women who make the clothes he sells; the skilled craftsmen who provide the "cast" for his daily fashion show.

Their signature is the union label you see on the right. It is the signature of 450,000 individuals who, through their union, have achieved fair standards, the dignity of a voice in their own conditions of employment and a position of respect in their communities.

Look for the ILGWU label the next time you shop for women's and girls' clothing. It is your guarantee that the clothing you buy is made by skilled craftsmen in a shop reflecting the best American standards and traditions.

Negro Children Show Better Emotional Course

TORONTO (AP) — American Negro children showed better emotional adjustment than American white children in a recent personality test, a research group reported today.

The conclusions of the study, the researchers said, contradicts previous psychological studies that have pictured the American Negro as suffering from a high degree of emotional distress.

A research team from the Albany Medical College reports its findings in a text prepared for presentation at the 118th annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

The study rated American Negro children first in such things as feelings of adequacy and richness of personality. American white children were rated second and African Negro children third.

White and Negro children in Albany, N.Y., and Negro children in Dahomey, West Africa, participated in the test.

The American white did better than the African Negro on all of test scales, but the researchers said: "Within the limitation of the test and the small samples used, the American Negro children tested show a better emotional adjustment."

The tests involved 109 children in the 6-7 and 13-15 age groups and were evaluated by psychologists working independently of each other. The psychologists reached agreement on ratings 93 per cent of the time.

Dr. Jules S. Golden and Dr. Philip Singer, both of Albany Medical College, and Jean Golden of Slingerlands, N.Y., were the authors of the study.

Chef Reveals His Secret For Tasty Banana Bread

GAYNOR MADDOX

Several readers ask for banana bread recipes. Here are two of the best:

Banana Quick Bread
(Makes 1 loaf)

1/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2¾ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup mashed ripe bananas

Preheat oven to 350 degrees (moderate). Beat shortening until creamy and glossy, or 2 minutes at medium speed on electric mixer. Gradually add sugar, beating until light and fluffy after each addition. Add eggs and beat until thick and pale lemon in color. Sift dry ingredients; add alternately with bananas; blend thoroughly after each addition. Grease bottom only of a loaf pan (approximately 4½x8½x3 inches). Turn batter into pan. Bake 60 to 70 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean and dry. Let bread partially cool in pan (20 to 30 minutes) before turning onto rack.

We asked the chef of the Half Moon Bay Hotel in Montego Bay, British West Indies to give us his delicious secret. You'll be glad we did.

Banana Bread Half-Moon
(Yield: 2 loaves (8¼x4½ inches)

¾ cup (6 ounces) butter
1¼ cups sugar
4 eggs
3½ cups flour, sifted
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups mashed ripe bananas (5 to 6 bananas)

Cream and butter and sugar. Beat in the eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with mashed banana, blending well. Dust two loaf pans with flour and turn half of batter into each. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour or until inserted cake tester can be removed clean and dry.

Allen Luden Is Remaining With Daytime Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Allen Ludden, after two weeks of pondering, came to a painful decision. He will quit "College Bowl" at the end of this season after six years as master-of-ceremonies and stay on with "Password" in its day time and evening versions.

The decision was forced on Ludden when CBS decided to put the evening edition of "Password" into a Sunday spot next season, separated only by a half-hour from "College Bowl." Sponsor of the latter program felt that, even though "College Bowl" was earlier, the two programs, so close together, might prove a little too much Ludden.

Ludden, who was enthusiastic about his long, happy association with the quiz show, said he "finally decided I should go along with a program that had grown from a daytime game show to a prime-time evening show.

"'Password' offers scope, and a challenge," he added. "It has turned me into a fulltime performer. Besides, I'd done the other show for a long time, so it wouldn't prove anything much to me if I did another season of it."

"College Bowl" is busily sorting out applications for Ludden's replacement. Producer John Cleary said that the host doesn't have to be all brain—the difficult questions can be studied in advance, and the big words in the question are spelled phonetically.

Douglas Edwards, who wanted to be released from his CBS contract when the network pulled him out of his evening news show, must feel better about things now. He will be anchorman in a series "news extras" on the network next season—shows which will be CBS' adaptation of NBC's successful series of "instant news specials" anchored by Frank McGee during the past year.

Recommended tonight: Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11 (EDT)—dramatization of the story of a Cuban journalist who fled the Batista regime and returned to Castro and disillusionment.

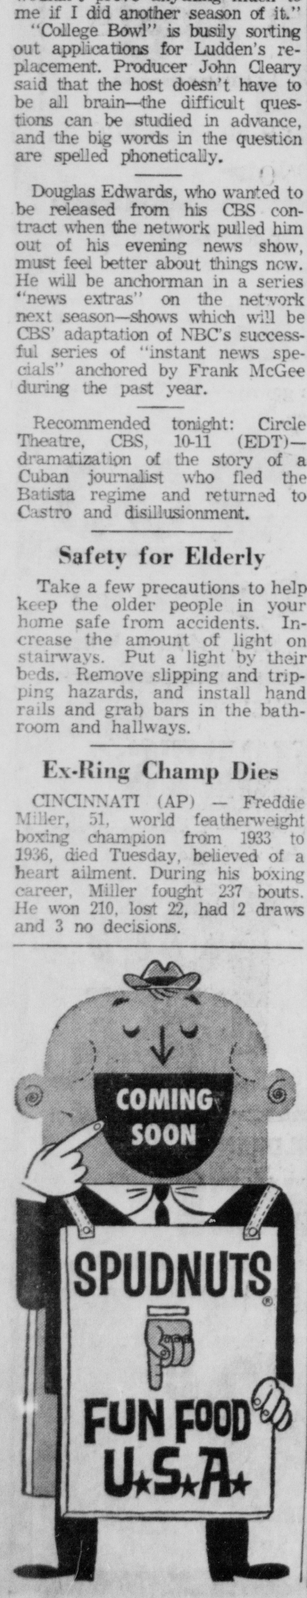
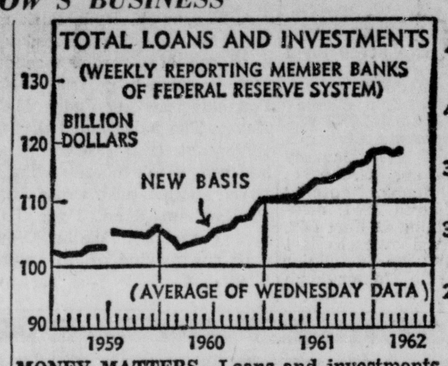
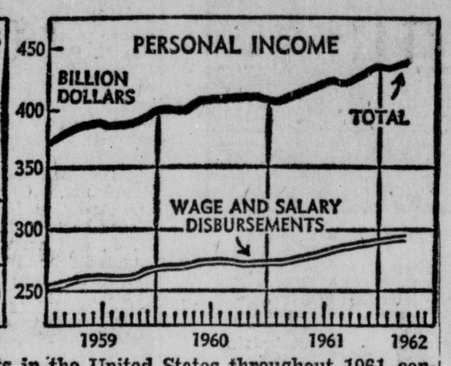
CINCINNATI (AP) — Freddie Miller, 51, world featherweight boxing champion from 1933 to 1936, died Tuesday, believed of a heart ailment. During his boxing career, Miller fought 237 bouts. He won 210, lost 22, had 2 draws and 3 no decisions.

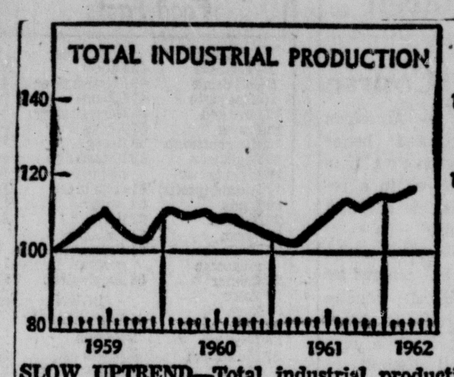


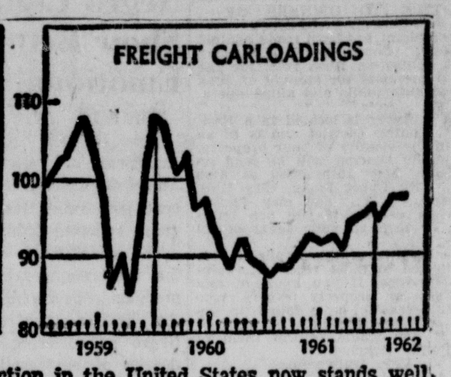
HOW'S BUSINESS





MONEY MATTERS—Loans and investments in the United States throughout 1961 continued their general upward trend of the past few years, providing needed lubricant for the wheels of business. Total personal income in the U.S. reached a new high last year, is now approaching $450 billion. Data for charts is from the U.S. Commerce Dept.





SLOW UPTREND—Total industrial production in the United States now stands well above the level of a year ago, continuing a reversal of the downtrend which began in 1960. On the other hand, freight carloadings, another indicator of industrial activity, have not recovered from the precipitous plunge of 1960. (On charts, 1957 averages = 100.)

Labeled 'Coward' by Rail Head

Mahoney Says Perlman's Remark Typical for Him

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, called a "coward" by the president of the New York Central Railroad, says the remark was "typical of the attitude which has run the ...railroad into the ground."

Central President Alfred J. Perlman told stockholders at the railroad's annual meeting Tuesday that "Mr. Mahoney...ought to get a letter from everyone of you telling him what a coward he is" for not pressing for repeal of the state's full-crew laws.

The laws fix the minimum number of crewmen that must be assigned to trains. The railroads long have complained that the laws encourage feather - bedding and burden them with unnecessary expense.

Perlman said that the Republican-controlled Legislature lacked "intestinal fortitude" on the question and that the lawmakers had bowed to the wishes of labor rather than risk alienating votes.

Mahoney replied to the Perlman attack in a statement in which he declared he was once again "appalled at the ingratitude toward the Republican Legislature on the part of a man whose industry has received such special attention."

Mahoney noted that the Legislature had approved $18 million in annual state and local tax relief to the Central and added:

"I have supported these tax relief measures, not because I want to help Mr. Perlman line his pockets, but rather because I do not want to see the general state economy weakened and because I want to protect the jobs of railroad workers."

He said that, for the same reasons, he and a large majority of Republican senators and assemblymen "opposed any tampering with the full-crew laws."

"What Mr. Perlman has done today is once again proof that there are innumerably better ways to run a railroad," Mahoney said.

Gov. Rockefeller said on one occasion that he favored repeal of the full-crew laws, but he submitted no formal recommendation to the Legislature.

Later, he said he was seeking a compromise that would be acceptable both to labor and the railroads. However, no such agreement ever was reached during negotiations on the laws.

He did not raise the issue during the recently ended 1962 legislative session.

Perlman had told the stockholders that Rockefeller had recommended repeal of the laws.

Primary Vote Results in Five States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida and Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, won decisive primary election victories Tuesday in their bids for Congress.

Two other Florida candidates, Sen. George Smathers and Rep. Dante Fascell, also won Democratic renomination. Like Pepper, who was a staunch New Deal supporter in the '30s and '40s, they had strongly endorsed President Kennedy's program and had received the President's blessing.

Results of the voting in five states included:

OHIO—Sen. Frank J. Lausche and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle won Democratic renomination. A man named Kennedy—real estate man Richard D. Kennedy—led a field of 11 Democratic candidates to see who will oppose Taft in the November race for congressman-at-large.

INDIANA — All 11 incumbent congressmen were renominated.

WEST VIRGINIA—All six incumbent congressmen were renominated.

NEW MEXICO—Two Democratic state legislators were locked in a battle for the right to oppose Republican Gov. Edwin Mechem's bid for a fifth term; two Democratic congressmen renominated.

The Florida primary drew the most interest.

Sen. Smathers had little trouble in disposing of Roger L. Davis of Fort Lauderdale and Douglas R. Voorhees of Miami in his bid for a third term.

Fascell had a hard campaign with conservative State Sen. David Eldredge but came out on top. The Miami congressman has been Kennedy's most consistent supporter among the Florida delegation.

Pepper, whom Smathers unseated in the 1950 Democratic primary, made his comeback in the 3rd District. He campaigned hard for the President's program to finance medical care for the aged through Social Security.

The issue appeared to have drawn a mixed reaction in two other Democratic congressional primaries in Florida, a state gaining four new congressmen because of population gains.

One supporter of the Kennedy medical care program, chiropractor John A. Marcello, was defeated by Rep. D. R. Matthews, bidding for his sixth term in Congress.

Another Kennedy supporter, State Rep. L. B. Vocelle, made it into a runoff election with former State Sen. John A. Sutton in the 11th District.

In Ohio Lausche and Taft ran away from their opponents but DiSalle had stubborn opposition from Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy before winning the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. DiSalle had said at first he wouldn't seek a second term as governor, then changed his mind.

N-M System Approved

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. received permission from the Public Service Commission today to construct a $1.4 million gas-distribution system in Jefferson County.

The system immediately will serve 1,200 customers in the villages of Black River, Carthage, Deferiet, Herrings, and West Carthage, and parts of the towns of Champion, LeRay, Rutland, and Wilna.

The utility said it expected the new system would be serving nearly 2,000 customers by the end of 1966.

Power Mower Use, Gardening Are Health Subjects

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Words of caution for power mower operators and gardeners are subjects with a focus on health.

Beware Power Mowers

There are perhaps some 20 million power lawn mowers in use in the United States—and now with summer and grass cutting season here, power mower owners should beware.

So warn Drs. Erick M. Chazen and John L. Chamberlain III of Vanderbilt University.

They cite cases where power mowers, usually rotary types, catch objects in the lawn and fling them outwards, sometimes hitting bystanders, or sometimes the operator of the mower.

There is a local ordinance in Louisville, Ky., making it illegal to employ anyone under the age of 18 to operate a power mower, and similar laws have been proposed in New York, New Jersey and California, the doctors say.

The cause of accidents is sometimes poorly designed mowers, sometimes carelessness by the operators. Removing debris from the lawn before mowing can often prevent accidents.

Lawn Sport

Many kind words have been written about the cool green lawns, the pleasant gardens. But the American Medical Association warns that while it is good exercise to garden, there are also hazards.

In the first place, go at it gradually. Give yourself a chance to get used to strenuous activity after sitting around all winter, if you have been.

Since tetanus germs grow in the soil, especially where barnyard fertilizer is used or farm animals exist, it's wise to get a tetanus shot as a hedge against lockjaw.

Use weed killers and bug killers carefully. Many also kill people. Be sure they are capped tightly and put out of the reach of children.

If you are extra sensitive to insect bites, see your doctor about getting some protective shots that will make you less sensitive.

PSC Approves Sale

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission authorized Vernon Telephone Co. today to sell a total of $135,000 in securities.

The company, with headquarters in Vernon, Oneida County, will use the income to retire outstanding indebtedness and to finance additional expansion.

Perfect Exam Mark

A mark of 100 per cent was received by Mrs. Hilda C. Slavic, of 206 South Cherry Street, Poughkeepsie, in a recent promotion examination for deputy registrar of vital statistics at Poughkeepsie, according to William F. Moehrke, executive secretary of the Dutchess County Civil Service Commission.

Two Dutchess Men Plead Innocent to Attack on Woman

Two Dutchess County men on Tuesday pleaded innocent to charges of first degree rape before Town of Hyde Park Justice of the Peace Hulet A. Silvernale and were ordered held in $5,000 bail each for hearing on Thursday, May 17.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Walter A. Webb, 22, Pleasant Plains Road, Staatsburg, and Gary P. Wilcha, 21, a Hyde Park laborer, were arrested early yesterday and accused of attacking a 42-year-old housewife, whose name was withheld by authorities.

Couldn't Raise Bail

Judge Silvernale told The Freeman the defendants were committed to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of bail.

Quinlan said Webb, stationed with the U. S. Air Force at Griffith Air Force Base, Rome, was home on a three-day pass. The sheriff said the woman, identified only as a Town of Poughkeepsie woman, was treated at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

The sheriff stated the woman was waiting for a taxicab in Washington Street, Poughkeepsie, before midnight Monday when two men stopped in a car and offered her a ride home. The woman, Quinlan said, got in the car and the men took her to a secluded spot near Circle Drive, Hyde Park, where she allegedly was attacked.

After the men let the woman out of the car, she hurried to a nearby home and asked the occupants to call the sheriff's office. A description of the vehicle was given investigators from the sheriff's office, and the car was spotted parked near a Hyde Park diner.

Identified by Woman

When the two suspects left the diner they were taken to the sheriff's office for questioning by Sergeant John Dakin and Deputy Charles Borchers of the sheriff's department.

Quinlan said the woman in the case identified Webb and Wilcha as her attackers.

Perlman said that the Republican-controlled Legislature lacked "intestinal fortitude" on the question and that the lawmakers had bowed to the wishes of labor rather than risk alienating votes.

Mahoney replied to the Perlman attack in a statement in which he declared he was once again "appalled at the ingratitude toward the Republican Legislature on the part of a man whose industry has received such special attention."

Mahoney noted that the Legislature had approved $18 million in annual state and local tax relief to the Central and added:

"I have supported these tax relief measures, not because I want to help Mr. Perlman line his pockets, but rather because I do not want to see the general state economy weakened and because I want to protect the jobs of railroad workers."

He said that, for the same reasons, he and a large majority of Republican senators and assemblymen "opposed any tampering with the full-crew laws."

"What Mr. Perlman has done today is once again proof that there are innumerably better ways to run a railroad," Mahoney said.

Gov. Rockefeller said on one occasion that he favored repeal of the full-crew laws, but he submitted no formal recommendation to the Legislature.

Later, he said he was seeking a compromise that would be acceptable both to labor and the railroads. However, no such agreement ever was reached during negotiations on the laws.

He did not raise the issue during the recently ended 1962 legislative session.

Perlman had told the stockholders that Rockefeller had recommended repeal of the laws.

Primary Vote Results in Five States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida and Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, won decisive primary election victories Tuesday in their bids for Congress.

Two other Florida candidates, Sen. George Smathers and Rep. Dante Fascell, also won Democratic renomination. Like Pepper, who was a staunch New Deal supporter in the '30s and '40s, they had strongly endorsed President Kennedy's program and had received the President's blessing.

Results of the voting in five states included:

OHIO—Sen. Frank J. Lausche and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle won Democratic renomination. A man named Kennedy—real estate man Richard D. Kennedy—led a field of 11 Democratic candidates to see who will oppose Taft in the November race for congressman-at-large.

INDIANA — All 11 incumbent congressmen were renominated.

WEST VIRGINIA—All six incumbent congressmen were renominated.

NEW MEXICO—Two Democratic state legislators were locked in a battle for the right to oppose Republican Gov. Edwin Mechem's bid for a fifth term; two Democratic congressmen renominated.

The Florida primary drew the most interest.

Sen. Smathers had little trouble in disposing of Roger L. Davis of Fort Lauderdale and Douglas R. Voorhees of Miami in his bid for a third term.

Fascell had a hard campaign with conservative State Sen. David Eldredge but came out on top. The Miami congressman has been Kennedy's most consistent supporter among the Florida delegation.

Pepper, whom Smathers unseated in the 1950 Democratic primary, made his comeback in the 3rd District. He campaigned hard for the President's program to finance medical care for the aged through Social Security.

The issue appeared to have drawn a mixed reaction in two other Democratic congressional primaries in Florida, a state gaining four new congressmen because of population gains.

One supporter of the Kennedy medical care program, chiropractor John A. Marcello, was defeated by Rep. D. R. Matthews, bidding for his sixth term in Congress.

Another Kennedy supporter, State Rep. L. B. Vocelle, made it into a runoff election with former State Sen. John A. Sutton in the 11th District.

In Ohio Lausche and Taft ran away from their opponents but DiSalle had stubborn opposition from Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy before winning the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. DiSalle had said at first he wouldn't seek a second term as governor, then changed his mind.

N-M System Approved

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. received permission from the Public Service Commission today to construct a $1.4 million gas-distribution system in Jefferson County.

The system immediately will serve 1,200 customers in the villages of Black River, Carthage, Deferiet, Herrings, and West Carthage, and parts of the towns of Champion, LeRay, Rutland, and Wilna.

The utility said it expected the new system would be serving nearly 2,000 customers by the end of 1966.

Power Mower Use, Gardening Are Health Subjects

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Words of caution for power mower operators and gardeners are subjects with a focus on health.

Beware Power Mowers

There are perhaps some 20 million power lawn mowers in use in the United States—and now with summer and grass cutting season here, power mower owners should beware.

So warn Drs. Erick M. Chazen and John L. Chamberlain III of Vanderbilt University.

They cite cases where power mowers, usually rotary types, catch objects in the lawn and fling them outwards, sometimes hitting bystanders, or sometimes the operator of the mower.

There is a local ordinance in Louisville, Ky., making it illegal to employ anyone under the age of 18 to operate a power mower, and similar laws have been proposed in New York, New Jersey and California, the doctors say.

The cause of accidents is sometimes poorly designed mowers, sometimes carelessness by the operators. Removing debris from the lawn before mowing can often prevent accidents.

Lawn Sport

Many kind words have been written about the cool green lawns, the pleasant gardens. But the American Medical Association warns that while it is good exercise to garden, there are also hazards.

In the first place, go at it gradually. Give yourself a chance to get used to strenuous activity after sitting around all winter, if you have been.

Since tetanus germs grow in the soil, especially where barnyard fertilizer is used or farm animals exist, it's wise to get a tetanus shot as a hedge against lockjaw.

Use weed killers and bug killers carefully. Many also kill people. Be sure they are capped tightly and put out of the reach of children.

If you are extra sensitive to insect bites, see your doctor about getting some protective shots that will make you less sensitive.

PSC Approves Sale

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission authorized Vernon Telephone Co. today to sell a total of $135,000 in securities.

The company, with headquarters in Vernon, Oneida County, will use the income to retire outstanding indebtedness and to finance additional expansion.

Perfect Exam Mark

A mark of 100 per cent was received by Mrs. Hilda C. Slavic, of 206 South Cherry Street, Poughkeepsie, in a recent promotion examination for deputy registrar of vital statistics at Poughkeepsie, according to William F. Moehrke, executive secretary of the Dutchess County Civil Service Commission.

Two Dutchess Men Plead Innocent to Attack on Woman

Two Dutchess County men on Tuesday pleaded innocent to charges of first degree rape before Town of Hyde Park Justice of the Peace Hulet A. Silvernale and were ordered held in $5,000 bail each for hearing on Thursday, May 17.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Walter A. Webb, 22, Pleasant Plains Road, Staatsburg, and Gary P. Wilcha, 21, a Hyde Park laborer, were arrested early yesterday and accused of attacking a 42-year-old housewife, whose name was withheld by authorities.

Couldn't Raise Bail

Judge Silvernale told The Freeman the defendants were committed to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of bail.

Quinlan said Webb, stationed with the U. S. Air Force at Griffith Air Force Base, Rome, was home on a three-day pass. The sheriff said the woman, identified only as a Town of Poughkeepsie woman, was treated at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

The sheriff stated the woman was waiting for a taxicab in Washington Street, Poughkeepsie, before midnight Monday when two men stopped in a car and offered her a ride home. The woman, Quinlan said, got in the car and the men took her to a secluded spot near Circle Drive, Hyde Park, where she allegedly was attacked.

After the men let the woman out of the car, she hurried to a nearby home and asked the occupants to call the sheriff's office. A description of the vehicle was given investigators from the sheriff's office, and the car was spotted parked near a Hyde Park diner.

Identified by Woman

When the two suspects left the diner they were taken to the sheriff's office for questioning by Sergeant John Dakin and Deputy Charles Borchers of the sheriff's department.

Quinlan said the woman in the case identified Webb and Wilcha as her attackers.

Bishop Donegan to Hold Confirmation on May 23

Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York will visit St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, on Wednesday, May 23, 8 o'clock, to administer the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation to a group of adults and children.

This event will mark the Bishop's first visit to St. Gregory's since April 8, 1951, when the church was a tiny chapel on the estate of the late Frederica L. Milne. A previously scheduled visit by the Bishop several years ago was canceled because of illness in his family.

A visit by a bishop is always an important event, but because of the distance in time and the great expansion of the tiny chapel with a capacity of thirty-five persons to the present church and parish house, the visit is especially joyous.

Rev. Lloyd H. Uyeki, vicar of St. Gregory's, extends a cordial invitation to parishioners and friends of the church to be present. There will be an informal reception following the service, under the direction of the Altar Guild.

To the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, rector of Church of the Ascension, West Park, whose indefatigable enthusiasm and efforts did much to sustain the growth of the little chapel, to the small group of inspired parishioners, who, with the cooperation from the Diocese, are responsible for the present impressive edifice, the following from an article in The Kingston Daily Freeman, April 4, 1951, announcing the first visit by Bishop Donegan may stir nostalgic memories:

"The tiny chapel, the exterior painted a soft barn-red, contains six natural pine wood pews, constructed and carved by Richard Eschmann, who also devised the simple but effective altar rail and altar, adorned with two apple-wood crosses. All of the pews have been donated by members of the congregation in memory of some individual, indicated by small copper plates made and given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crane.

"All of the equipment in the chapel has been donated, including the lectern, hand-woven altar cloths and kneeling cushions, with various lamps in keeping with the simplicity of the chapel. The woven pieces were made by Mrs. Bessie Stowall, Mrs. Esther Sluzier and Mrs. Frederick L. Milne.

"A small but interesting feature in the chapel is the tiny mite box on an aged and beautifully finished board rising to a point at the top. An impressive and exquisitely bound Bible was presented to the church by Mrs. Alton B. Parker of New York.

"Music for the chapel services is by Woodstock's eminent concert pianist, Inez Carroll Richards."

Many of the original members now attend the modern church with its ample and comfortable seating space for all, and the many friends of the early days remain loyal and frequent visitors.

Good Music Until String Pops

Allies Make Like Damaged Banjo

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allies, like a banjo, make good music until a string pops. The United States, trying to make music with its allies, is having trouble with the strings.

Because so many allied nations follow toward the United States a policy laid down by one man, this country can only hope a change in men won't mean a change in policy.

Likely to Patch It Over

In West Germany Chancellor Adenauer, very pro-Western and a firm ally, has just gone out of his way to belittle this country's efforts to reach a Berlin settlement with the Russians.

The State Department fired back with a public suggestion: Let Adenauer come up with a better idea, if he has one. He was told this country will continue its Berlin talks with Russia.

Diplomats seem to think this spat will be patched over although there has been American-German fussing for weeks.

The days are growing shorter for the 86-year-old Adenauer. The United States can only hope—it can't be sure—that when he goes his successor will want to keep Germany tied as closely to its allies as he has.

France has been a long-time ally, too, but by the time President de Gaulle took over four years ago it had begun to look like organized chaos. De Gaulle, like Adenauer, is a pillar of the Western alliance.

Interlude in Tumult

But he can be a sticky one. Like Adenauer, he holds his nose over American dealings with Russia on Berlin. Months of talks with the Soviets haven't achieved a settlement but at least some of the heat has died down.

There's no predicting what happens after De Gaulle, judging from the instability of the French governments which preceded him. History may show he was just a brief interlude in tumult.

Britain looks like one ally which figures to stand solidly with the United States, no matter who succeeds Prime Minister Macmillan. But the next prime minister, for reasons personal or due to changing times, may be more difficult.

Yet the American problems with the Western allies, painful as they are at times and disastrous as they could become, are less acute than the dilemmas at the opposite end of U.S. efforts to draw a line against communism.

Laos Wrong Place

This country has had its hands full with the pro-Western but right-wing government of conservative Prince Boun Oum in Laos in Southeast Asia.

The Kennedy administration could have thrown American forces into Laos to keep the Communists from overrunning the place. But it felt this was the wrong place to risk a war.

To keep Laos from being taken over completely by communism, the administration agreed to a coalition government made up of conservatives, neutralists and leftists. This in the end could lead to a Red take-over anyway.

But the prince wouldn't go along and so far this government hasn't been able to persuade him to, even though as a nudge it has given $3 million monthly in economic aid to his government.

In the past few days the Communists began a new offensive.

Right next door in Viet Nam the United States is steadily getting more involved militarily — just hoping it won't lead to war—in trying to save the pro-Western regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Distasteful as he has been to many Vietnamese — and ineffective as he was in holding back the Communists until the United States pumped in big military supplies and men to help—he has kept a semblance of a government together.

If he goes, internal struggles may turn Viet Nam into a shambles.

Even in a neutral country like India the relationship between it and the United States has been guided almost entirely by one man and, as may show when he's gone, depended upon him.

The neutral but Western-educated Prime Minister Nehru has been friendly to the West and not pro-Communist. But India, with the world's second largest population, has explosive forces bottled up under Nehru.

After him an explosion, shattering to the West, would be no surprise. Thus all around the world American strings are attached to one man here, another there. When these strings pop, there may be no replacements.

Dutchess Studies Sewers

A joint sewer district for a section of the Town of Hyde Park and the Fairview district of the Town of Poughkeepsie is under study by officials of both communities. Hyde Park officials plan to ask residents of the area of the township from the Poughkeepsie city line north to West Dorsey Lane, including the Greenbush Park area of Hyde Park if they would be interested in joining the Fairview district. A Hyde Park official spokesman said residents of that community might join Fairview in a joint district and build a sewage disposal plant if it is determined that the city of Poughkeepsie's sewage system is unable to handle the addition of new districts.

Good Music Until String Pops

Allies Make Like Damaged Banjo

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allies, like a banjo, make good music until a string pops. The United States, trying to make music with its allies, is having trouble with the strings.

Because so many allied nations follow toward the United States a policy laid down by one man, this country can only hope a change in men won't mean a change in policy.

Likely to Patch It Over

In West Germany Chancellor Adenauer, very pro-Western and a firm ally, has just gone out of his way to belittle this country's efforts to reach a Berlin settlement with the Russians.

The State Department fired back with a public suggestion: Let Adenauer come up with a better idea, if he has one. He was told this country will continue its Berlin talks with Russia.

Diplomats seem to think this spat will be patched over although there has been American-German fussing for weeks.

The days are growing shorter for the 86-year-old Adenauer. The United States can only hope—it can't be sure—that when he goes his successor will want to keep Germany tied as closely to its allies as he has.

France has been a long-time ally, too, but by the time President de Gaulle took over four years ago it had begun to look like organized chaos. De Gaulle, like Adenauer, is a pillar of the Western alliance.

Interlude in Tumult

But he can be a sticky one. Like Adenauer, he holds his nose over American dealings with Russia on Berlin. Months of talks with the Soviets haven't achieved a settlement but at least some of the heat has died down.

There's no predicting what happens after De Gaulle, judging from the instability of the French governments which preceded him. History may show he was just a brief interlude in tumult.

Britain looks like one ally which figures to stand solidly with the United States, no matter who succeeds Prime Minister Macmillan. But the next prime minister, for reasons personal or due to changing times, may be more difficult.

Yet the American problems with the Western allies, painful as they are at times and disastrous as they could become, are less acute than the dilemmas at the opposite end of U.S. efforts to draw a line against communism.

Laos Wrong Place

This country has had its hands full with the pro-Western but right-wing government of conservative Prince Boun Oum in Laos in Southeast Asia.

The Kennedy administration could have thrown American forces into Laos to keep the Communists from overrunning the place. But it felt this was the wrong place to risk a war.

To keep Laos from being taken over completely by communism, the administration agreed to a coalition government made up of conservatives, neutralists and leftists. This in the end could lead to a Red take-over anyway.

But the prince wouldn't go along and so far this government hasn't been able to persuade him to, even though as a nudge it has given $3 million monthly in economic aid to his government.

In the past few days the Communists began a new offensive.

Right next door in Viet Nam the United States is steadily getting more involved militarily — just hoping it won't lead to war—in trying to save the pro-Western regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Distasteful as he has been to many Vietnamese — and ineffective as he was in holding back the Communists until the United States pumped in big military supplies and men to help—he has kept a semblance of a government together.

If he goes, internal struggles may turn Viet Nam into a shambles.

Temple Emanuel Jewish Music Festival Friday to Feature Isadore Freed Works

A special Jewish Music Festival will be held Friday 7:45 p. m. at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue.

The theme of this year's festival is The Life and Work of Isadore Freed, as established by the National Jewish Music Council in recognition of the creative work of the late Dr. Freed as a composer and teacher. Dr. Freed was a leader of the renaissance of Jewish music in the United States. In addition to liturgical music, he also composed symphonies, operas and chamber music. At the time of his death in 1960, he was a member of the faculty of the Hebrew Union College—Jewish Institute of Religion in New York, and organist and choir director of Temple Israel, Lawrence, L. I.

Cantor Julian C. Lohre of Temple Emanuel, director of the festival, received his cantorial education at the HUC-JIR School of Sacred Music and Education, and was a pupil of Dr. Freed, both at the college and in private organ instruction. Cantor Lohre studied voice with Alexander Kipnis of the Metropolitan Opera and with Mme. Ruth Kisch-Arndt at the New York College of Music. He has been with Temple Emanuel for the past nine years as its music director and principal of the Temple Emanuel Religious School.

Playing for the service will be the temple organist, Mrs. Clarence Beehler Jr. Mrs. Beehler studied organ with Mrs. Raymond Rignall of Kingston, Frederick Mayer of West Point and Theodore Keller of Westminster Choir College. The dean of the Hudson Valley Chapter, American Guild of Organists, Mrs. Beehler is also organist at Trinity Lutheran Church, Kingston.

The choir will include Mrs. Bernard Pauker, soprano; Miss Ruby Markson, alto; Raymond Myers, tenor; Michael Kaye, tenor; and LeRoy Davis, baritone.

After the service, at the Oneg Shabat, or coffee hour, a recital of secular music by Isador Freed will be presented by Cantor Lohre, Leonard Zimet, oboist, accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Zimet, pianist. Mr. Zimet is a graduate of Indiana University and Butler University and is presently teaching at the Kingston High School and at Temple Emanuel Religious School. He has appeared as oboe soloist with several symphonies, and in 1953 was oboe soloist for the Queen Mother of England. Barbara Zimet is also a graduate of Indiana University and studied piano with Ernst Hoffzimmer and Adolf Weiser. She has done considerable recital work, and is presently teaching music in the Temple Emanuel Religious School.

The public may join with the congregation for this special musical evening.

Folklore Society Is Organized in Ulster; Seeks to Preserve Songs, Dances, Stories

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Sam Eskin, nationally known collector of folk songs and folklore feels that today's complex society and educational advances have been partially responsible for pushing known facts about old customs, arts, crafts, legends, songs and dances into the background.

In a personal interview, Mr. Eskin said: "When people become educated, they tend to reject the backgrounds from which they came — some surprisingly enough, are even ashamed of it. This is one of the reasons it is so difficult to trace traditional customs, beliefs, tales and songs. Despite the outstanding work being done by historical groups, many of us feel Ulster County and the surrounding areas can yield a buried treasure of facts. It is for this reason we have formed the Ulster County Folklore Society."

Mr. Eskin went on to state that an area which can boast a heritage stemming from the Indians, Dutch, English, French, Irish, Italians and many other groups, is certainly rich in historic facts.

"We want to seek out and preserve the characteristic forms of these groups—learn about their arts, crafts, traditions, superstitions and legends which have been unchanged from generation to generation.

"We are not seeking only the professionals, but the amateurs. I'm sure there must be many in the county who can boast of an old family recipe, a cure for warts, a folk dance or song. Our newly formed organization wishes to reach out to these people—to let them know that what they have and know about their cultural backgrounds is what we want to know. We appreciate knowledge of this type and want to preserve it for posterity."

Meeting in Woodstock

The first meeting of the Ulster County Folklore Society was held in Sam Eskin's house in Woodstock. More than 30 interested people attended and some 20 immediately took out membership in the group.

Temporary officers include Mr. Eskin as president; Joseph L. Deutsch, treasurer; and Mona Fletcher, secretary. The Society is a non-profit organization. While greater emphasis will be placed upon folk music and dance, its search will also include folklore. The Society will also strive to interest as many citizens of the area as possible to observe, inquire and report such folklore of which they may already have knowledge.

Builds Understanding

The collection of facts not only provides a clearer picture of our culturally rich community, Mr. Eskin stated, it also provides for better understanding among the varied folk of Ulster County.

Another goal for the Ulster County Folklore Society will be the sponsorship of an annual folk festival which might include folksinging and music, folkdancing, exhibition of crafts and musical instruments — everything of interest to the public.

The president of the society has devoted a lifetime to this comparative science which investigates the life and spirit of a people, or of peoples, as revealed in customs and music. His searching has taken him to all parts of the world. In his Woodstock home, a converted sheep barn, he has one of the most complete collections of folksongs and folklore. His comfortable home not only includes a recording studio but countless collectors' items.

At the time of this interview, Mr. Eskin was hard at work on a series of educational TV programs which he will do out on the west coast.

Noted Lecturer

Tape recordings of the many songs and facts uncovered by Mr. Eskin can be found in the Institute of Anthropology of Mexico and the Library of Congress. His recordings of Mexican Indians in particular are probably the finest in the country.

A noted lecturer, Mr. Eskin has many albums of records to his credit, has written numerous articles for folklore magazines and is compiling a book of folksongs. His most recent appearance was made before the New England Folklore Society on May 4, 5 and 6 when that group sponsored a folklore weekend. He has also lectured at Columbia University and other colleges tthroughout the country.

Members of the society include: Barbara Moncure, Harvey Fite, A. E. Solomon, Sonia Malkine, Nancy Hasey, Estelle Kattleson, Sy Kattleson, Mathilde Manuel, Joseph Deutsch, Bill Hoffman, Billy Faier, Florine Solomon, Kirk Stiles, Jeanne Van de Bogart, Aaron Van de Bogart, Frank Fletcher, Mona Fletcher, Mona Fletcher, Barbara and Carl Cordoni.

Detailed information about membership may be obtained from Mr. Eskin.

ADDING HIS VERBAL THANKS

Q: My husband and I were married very quietly in another town three weeks ago. One evening last week I went alone to visit my sister and her husband and while I was there my sister handed me a check and said it was a wedding present from her and her husband. I thanked them both for it and a few days later wrote a very nice thank-you note in which I included my husband's thanks. Last evening my husband and I went to pay them a visit and my husband never said anything about the check and my sister was very much put out with him for not doing so. She thinks he was very lacking in appreciation. It seems to me that including his thanks in the note was sufficient. Will you please tell me if he was wrong not to thank them personally?

A: Even though you did include his thanks in your note, it would have been courteous, when he saw them, to thank them for the generous present that they gave you both.

Inviting A College Friend Home

Q: I would like to ask one of my best friends here at college to go home with me for a long weekend. Does this mean that I am obligated to pay her train fare?

A: Tell her when you invite her that you expect to pay her train fare, and do so—unless she insists on paying her own. If, on the other hand, you cannot afford to pay her fare, tell her how much it will be so that she can decide if she can afford to accept your invitation.

Hospitality to Unexpected Visitors

Q: When friends drop in unexpectedly in the evening to pay us a visit, is it necessary to offer them refreshments of some sort? My husband thinks it is very inhospitable not to give them something, but I think it is neither necessary nor expected. What is your opinion?

A: While not necessary, it is certainly kind and more hospitable to offer them something even if only a cold drink.

Holyoke Club Plans Spring Luncheon

The spring meeting of the Hudson Valley Mount Holyoke Club will be held Saturday, May 12, at the Beau Rivage on the river road north of Newburgh. There will be a luncheon beginning at 12:30. The annual business meeting will be conducted after lunch and committee reports will be given.

In lieu of a planned program, the meeting will be followed by a social hour, giving Mount Holyoke alumnae a better opportunity to become acquainted or to renew old friendships. Such an occasion seems particularly appropriate since the Hudson Valley Club extends its membership to alumnae and former students now living in an area from Hudson to Millerton and Brewster and from Catskill to West Point and Port Jervis.

Within these boundaries, invitations to the luncheon have been sent to more than 110 Mount Holyoke women as listed in the 1961 Directory. If by chance someone, who has recently moved into this area, has not been contacted, they may get in touch with the club president, Mrs. Thomas L. Partlan, 254 Delaware Avenue, Kingston.

Little Gardens Club

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston will meet Friday at the home of Mrs. Iven S. Freer, Glasco Turnpike at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. F. Potter is co-hostess.

Mrs. Joseph Kraniak, speaker for the afternoon, will read a monologue, "Marital Showdown," taken from the booklet titled "New Program Patterns." It is published by the National Council Books for the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs Inc., and edited by Fay Mayes.

The theme for the afternoon will be based on such problems as proper grouping of plants, how insects are repelled by certain plants, and general gardening tips.

ADDING HIS VERBAL THANKS

Q: My husband and I were married very quietly in another town three weeks ago. One evening last week I went alone to visit my sister and her husband and while I was there my sister handed me a check and said it was a wedding present from her and her husband. I thanked them both for it and a few days later wrote a very nice thank-you note in which I included my husband's thanks. Last evening my husband and I went to pay them a visit and my husband never said anything about the check and my sister was very much put out with him for not doing so. She thinks he was very lacking in appreciation. It seems to me that including his thanks in the note was sufficient. Will you please tell me if he was wrong not to thank them personally?

A: Even though you did include his thanks in your note, it would have been courteous, when he saw them, to thank them for the generous present that they gave you both.

Inviting A College Friend Home

Q: I would like to ask one of my best friends here at college to go home with me for a long weekend. Does this mean that I am obligated to pay her train fare?

A: Tell her when you invite her that you expect to pay her train fare, and do so—unless she insists on paying her own. If, on the other hand, you cannot afford to pay her fare, tell her how much it will be so that she can decide if she can afford to accept your invitation.

New Board Members For Local YWCA; 100 Attend Meeting

The 38th annual meeting of the Kingston YWCA was held at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Saturday, May 5. It was held after a luncheon served by the Women's Guild for Christian Service with Mrs. Charles P. Emerick and Mrs. Dayton Garlick co-chairmen.

Following the call to order by the president, Miss Marcia Clark, the devotions chairman Miss Evelyn Thomas read a brief meditation. The minutes of the 1961 annual meeting were read by Mrs. Helen Anderson Wood.

Miss Clark then introduced the YWCA staff which includes Mrs. Eleanor Booth, executive director, Mrs. Mary D. Short, program director for teenage and health education; Mrs. Fred R. Port, assistant program director; Miss Matilda Martin, office secretary; Mrs. Elga Curtis, assistant office secretary and Mrs. Codboy, assistant receptionist.

The Tellers report was given by Miss Frances Osterhoudt.

New members elected by ballot to serve a three-year term to the board of directors are Mrs. Raymond Craft, Miss Dorothy DuMond, Mrs. John W. Hill, Mrs. G. Allan Kent, Mrs. Henry Millonig, Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Miss Evelyn Thomas and Mrs. Ward Tongue.

Elected to serve a one-year term on the nominating committee are Miss Jean Harvey, Mrs. Bernard Trowbridge, and Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, from the board; and Mrs. R. R. Empringham, Mrs. Helen Gill, Miss Louise Merikle and Mrs. Molly Winne, from the membership.

Five members of the present board who are retiring from office were recognized and presented with corsages. Those honored were the president, Miss Clark, Mrs. Henry F. Miss Clark extended thanks to all the members who had participated in the work of the association during the year and without whose help the various projects undertaken could not have succeeded.

Included in the nearly 100 people in attendance at the meeting were board members, representatives from all of the teenage and adult clubs of the association, husbands of members, and representatives of various organizations in the city.

Featuring color slides of local programs, club members and familiar scenes, Mrs. Jousan has written a narrative story of how a "nobody" becomes a "somebody" as a result of participating in various phases of YWCA program. The story is recorded with the part of the narrator taken by Mr. Jousan while other members of the YWCA speak at appropriate points in the story. All of this was artfully combined with background music appropriate to the scenes depicted. The program met with enthusiastic response on the part of the audience. It is anticipated that it will be made available to all groups throughout the area.

The meeting adjourned with the Reaffirmation of the Purpose, led by Mrs. Booth.

Donovan, Tasby Pace Tribe; San Francisco Keeps Winning

Combine Talents For 6-3 Triumph Over Minnesota

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland General Manager Gabe Paul, a wheeling and dealing type in the Frank Lane manner but a little slower and surer before he pulls the trigger, has come up with a pair of key additions to the Indians in pitcher Dick Donovan and outfielder Willie Tasby.

The often peddled players, both acquired from Washington, carried the Indians to a 6-3 triumph over Minnesota Tuesday night that pulled second-place Cleveland to within one game of the American League leading New York Yankees.

Quite a Trade

Paul, who previously pulled the strings in Cincinnati, got Donovan in the trade that sent Jim Piersall to Washington and raised a howl from Cleveland fans. He picked up Tasby for two lesser lights in a deal that raised not an eyebrow.

But Tasby raised a couple against the Twins. The 29-year-old righty swinger who hit .251 last season, made his first start for the Indians and responded with a 2-for-5 performance, knocking in three runs, including what proved to be the clincher in a two-run seventh inning.

Donovan aided his own cause with a bases-loaded single that accounted for one run before Tasby stroked his hit for the decisive run.

Tasby's clincher provided Donovan with his fifth victory without a loss. The 34-year-old right-hander, who led the AL with a 2.40 earned run average while posting a 10-10 record last season, is the first hurler in the league to win five.

Al Kaline drove in four runs with his eighth homer, a triple and a single, leading Detroit to a 10-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels in the only other game played. Boston-New York, Kansas City-Baltimore, Chicago-Washington were postponed due to rain.

Donovan had a 6-1 lead going into the ninth when the Twins, with a four-game win streak on the line, began to make menacing gestures. Lennie Green's homer after Bernie Allen singled chased Donovan. Reliever Barry Latman gave up singles to Rich Rollins and Harmon Killebrew before ending it by striking out pinch hitter George Banks. Jim Kaat (1-4) was the loser.

While Kaline was providing the hitting, Phil Regan provided solid pitching for the Tigers to snap a five-game losing skid. Regan (2-2) limited the Angels, winners of four in a row, to six hits—one a homer by Steve Bilko. Eli Grba (1-1) took the loss.

Break 2-2 Tie In 8th Frame To Defeat Cards

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco's surging Giants marcn on while other National League contenders stand still—or worse. Whatever became of that multiple-team, wire-to-wire pennant race?

Taking on their closest pursuer and an old pitching nemesis Tuesday night the Giants carried away a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, boosting their lead to four games.

To gain the narrow win, the Giants had to beat Larry Jackson, who had whipped them eight straight times over a two-season span, and withstand some late Cardinal trouble. They did both on the tough pitching of Juan Marichal (5-2) and the star hitting of Orlando Cepeda, winning for the 12th time in their last 13 games.

Mets Now 9th

Los Angeles counter-rallied against Houston for a 9-6 decision in 10 innings, Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 6-4 and New York's Mets got out of last place for the first time in their young history and shoved Chicago into the cellar, downing the Cubs 3-1. The Milwaukee Braves and the Pirates were rained out at Milwaukee.

The Marichal-Cepeda combination paced the Giants, with Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey chipping in with vital hits. Cepeda slugged a two-run double against Jackson (3-3) in the first inning, then he and Alou connected for successive doubles in the eighth, breaking a 2-2 tie. Bailey came through with a single, delivering what proved to be the winning run.

The Cards played long ball against Marichal, counting a homer and double by Stan Musial, a homer by Carl Sawatski and Ken Boyer's double among the five hits off the youthful right-hander. Sawatski's homer and Boyer's double came in the bottom of the ninth. Marichal weathered the uprising for his fifth complete game and the ninth in the last 11 games for Giant pitchers.

Stan Paces League

The amazing Musial, 41, with a host of records to his credit, climbed into the league batting lead with a .388 average. San Francisco's Harvey Kuenn, with 1-for-3, dropped to second at .381.

The Dodgers dissipated a five-run lead against the rambunctious Colts but pulled it out behind the hitting of rookie Larry Burright and Maury Wills. Burright, who tripled and doubled earlier, legged out a bunt single off Bob Tiefenauer (1-1) with two away in the 10th and moved to third on Frank Howard's pinch single. Wills then crashed in the winner with his third single of the night. Two more runs scored on Dick Farrell's wild pitch and catcher Merritt Ranew's bad throw.

Reliever Ron Perranoski (2-0) was the winner.

The Dodgers pulled ahead 4-0, then 6-1 but the Colts kicked back by collecting 10 hits against Sandy Koufax and Larry Sherry, who each gave up a bases-filled walk.

Strand 16 Runners

Cincinnati was given one chance after another by Philadelphia's shaky pitching and defense, banging out 15 hits, drawing four walks and helped along by three Phillie errors. The telling figure was the 16 runners stranded by the Reds. Winning southpaw Chris Short (1-1) yielded 12 hits before he was replaced in the eighth by Dallas Green, who was tagged for Frank Robinson's two-run single. Jack Baldschun took over for Green in the ninth with one on, gave up two singles, then finished with a flourish by setting down the final three batters.

Billy Klaus' two-run homer was the big hit as the Phils built a 4-0 lead against Jim O'Toole (24). They nailed it down with two more off Howie Nunn in the sixth.

The Mets eased out of the cellar with help from the Cubs' erratic outfield play. One New York run came in when Billy Williams muffed a pop fly for his second two-base error of the game. The Mets wrapped it up when Felix Mantilla's key single skittered through George Altman's legs.

Hook (2-1) gave up one of the four Cub hits to the first man he faced, Lou Brock, then uncorked a wild pitch as Brock went for a steal of second. He continued on to third and scored on Williams' sacrifice fly. Don Cardwell, out for two weeks with a sore arm, gave up two singles to ex-teammate Sammy Taylor and nothing more until the sixth, when a walk, Charlie Neal's single and Williams' error produced the tying run. Two walks and Mantilla's single coupled with Altman's misplay produced the deciding runs against Bob Anderson (0-4) in the seventh.

Hawks Earn First Win With 3 Runs In Seventh Frame

Trailing by a 5-3 margin starting the seventh inning, the New Paltz Hawks rallied for three runs and earned their initial baseball victory of the season, 6-5, yesterday at the winners' diamond. The game was halted after the seventh by a previous agreement.

Chuck Breslou started the rally by drawing a walk and the Peds put in another pitcher. He promptly walked Bob Dilman and Bob Skipp on eight pitches to load the sacks.

Marty Jacobson then singled to drive home a run but Dilman was nailed at the plate. Don Bentsen followed with the winner, as he hit an 0-2 pitch for a double scoring the two runners.

Freshman Skip Davidson went the distance for the Hawks, allowing six hits while walking 10 and striking out five. He escaped several tight situations.

The Hawks are now 1-4 for the season and they play at East Strousburg on Friday and host Oneonta on Saturday.

Only 1,396 See Mets Beat Cubs

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel peered out of the dugout at Wrigley Field—the first time he had been there since leading his old Boston Braves against the Chicago Cubs in 1943.

"Must be a dozen fans up in the stands," said the New York Mets skipper. "Must be the cold weather. It couldn't be because the Cubs are playing us."

The opening of the three-game series—the battle of the National League cellar—actually drew 1,396 customers Tuesday. It was the smallest Wrigley Field gathering of the season.

The Cubs disappointed them by losing 3-1 as Jay Hook stifled them on four hits in his second route-going job.

Greets the Press

Before the game, Stengel spellbound a large delegation of newsmen, who filled the visiting dugout as if it were World Series time.

"I just met my two new pitchers (Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bob G. Miller) and this is what I said to them: 'Miller, how many innings you pitched?' He looked at me and said: 'Three or four.' I said: 'I guess you are ready for us anyway, so now you can consider yourself one of my early starters.'

"I said to Mizell: 'Can you pitch?' He said: 'Yes.' I said: 'OK, you pitch for us here in the last game of the series.'

"So, you see, we all got acquainted real quick.

"Our pitching staff is really shattered and I always have a lot of re-arranging to do. Some people think I have 10 starters, but actually there are only three—Hook, Craig (Roger) and Jackson (Al).

"And that brings me to training. We spent a lot of money getting players, and if they don't pan out after 30 or 35 days we'll get rid of some of them and may get a new batch. Any player who doesn't want to train or play for me can go to Weiss (George Weiss, general manager) or me and ask to be traded. They might go, or they might find themselves in the minors for more conditioning."

Houk Rates Cleveland As a Solid Contender

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees surveyed the rest of the American League from the summit today and predicted that the Cleveland Indians would remain one of the top contenders the rest of the season.

"They didn't figure high in the beginning," Hoak said, "but they do now. I like those two kids in the outfield, Ty Cline and Al Luplow. They have a solid infield and John Romano is a good catcher. There aren't many better arms in the majors than Willie Kirkland's."

Then Houk laughed:

"I see where Al Lopez says only his own Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers might be able to stop the Yanks. Wait until he sees the Indians. He's in for a shock."

In Second Place

The White Sox haven't played the Indians yet. The Tribe holds down second place, a game behind the Yanks after beating the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night, 6-3.

Houk also analyzed the troubles besetting both the Tigers and the Baltimore Orioles, other would-be contenders. Both are wallowing around in the second division.

"The Tigers are having trouble in the bullpen," observed Houk. "Every time (Manager Bob) Scheffing pulls in a relief pitcher, he's in trouble. I guess that's why he sticks with his starters so long.

"Otherwise, though, it's a good ball club. If the Tigers make a deal for a relief pitcher, you'll see some improvement in them."

As for the Orioles:

"All they need is time to get squared away with their pitching. They'll come on then. They've got a lot of power with guys like Boog Powell, Jim Gentile, Gus Triandos, Brooks Robinson and Jackie Brandt."

KHS Jayvees Earn 4-3 Win

Kingston High School's jayvee baseball team opened its season with a 4-3 squeaker over the visiting Newburgh nine Monday at Dietz Stadium.

Joe Schabot was the winner for the locals. He hurled good ball until the sixth when Vince Fisher came in to finish up.

Schabot allowed one hit, walked six and fanned six in his stint on the hill.

Fred Davi to Receive Page One Award in Sports at Guild Ball

FRED DAVI

One of the original pioneers of Hudson Valley baseball, a sports promoter for more than 35 years and a man dedicated to the National pastime will receive the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Award in Sports for 1962, it was made known today by Charles J. Tiano, general chairman. Fred J. Davi of Glasco thus becomes the seventh recipient of the sports award.

Davi will be honored at the annual Page One Ball, sponsored by the Guild. The seventh annual event will be held this year on Saturday, May 26, at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Previous winners of this coveted award have been Harry Markson, formerly of Kingston, a well-known fight promoter; Willard G. Burke, successful football coach at Kingston High; G. Warren Kias, Kingston High athletic director and formerly an outstanding basketball coach; Miss Mary M. Leach, director of girls' physical education at the high school; Andrew J. Murphy III, Superintendent of Recreation in the City of Kingston and William Straub, athletic director at Saugerties High.

Started in 1925

Though he never played baseball, Davi probably knows more about the game than anyone in the area. He started his promotion ventures back in 1925, when he ran the Glasco-Downhill Stars, while still a student at St. Mary's School in Saugerties.

"The game I played, was when my team in the City League needed a ninth man and in order not to forfeit, I played second base," he said. Davi was credited with one hit in three times to the plate.

In 1932, Fred ran the Davi All-Stars and this club featured several well-known players, including Percy and Steve Berardi, John Russo, Joe Marbello, Shep Ascenzo and many others.

An Outstanding Club

In 1934, it was the Crystal Beauty Shop team which played ball under Davi's guidance and from there it was the Kingston Colonials in the State League. This was a solid fearless club which met such teams as the Bushwicks, Fred Dahn's All-Stars and the best of the Connecticut teams. Observers still call this team the best in these parts.

Playing were such local heroes as Carl Husted, Charles Tiano, Vince Stoll, Williard Thomas, Lefty Martin, Charles Turck, Charles Francello, Pres Knight, Charlie Lay, Mac Tiano, Frank (Bing) VanEtten, Paul Joyce, Bud Culloton, Tom Maines, Dutch Glaser and others. This team was in existence until 1940.

Davi went to Connecticut during the war and from 1941 until 1945, he assembled one of the best clubs ever seen on a diamond. In fact, it would have been a threat to win against any of the top Major League teams. Included on the roster were Yogi Berra, Carl Furillo, Jim Gleason, Spec Shea, Junior Thompson, Chuck Connors, Al Cuccinello, Randy Gumpert, Sid Gordon, Buddy Kerr, George Stirnweiss, Bill Johnson, Red Branch, Jim Piersall and Aaron Robinson. In fact, during a stretch of seven days, these players knocked off three Major League clubs without defeat.

Davi has not become a rich man through baseball. In fact, from 1950, when he started to field a team in the New York-New Jersey League, until the present, it has been only through him that baseball is still played here. He has fielded a club in the league every season, despite the fact that there has been a financial deficit by the time activity ceases at the end of the year.

A Friend of DiMaggio

The Glasco resident recently had Joe DiMaggio here for an opening league game. The former Yankee Clipper is a very close friend of Davi's. Fred also has very fond relationships with Chuck (Rifle Man) Connors, Phil Rizzuto, Lefty Gomez, Piersall and Berra, among others.

Davi founded the Glasco-East Kingston Little League eleven seasons ago and he is still the president, having served as head man each year. He is a former president of the City Baseball League and also was president of the Glasco Italian-American Club, as well as presently serving as president of the Glasco Athletic Club.

A member of St. Joseph's Church in Glasco, Davi was a president of the Holy Name Society. He is also a member of Knights of Columbus.

Davi has not promoted only baseball in Kingston. Those dancing fans will remember the likes of Cab Calloway, Ozzie Nelson, Clyde McCoy, Gene Krupa and Tommy Dorsey when Davi brought them here.

Baseball fans will not forget the year DiMaggio brought an all-star team to Kingston to meet the Hudson Valley stars.

For his devoted and loyal interest to sports in general and to baseball in particular, we of the Kingston Newspaper Guild are proud to honor Fred Davi," according to Dorothy A. Narel, president.

Crandall Making Good Comeback

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee catcher Del Crandall, a four-time all-star game performer sidelined most of last season with a bad shoulder, is well on his way back—both at and behind the plate.

The 32-year-old Crandall has been one of the most pleasant surprises as the Braves, as preseason contender in pennant picks, struggle along with a 10-14 record.

Despite a year of virtual inactivity because of a painful right arm, Crandall is hitting the ball as well, if not better, than ever. And base runners aren't taking any liberties when he's behind the plate.

"My arm feels right, although maybe I'm more cautious in warming up, and I feel my progress grows better and better each day," he said Tuesday.

In 14 games this season, he has collected 15 hits, including two homers and a pair of doubles, good for six RBI and an average of .333.

Stallard Sent to Minors, Served No. 61 to Roger Maris

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston pitcher Tracy Stallard, who proclaimed "I'm not going to lose any sleep over it" after serving up home run No. 61 to Roger Maris, was back in the minors today, a victim of the strategic moves being made by baseball club officials to reach the 25-player limit.

A 24-year-old right-hander who appeared in 43 games for the Red Sox last year, Stallard became a pawn in the annual scramble to reach the mandatory cutdown by trimming the fringe players from the roster. The deadline this year runs out at midnight tonight.

Stallard posted a 2-7 record last year, and had been used only once this season—in a one-inning relief appearance. He was shipped to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League along with right-hander Billy Muffett, leaving the Red Sox one over the limit.

Boston then got down to 25 by selling southpaw Ted Wills to the Cincinnati Reds.

Gibbon Optioned

Another of the more noteworthy players pared from major league rosters Tuesday was Pittsburgh hurler Joe Gibbon, a 13-game winner last season who has been unable to pitch because of a strained muscle in his left elbow. The Pirates sent him to Kinston, N.C., where the heat is expected to bring his arm around.

Minnesota reduced its roster by placing ailing outfielder Jim Lemon on the disabled list. Lemon has been idled by a torn muscle in his left shoulder and it is estimated by doctors he'll be lost to the club for from four to six weeks.

Philadelphia made three moves, sending infielder Billy Consolo to the Los Angeles Angels, farming pitcher Ed Keegan and placing shortstop Ruben Amaro on the national defense service list. Amaro had been denied permission by the Army for an extension of his furlough.

Others cut were pitcher Tex Clevenger by the New York Yankees, pitcher Jim Lehew by Baltimore and pitcher Ray Daviault by the New York Mets.

Donovan, Tasby Pace Tribe; San Francisco Keeps Winning

Combine Talents For 6-3 Triumph Over Minnesota

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland General Manager Gabe Paul, a wheeling and dealing type in the Frank Lane manner but a little slower and surer before he pulls the trigger, has come up with a pair of key additions to the Indians in pitcher Dick Donovan and outfielder Willie Tasby.

The often peddled players, both acquired from Washington, carried the Indians to a 6-3 triumph over Minnesota Tuesday night that pulled second-place Cleveland to within one game of the American League leading New York Yankees.

Quite a Trade

Paul, who previously pulled the strings in Cincinnati, got Donovan in the trade that sent Jim Piersall to Washington and raised a howl from Cleveland fans. He picked up Tasby for two lesser lights in a deal that raised not an eyebrow.

But Tasby raised a couple against the Twins. The 29-year-old righty swinger who hit .251 last season, made his first start for the Indians and responded with a 2-for-5 performance, knocking in three runs, including what proved to be the clincher in a two-run seventh inning.

Donovan aided his own cause with a bases-loaded single that accounted for one run before Tasby stroked his hit for the decisive run.

Tasby's clincher provided Donovan with his fifth victory without a loss. The 34-year-old right-hander, who led the AL with a 2.40 earned run average while posting a 10-10 record last season, is the first hurler in the league to win five.

Al Kaline drove in four runs with his eighth homer, a triple and a single, leading Detroit to a 10-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels in the only other game played. Boston-New York, Kansas City-Baltimore, Chicago-Washington were postponed due to rain.

Donovan had a 6-1 lead going into the ninth when the Twins, with a four-game win streak on the line, began to make menacing gestures. Lennie Green's homer after Bernie Allen singled chased Donovan. Reliever Barry Latman gave up singles to Rich Rollins and Harmon Killebrew before ending it by striking out pinch hitter George Banks. Jim Kaat (1-4) was the loser.

While Kaline was providing the hitting, Phil Regan provided solid pitching for the Tigers to snap a five-game losing skid. Regan (2-2) limited the Angels, winners of four in a row, to six hits—one a homer by Steve Bilko. Eli Grba (1-1) took the loss.

Break 2-2 Tie In 8th Frame To Defeat Cards

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco's surging Giants march on while other National League contenders stand still—or worse. Whatever became of that multiple-team, wire-to-wire pennant race?

Taking on their closest pursuer and an old pitching nemesis Tuesday night the Giants carried away a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, boosting their lead to four games.

To gain the narrow win, the Giants had to beat Larry Jackson, who had whipped them eight straight times over a two-season span, and withstand some late Cardinal trouble. They did both on the tough pitching of Juan Marichal (5-2) and the star hitting of Orlando Cepeda, winning for the 12th time in their last 13 games.

Mets Now 9th

Los Angeles counter-rallied against Houston for a 9-6 decision in 10 innings, Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 6-4 and New York's Mets got out of last place for the first time in their young history and shoved Chicago into the cellar, downing the Cubs 3-1. The Milwaukee Braves and the Pirates were rained out at Milwaukee.

The Marichal-Cepeda combination paced the Giants, with Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey chipping in with vital hits. Cepeda slugged a two-run double against Jackson (3-3) in the first inning, then he and Alou connected for sucessive doubles in the eighth, breaking a 2-2 tie. Bailey came through with a single, delivering what proved to be the winning run.

The Cards played long ball against Marichal, counting a homer and double by Stan Musial, a homer by Carl Sawatski and Ken Boyer's double among the five hits off the youthful right-hander. Sawatski's homer and Boyer's double came in the bottom of the ninth. Marichal weathered the uprising for his fifth complete game and the ninth in the last 11 games for Giant pitchers.

Stan Paces League

The amazing Musial, 41, with a host of records to his credit, climbed into the league batting lead with a .388 average. San Francisco's Harvey Kuenn, with 1-for-3, dropped to second at .381.

The Dodgers dissipated a five-run lead against the rambunctious Colts but pulled it out behind the hitting of rookie Larry Burright and Maury Wills. Burright, who tripled and doubled earlier, legged out a bunt single off Bob Tiefenauer (1-1) with two away in the 10th and moved to third on Frank Howard's pinch single. Wills then crashed in the winner with his third single of the night. Two more runs scored on Dick Farrell's wild pitch and catcher Merritt Ranew's bad throw.

Reliever Ron Perranoski (2-0) was the winner.

The Dodgers pulled ahead 4-0, then 6-1 but the Colts kicked back by collecting 10 hits against Sandy Koufax and Larry Sherry, who each gave up a bases-filled walk.

Strand 16 Runners

Cincinnati was given one chance after another by Philadelphia's shaky pitching and defense, banging out 15 hits, drawing four walks and helped along by three Phillie errors. The telling figure was the 16 runners stranded by the Reds. Winning southpaw Chris Short (1-1) yielded 12 hits before he was replaced in the eighth by Dallas Green, who was tagged for Frank Robinson's two-run single. Jack Baldschun took over for Green in the ninth with one on, gave up two singles, then finished with a flourish by setting down the final three batters.

Billy Klaus' two-run homer was the big hit as the Phils built a 4-0 lead against Jim O'Toole (24). They nailed it down with two more off Howie Nunn in the sixth.

The Mets eased out of the cellar with help from the Cubs' erratic outfield play. One New York run came in when Billy Williams muffed a pop fly for his second two-base error of the game. The Mets wrapped it up when Felix Mantilla's key single skittered through George Altman's legs.

Hook (2-1) gave up one of the four Cub hits to the first man he faced, Lou Brock, then uncorked a wild pitch as Brock went for a steal of second. He continued on to third and scored on Williams' sacrifice fly. Don Cardwell, out for two weeks with a sore arm, gave up two singles to ex-teammate Sammy Taylor and nothing more until the sixth, when a walk, Charlie Neal's single and Williams' error produced the tying run. Two walks and Mantilla's single coupled with Altman's misplay produced the deciding runs against Bob Anderson (0-4) in the seventh.

Hawks Earn First Win With 3 Runs In Seventh Frame

Trailing by a 5-3 margin starting the seventh inning, the New Paltz Hawks rallied for three runs and earned their initial baseball victory of the season, 6-5, yesterday at the winners' diamond. The game was halted after the seventh by a previous agreement.

Chuck Breslou started the rally by drawing a walk and the Peds put in another pitcher. He promptly walked Bob Dilman and Bob Skipp on eight pitches to load the sacks.

Marty Jacobson then singled to drive home a run but Dilman was nailed at the plate. Don Bentsen followed with the winner, as he hit an 0-2 pitch for a double scoring the two runners.

Freshman Skip Davidson went the distance for the Hawks, allowing six hits while walking 10 and striking out five. He escaped several tight situations.

The Hawks are now 1-4 for the season and they play at East Strousburg on Friday and host Oneonta on Saturday.

Only 1,396 See Mets Beat Cubs

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel peered out of the dugout at Wrigley Field—the first time he had been there since leading his old Boston Braves against the Chicago Cubs in 1943.

"Must be a dozen fans up in the stands," said the New York Mets skipper. "Must be the cold weather. It couldn't be because the Cubs are playing us."

The opening of the three-game series—the battle of the National League cellar—actually drew 1,396 customers Tuesday. It was the smallest Wrigley Field gathering of the season.

The Cubs disappointed them by losing 3-1 as Jay Hook stifled them on four hits in his second route-going job.

Greets the Press

Before the game, Stengel spellbound a large delegation of newsmen, who filled the visiting dugout as if it were World Series time.

"I just met my two new pitchers (Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bob G. Miller) and this is what I said to them: 'Miller, how many innings you pitched?' He looked at me and said: 'Three or four.' I said: 'I guess you are ready for us anyway, so now you can consider yourself one of my early starters.'

"I said to Mizell: 'Can you pitch?' He said: 'Yes.' I said: 'OK, you pitch for us here in the last game of the series.'

"So, you see, we all got acquainted real quick.

"Our pitching staff is really shattered and I always have a lot of re-arranging to do. Some people think I have 10 starters, but actually there are only three—Hook, Craig (Roger) and Jackson (Al).

"And that brings me to training. We spent a lot of money getting players, and if they don't pan out after 30 or 35 days we'll get rid of some of them and may get a new batch. Any player who doesn't want to train or play for me can go to Weiss (George Weiss, general manager) or me and ask to be traded. They might go, or they might find themselves in the minors for more conditioning."

Houk Rates Cleveland As a Solid Contender

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees surveyed the rest of the American League from the summit today and predicted that the Cleveland Indians would remain one of the top contenders the rest of the season.

"They didn't figure high in the beginning," Hoak said, "but they do now. I like those two kids in the outfield, Ty Cline and Al Luplow. They have a solid infield and John Romano is a good catcher. There aren't many better arms in the majors than Willie Kirkland's."

Then Houk laughed:

"I see where Al Lopez says only his own Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers might be able to stop the Yanks. Wait until he sees the Indians. He's in for a shock."

In Second Place

The White Sox haven't played the Indians yet. The Tribe holds down second place, a game behind the Yanks after beating the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night, 6-3.

Houk also analyzed the troubles besetting both the Tigers and the Baltimore Orioles, other would-be contenders. Both are wallowing around in the second division.

"The Tigers are having trouble in the bullpen," observed Houk. "Every time (Manager Bob) Scheffing pulls in a relief pitcher, he's in trouble. I guess that's why he sticks with his starters so long.

"Otherwise, though, it's a good ball club. If the Tigers make a deal for a relief pitcher, you'll see some improvement in them."

As for the Orioles:

KHS Jayvees Earn 4-3 Win

Kingston High School's jayvee baseball team opened its season with a 4-3 squeaker over the visiting Newburgh nine Monday at Dietz Stadium.

Joe Schabot was the winner for the locals. He hurled good ball until the sixth when Vince Fisher came in to finish up.

Fisher homered for Kingston in the fourth frame. Jo Shapiro slammed a roundtripper for the visitors with a runner on base in the seventh to make the game close.

Schabot allowed one hit, walked six and fanned six in his stint on the hill.

Coach Mike Rienzo's boys will be at Poughkeepsie in their second start of the season on Thursday.

Stallard Sent to Minors, Served No. 61 to Roger Maris

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston pitcher Tracy Stallard, who proclaimed "I'm not going to lose any sleep over it" after serving up home run No. 61 to Roger Maris, was back in the minors today, a victim of the strategic moves being made by baseball club officials to reach the 25-player limit.

A 24-year-old right-hander who appeared in 43 games for the Red Sox last year, Stallard became a pawn in the annual scramble to reach the mandatory cutdown by trimming the fringe players from the roster. The deadline this year runs out at midnight tonight.

Stallard posted a 2-7 record last year, and had been used only once this season—in a one-inning relief appearance. He was shipped to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League along with right-hander Billy Muffett, leaving the Red Sox one over the limit.

Boston then got down to 25 by selling southpaw Ted Wills to the Cincinnati Reds.

Gibbon Optioned

Another of the more noteworthy players pared from major league rosters Tuesday was Pittsburgh hurler Joe Gibbon, a 13-game winner last season who has been unable to pitch because of a strained muscle in his left elbow. The Pirates sent him to Kinston, N.C., where the heat is expected to bring his arm around.

Minnesota reduced its roster by placing ailing outfielder Jim Lemon on the disabled list. Lemon has been idled by a torn muscle in his left shoulder and it is estimated by doctors he'll be lost to the club for from four to six weeks.

Philadelphia made three moves, sending infielder Billy Consolo to the Los Angeles Angels, farming pitcher Ed Keegan and placing shortstop Ruben Amaro on the national defense service list. Amaro had been denied permission by the Army for an extension of his furlough.

Others cut were pitcher Tex Clevenger by the New York Yankees, pitcher Jim Lehew by Baltimore and pitcher Ray Daviault by the New York Mets.

Fred Davi to Receive Page One Award in Sports at Guild Ball

FRED DAVI

One of the original pioneers of Hudson Valley baseball, a sports promoter for more than 35 years and a man dedicated to the National pastime will receive the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Award in Sports for 1962, it was made known today by Charles J. Tiano, general chairman. Fred J. Davi of Glasco thus becomes the seventh recipient of the sports award.

Davi will be honored at the annual Page One Ball, sponsored by the Guild. The seventh annual event will be held this year on Saturday, May 26, at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Previous winners of this coveted award have been Harry Markson, formerly of Kingston, a well-known fight promoter; Willard G. Burke, successful football coach at Kingston High; G. Warren Kias, Kingston High athletic director and formerly an outstanding basketball coach; Miss Mary M. Leach, director of girls' physical education at the high school; Andrew J. Murphy III, Superintendent of Recreation in the City of Kingston and William Straub, athletic director at Saugerties High.

Started in 1925

Though he never played baseball, Davi probably knows more about the game than anyone in the area. He started his promotion ventures back in 1925, when he ran the Glasco-Downhill Stars, while still a student at St. Mary's School in Saugerties.

"The game I played, was when my team in the City League needed a ninth man and in order not to forfeit, I played second base," he said. Davi was credited with one hit in three times to the plate.

In 1932, Fred ran the Davi All-Stars and this club featured several well-known players, including Percy and Steve Berardi, John Russo, Joe Marbello, Shep Ascenzo and many others.

An Outstanding Club

In 1934, it was the Crystal Beauty Shop team which played ball under Davi's guidance and from there it was the Kingston Colonials in the State League. This was a solid fearless club which met such teams as the Bushwicks, Fred Dahn's All-Stars and the best of the Connecticut teams. Observers still call this team the best in these parts.

Playing were such local heroes as Carl Husted, Charles Tiano, Vince Stoll, Williard Thomas, Lefty Martin, Charles Turck, Charles Francello, Pres Knight, Charlie Lay, Mac Tiano, Frank (Bing) VanEtten, Paul Joyce, Bud Culloton, Tom Maines, Dutch Glaser and others. This team was in existence until 1940.

Davi went to Connecticut during the war and from 1941 until 1945, he assembled one of the best clubs ever seen on a diamond. In fact, it would have been a threat to win against any of the top Major League teams. Included on the roster were Yogi Berra, Carl Furillo, Jim Gleason, Spec Shea, Junior Thompson, Chuck Connors, Al Cuccinello, Randy Gumpert, Sid Gordon, Buddy Kerr, George Stirnweiss, Bill Johnson, Red Branch, Jim Piersall and Aaron Robinson. In fact, during a stretch of seven days, these players knocked off three Major League clubs without defeat.

Davi has not become a rich man through baseball. In fact, from 1950, when he started to field a team in the New York-New Jersey League, until the present, it has been only through him that baseball is still played here. He has fielded a club in the league every season, despite the fact that there has been a financial deficit by the time activity ceases at the end of the year.

A Friend of DiMaggio

The Glasco resident recently had Joe DiMaggio here for an opening league game. The former Yankee Clipper is a very close friend of Davi's. Fred also has very fond relationships with Chuck (Rifle Man) Connors, Phil Rizzuto, Lefty Gomez, Piersall and Berra, among others.

Davi founded the Glasco-East Kingston Little League eleven seasons ago and he is still the president, having served as head man each year. He is a former president of the City Baseball League and also was president of the Glasco Italian-American Club, as well as presently serving as president of the Glasco Athletic Club.

A member of St. Joseph's Church in Glasco, Davi was a president of the Holy Name Society. He is also a member of Knights of Columbus.

Davi has not promoted only baseball in Kingston. Those dancing fans will remember the likes of Cab Calloway, Ozzie Nelson, Clyde McCoy, Gene Krupa and Tommy Dorsey when Davi brought them here.

Baseball fans will not forget the year DiMaggio brought an all-star team to Kingston to meet the Hudson Valley stars.

For his devoted and loyal interest to sports in general and to baseball in particular, we of the Kingston Newspaper Guild are proud to honor Fred Davi," according to Dorothy A. Narel, president.

Crandall Making Good Comeback

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee catcher Del Crandall, a four-time all-star game performer sidelined most of last season with a bad shoulder, is well on his way back—both at and behind the plate.

The 32-year-old Crandall has been one of the most pleasant surprises as the Braves, as preseason contender in pennant picks, struggle along with a 10-14 record.

Despite a year of virtual inactivity because of a painful right arm, Crandall is hitting the ball as well, if not better, than ever. And base runners aren't taking any liberties when he's behind the plate.

"My arm feels right, although maybe I'm more cautious in warming up, and I feel my progress grows better and better each day," he said Tuesday.

In 14 games this season, he has collected 15 hits, including two homers and a pair of doubles, good for six RBI and an average of .333.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

When Steve Barber, the fine left-hander, was in spring training, on furlough from the Army, he couldn't see himself as a weekend pitcher. . . . "I'm wild enough as it is, so how can I stay sharp just throwing on Sunday?" he complained. But so far, commuting weekends from Fort Bragg, N. C., his strikeout-walk ratio is the best he's shown in his short career (third season) with Baltimore. . . .

To get Joe Moeller, their 19-year-old recruit starter, the Los Angeles Dodgers not only had to slip him at $65,000 bonus . . . but pad it with $5,000 for his brother . . . who went to a D club as a catcher and was promptly released. . . .

A couple of years ago, Ken Boyer of the Cardinals said his kid brother Cletis, who plays third base for the Yankees, would never be a hitter until he mastered the trick of going to the opposite field "because he doesn't have the power to pull the ball." . . . Cletis, in the hottest streak of his career, is pushing the ball to right now, but with so much enthusiasm that those shots are carrying over the fence, too. . . .

Cletis Boyer

It turns out now that the football Giants got Y. A. Tittle, their leader in the division title drive, for a reserve defensive back, Elbert Kimbrough, who hardly played his rookie year. . . . Since the San Francisco Forty Niners traded Lou Cordileone, the original barter for Tittle, to Los Angeles for Kimbrough. . . .

Speaking of trades in professional football, look for the Giants to make some kind of a swap for Ralph Guglielmi, the St. Louis Cardinals' second-string quarterback . . . with Lee Grosscup of the Giants figuring somewhere in the trade since the Cards will need another quarterback to make up for the expected loss of Charley Johnson to the Army. . . .

Speaking of quarterbacks, the word on Sonny Jurgensen's arm isn't encouraging. . . . His shoulder, dislocated in the Runner-up Bowl, still hurts the Philadelphia Eagle. . . .

Teddy Brenner, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, insists, "Carlos Ortiz made his own deal for the Joe Brown fight. We don't do any business with Bill Daley." . . . On the boxing beat, still trying to figure out why Ortiz suddenly popped up with Honest Bill as his handler after winning the lightweight title, they can onnly surmise that Daley promised him a shot at the title, via Lou Viscusi (Brown's manager), for a piece of the action. . . .

Daley, throwing his weight around Las Vegas even before the fight, tried to give orders to publicist Irwin Rosee, who finally quieted him with, "Listen, I don't want to be known as Honest Irwin." . . .

This was the ninth inning of the Yankee opener and Louis Arroyo, protecting a slender lead, had two strikes on the batter when he threw one down the pike. . . . Only the umpire called it a ball and everyone in the park howled. . . . Except Luis, who calmly turned his back and prepared for the next pitch. Why? "It's too early in the season," explained the wily veteran, "to get the umpire mad at me. He call a lot of good ones for me last year. Maybe next time he give me a break." . . .

Young Tom Tresh on the difference between batting in the majors and minors: "You get your pitch once every time at bat up here . . . and you got to make good on it then." . . .

The Houston Colts say Dave Guisti is another one of those hurlers who thinks too much on the mound—he's a science teacher in the off-season. . . . Jay Hook of the New York Mets once was told by Waite Hoyt (the former Yankee hurling ace who now broadcasts Cincinnati's games), "You've got to decide whether you want to be a pitcher or a mechanical engineer." . . ."I'm a pitcher," asserts Hook, who gave the Mets their first victory. "If I weren't, I could be making as much money within two years as an engineer as I now make in baseball after five." . . .

Between you'n'me, Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors is in Europe, as reported, but not to pick up an announced Bentley for 15 G's. . . . He's going for a Rolls Royce . . . a $27,000 job, which represents a lot of buckets. . . .

NFL Unworried About Owens Signing With Baltimore Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The case of R. C. Owens playing out his option with the San Francisco 49ers, then signing with the Baltimore Colts does not worry the National Football League, Commissioner Pete Rozelle indicated today.

"We are not concerned," he shrugged. "The cases of players playing out their options are not unique."

The 6-3, 195-pound Owens, a pass-catching specialist, shopped around both leagues before signing with the Colts. Presumably they made him the best offer.

"Most players prefer to stay in the area where they play and where they have roots, business associates and are active in the community," Rozelle added.

Seeks Reserve Clause

But owner Harry Wismer of the American Football League New York Titans, warning that professional football is pricing itself into bankruptcy, called for a reserve clause similar to that which keeps baseball players on one team unless they are traded or retire.

In pro football, the player merely must notify his club if he wants out of his contract. Then he plays out his option for the next season for 90 per cent of his salary, and he is free.

"The war between the leagues has boosted playrolls 25 per cent," said Wismer. "Now the tug-of-war for players inside the leagues will hike it another 15 per cent. In a majority of cases in both leagues, the players are making more than the owners.

"If Owens can do it, what is to stop Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers or Johnny Unitas of the Colts from playing out their options and then putting themselves on the block to the highest bidder?"

Wismer said the players are getting fabulous salaries compared with their actual value.

Parnell Returns To Eastern Loop, But as a Manager

YORK Pa. (AP)—Mel Parnell, former Boston Red Sox pitching star and one of the four new managers in the Class A Eastern League this year, went into the majors from the Eastern League.

Parnell, manager of the York Roses, won 13 and lost 4 and posted a 1.30 earned run average in 1946 in helping Scranton win the pennant by 18½ games. His earned run average still stands as an EL record.

Parnell's outstanding record that year boosted him into the majors with the Red Sox in 1947 and he stayed with the club until 1957. His best year was in 1949 when he led the American League in complete games with 27 while posting a 25-7 record and an earned run average of 2.78 for 295 innings.

This is Parnell's third year as manager in the Red Sox' organization. He finished sixth with New Orleans of the Southern Association in 1959 and last year he wound up fourth with Alpine of the Sophomore League. This year his York Roses, who were rained out Tuesday night against Binghamton, are in fifth place in the six-team league. The Roses, 5-8, are four games out of first.

Springfield at Elmira and Charleston at Williamsport also were rained out Tuesday night.

Two Top Linemen Added to All-Stars

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two All-America linemen, tackle Billy Neighbors of Alabama and guard Roy Winston of Louisiana State, were added today to the roster of the East squad for the second annual All-America Bowl football game here June 29.

Also named to the East team today was Larry Vignali, a guard from Pitt.

Neighbors a 5-foot-11, 235-pounder, was the bulwark of the line for Alabama's 1961 national championship team, which went undefeated in regular-season play and then beat Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl.

The hard-rushing Winston, who stands 6-foot-1 and weighs 224 lbs., sparkled in LSU's 25-7 win over Colordo in the 1962 Orange Bowl.

Vignali is an outstanding blocker both on offense and defense. He is 5-foot-11 and 218 lbs.

Buffalo Hoping For Record Crowd

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Advance ticket sales and a "break in the weather" could produce Buffalo's largest opening day baseball crowd today when the International League Bisons meet the Atlanta Crackers in War Memorial Stadium.

John Stiglmeier, club president, said advanced sales promised a 20,000-plus turnout and, "If we get a break in the weather, I expect close to 25,000."

A record opening day attendance of 21,982 was set last season when the Bisons moved into the converted football stadium that seats over 40,000. The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast a cool clear day and temperatures in the mid 50s for the opener.

The tripie A league's top opening day crowd of 56,391 was set in 1941 when Jersey City was host to Rochester.

Tuesday was an open date in the league.

10—Road Rules

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

Happy-GO-LUCKY ignoramuses who disregard rules in boating are as dangerous and annoying as scatter-brained hot rodders on the road.

The rules of the road are simple. They are based on common sense and courtesy.

Keep to the right when meeting approaching craft. The boat being overtaken has the right of way. Give way to any boat approaching in your danger zone—your right hand side from dead ahead to slightly more than a right angle.

Sailboats have the right of way over power boats. Fishing boats have the right of way, but are not allowed in channels or to obstruct navigation. Boats leaving piers or wharves have no right of way.

There are whistle and horn signals for larger craft that should be learned before operating them.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

When Steve Barber, the fine left-hander, was in spring training, on furlough from the Army, he couldn't see himself as a weekend pitcher. . . . "I'm wild enough as it is, so how can I stay sharp just throwing on Sunday?" he complained. But so far, commuting weekends from Fort Bragg, N. C., his strikeout-walk ratio is the best he's shown in his short career (third season) with Baltimore. . . .

To get Joe Moeller, their 19-year-old recruit starter, the Los Angeles Dodgers not only had to slip him at $65,000 bonus . . . but pad it with $5,000 for his brother . . . who went to a D club as a catcher and was promptly released. . . .

A couple of years ago, Ken Boyer of the Cardinals said his kid brother Cletis, who plays third base for the Yankees, would never be a hitter until he mastered the trick of going to the opposite field "because he doesn't have the power to pull the ball." . . . Cletis, in the hottest streak of his career, is pushing the ball to right now, but with so much enthusiasm that those shots are carrying over the fence, too. . . .

Cletis Boyer

It turns out now that the football Giants got Y. A. Tittle, their leader in the division title drive, for a reserve defensive back, Elbert Kimbrough, who hardly played his rookie year. . . . Since the San Francisco Forty Niners traded Lou Cordileone, the original barter for Tittle, to Los Angeles for Kimbrough. . . .

Speaking of trades in professional football, look for the Giants to make some kind of a swap for Ralph Guglielmi, the St. Louis Cardinals' second-string quarterback . . . with Lee Grosscup of the Giants figuring somewhere in the trade since the Cards will need another quarterback to make up for the expected loss of Charley Johnson to the Army. . . .

Speaking of quarterbacks, the word on Sonny Jurgensen's arm isn't encouraging. . . . His shoulder, dislocated in the Runner-up Bowl, still hurts the Philadelphia Eagle. . . .

Teddy Brenner, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, insists, "Carlos Ortiz made his own deal for the Joe Brown fight. We don't do any business with Bill Daley." . . . On the boxing beat, still trying to figure out why Ortiz suddenly popped up with Honest Bill as his handler after winning the lightweight title, they can onnly surmise that Daley promised him a shot at the title, via Lou Viscusi (Brown's manager), for a piece of the action. . . .

Daley, throwing his weight around Las Vegas even before the fight, tried to give orders to publicist Irwin Rosee, who finally quieted him with, "Listen, I don't want to be known as Honest Irwin." . . .

This was the ninth inning of the Yankee opener and Louis Arroyo, protecting a slender lead, had two strikes on the batter when he threw one down the pike. . . . Only the umpire called it a ball and everyone in the park howled. . . . Except Luis, who calmly turned his back and prepared for the next pitch. Why? "It's too early in the season," explained the wily veteran, "to get the umpire mad at me. He call a lot of good ones for me last year. Maybe next time he give me a break." . . .

Young Tom Tresh on the difference between batting in the majors and minors: "You get your pitch once every time at bat up here . . . and you got to make good on it then." . . .

The Houston Colts say Dave Guisti is another one of those hurlers who thinks too much on the mound—he's a science teacher in the off-season. . . . Jay Hook of the New York Mets once was told by Waite Hoyt (the former Yankee hurling ace who now broadcasts Cincinnati's games), "You've got to decide whether you want to be a pitcher or a mechanical engineer." . . ."I'm a pitcher," asserts Hook, who gave the Mets their first victory. "If I weren't, I could be making as much money within two years as an engineer as I now make in baseball after five." . . .

Between you'n'me, Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors is in Europe, as reported, but not to pick up an announced Bentley for 15 G's. . . . He's going for a Rolls Royce . . . a $27,000 job, which represents a lot of buckets. . . .

NFL Unworried About Owens Signing With Baltimore Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The case of R. C. Owens playing out his option with the San Francisco 49ers, then signing with the Baltimore Colts does not worry the National Football League, Commissioner Pete Rozelle indicated today.

"We are not concerned," he shrugged. "The cases of players playing out their options are not unique."

The 6-3, 195-pound Owens, a pass-catching specialist, shopped around both leagues before signing with the Colts. Presumably they made him the best offer.

"Most players prefer to stay in the area where they play and where they have roots, business associates and are active in the community," Rozelle added.

Seeks Reserve Clause

But owner Harry Wismer of the American Football League New York Titans, warning that professional football is pricing itself into bankruptcy, called for a reserve clause similar to that which keeps baseball players on one team unless they are traded or retire.

In pro football, the player merely must notify his club if he wants out of his contract. Then he plays out his option for the next season for 90 per cent of his salary, and he is free.

"The war between the leagues has boosted playrolls 25 per cent," said Wismer. "Now the tug-of-war for players inside the leagues will hike it another 15 per cent. In a majority of cases in both leagues, the players are making more than the owners.

"If Owens can do it, what is to stop Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers or Johnny Unitas of the Colts from playing out their options and then putting themselves on the block to the highest bidder?"

Wismer said the players are getting fabulous salaries compared with their actual value.

Parnell Returns To Eastern Loop, But as a Manager

YORK Pa. (AP)—Mel Parnell, former Boston Red Sox pitching star and one of the four new managers in the Class A Eastern League this year, went into the majors from the Eastern League.

Parnell, manager of the York Roses, won 13 and lost 4 and posted a 1.30 earned run average in 1946 in helping Scranton win the pennant by 18½ games. His earned run average still stands as an EL record.

Parnell's outstanding record that year boosted him into the majors with the Red Sox in 1947 and he stayed with the club until 1957. His best year was in 1949 when he led the American League in complete games with 27 while posting a 25-7 record and an earned run average of 2.78 for 295 innings.

This is Parnell's third year as manager in the Red Sox' organization. He finished sixth with New Orleans of the Southern Association in 1959 and last year he wound up fourth with Alpine of the Sophomore League. This year his York Roses, who were rained out Tuesday night against Binghamton, are in fifth place in the six-team league. The Roses, 5-8, are four games out of first.

Springfield at Elmira and Charleston at Williamsport also were rained out Tuesday night.

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

Happy-GO-LUCKY ignoramuses who disregard rules in boating are as dangerous and annoying as scatter-brained hot rodders on the road.

The rules of the road are simple. They are based on common sense and courtesy.

Keep to the right when meeting approaching craft. The boat being overtaken has the right of way. Give way to any boat approaching in your danger zone—your right hand side from dare ahead to slightly more than a right angle.

Sailboats have the right of way over power boats. Fishing boats have the right of way, but are not allowed in channels or to obstruct navigation. Boats leaving piers or wharves have no right of way.

There are whistle and horn signals for larger craft that should be learned before operating them.

Buffalo Hoping For Record Crowd

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Advance ticket sales and a "break in the weather" could produce Buffalo's largest opening day baseball crowd today when the International League Bisons meet the Atlanta Crackers in War Memorial Stadium.

John Stiglmeier, club president, said advanced sales promised a 20,000-plus turnout and, "If we get a break in the weather, I expect close to 25,000."

A record opening day attendance of 21,982 was set last season when the Bisons moved into the converted football stadium that seats over 40,000. The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast a cool clear day and temperatures in the mid 50s for the opener.

The triple A league's top opening day crowd of 56,391 was set in 1941 when Jersey City was host to Rochester.

Tuesday was an open date in the league.

Fine Will Deny Tax Evasion, Is Word of Attorney

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former Gov. John S. Fine will take the witness stand and deny tax evasion charges in U.S. District Court here, says one of his five attorneys.

"We're not going to have the public in this state and in the nation think John Fine has anything to hide," Atty. J. Julius Levy said Tuesday night.

"We're all agreed Fine will take the stand—absolutely—if the case is going to go to the jury," the former U.S. attorney said, indicating the defense plans to ask for a dismissal of the charges at the conclusion of the prosecution's case.

"The government has no case," he said.

Fine, 68, Pennsylvania's 100th governor who served a four year term between 1951 and 1955, is charged with evading payment of $45,000 income taxes from 1955 through 1957.

Co-defendant is Donald P. Morgan, 50, of Malvern, brother of Fine's deceased first wife.

Selection of 11 jurors from 21 called at the start of the trial Tuesday was a slow process with Levy and Arthur A. Maguire, another former U.S. attorney, asking the prospective panelists a wide range of questions.

Esopus Board Has Ambulance Talk Set for Tonight

The regular monthly meeting of Esopus Town Board will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Town Hall, Port Ewen.

In April, the Town of Esopus, together with the towns of Ulster and Hurley, entered into a contract with Fatum's Ambulance Service of Kingston to guarantee emergency ambulance service to the township. Supervisor Roger Mabie urges all residents who still had any questions pertaining to the ambulance service or the contract entered into by the township to attend tonight's meeting so their questions may be answered or any misunderstanding cleared up.

Resort Employe Held In Chain Saw Theft

A 44-year-old Ellenville resort employe was arrested Tuesday on a chage of grand larceny second degree involving the alleged theft of a chain saw.

State Police Investigator George Dana, Ellenville, took Charles Beintema, an employe at the Cathalia Resort Hotel, Ellenville, into custody after investigation of the reported theft of the saw owned by the hotel.

Arraigned before Town of Wawarsing Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Beintema waived preliminary hearing and was ordered held in the Ulster County jail to await grand jury action.

The reported theft occurred last Friday or Saturday, troopers said.

Student Leaders Back President On Vassar Rules

Leaders of Vassar College student groups have declared support of Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, college president, in her stand that any Vassar girl who is promiscuous will face disciplinary action.

At a recent compulsory assembly, Miss Blanding warned students that the college will not condone excessive drinking on or off campus, and that any student who felt she could not abide by those innate standards of the college had better withdraw voluntarily before she was asked to leave.

Victoria Ehrhardt, a senior from Rye and vice president of the Newman Club at the college, said Miss Blanding had every right to set rules of conduct for students. She added "a small minority" of students could give the college a bad name.

Barbara Finan, Barre, Mass., president of the Newman Club, an organization of Catholic students, was quoted as saying "I don't feel this is any infringement on a student's freedom."

Sherry Brown, a senior from New York City, and former president of the College Government Association, said she "wholeheartedly" supports Miss Blanding's view.

"Vassar," she said, "has always had these standards." She added that Miss Blanding "simply made the standards explicit."

Miss Blanding told the students at the compulsory assembly that Vassar stands for traditional standards of decent personal conduct, and she emphasized the fact that what was once accepted as implicit must now be explicit.

Glens Falls Pay Increase Blocked By Court Order

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A court order stood in the way today of pay raises for city employes, including members of the common council.

Justice Robert G. Main of State Supreme Court issued the temporary injunction Tuesday at the request of Charles Garlen, chairman of the Committee for Restoration of Citizens' Rights in Glens Falls, a taxpayers' group.

The common Council had approved pay increases last month to cover all city employes, including elected officials.

The court order blocks the city from paying the increases until June 8, when a hearing on the order will be held in State Supreme Court in Schenectady.

Public Defender Costly: Schwartz

Creation of an office of public defender in Dutchess County would be expensive, County Judge John R. Schwartz said Tuesday, but he said he had no objections to such an office to relieve attorneys of increasing assignments without compensation.

Herbert J. Davis, secretary of the Dutchess County Bar Association, recently proposed creation of the office of public defender to defend defendants in criminal cases, who cannot afford to pay counsel.

Judge Schwartz said that in 1961 the Legislature passed a law which permits counties with more than 100,000 population to create public defender offices, and provides for an alternative of government assistance to Legal Aid Societies for defense of indigents.

The judge noted that under that permissive arrangement Dutchess County might appropriate funds to help support the free work of the Dutchess County Legal Aid Society.

R. Donald Slee, president of the Dutchess Bar Association, supporting Davis' proposal, contends the cost of a public defender's office, with staff, may cost $25,000 to $50,000 a year. Slee said that the man who takes the office would have to be well paid for full-time work, and not just a "yes man" for the district attorney's office.

Won't Cut Potential

CHICAGO (AP) — Diversion of water from Lake Michigan by Chicago will not reduce the hydroelectric potential of generating plants along the St. Lawrence Seaway, an engineer says.

Army Calls 5,000 For July Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's July draft quota will be 5,000 men—the smallest call since the beginning of partial mobilization last summer. The largest was 25,000 in September.

Two More Will Study Sales Tax

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Schenectady County has joined neighboring Albany County in giving active consideration to a proposal for a retail sales tax, and the mayor of nearby Troy has said he favors such a levy in Rensselaer County.

In the face of strong opposition, the Republican - controlled Schenectady County Board of Supervisors voted, 10-9, last night to refer the proposal for a two per cent sales tax to its finance committee for study. Two Republicans joined seven Democrats in an unsuccessful attempt to scuttle the proposal, the fate of which is doubtful.

The Democratic-controlled Albany County Board of Supervisors had referred a similar proposal to its finance committee Monday night.

In Troy last night, Republican Mayor Neil W. Kelleher said a countywide two per cent retail sales tax in Rensselaer County was the "only practical solution to the city's (financial) problems." He said such a levy would realize $1.5 million annually for the city.

No tax proposal has come before governmental bodies in Rensselaer County, however.

The sales-tax issue has raised controversy throughout the state. Three counties in the Adirondack resort area—Washington, Warren and Essex—have moved to impose sales levies. However on Monday, Essex County rescinded the tax it had voted to impose on July 1. Officials in the two neighboring counties have said they plan to go ahead with the imposition of the tax.

The sales tax laws adopted by the Adirondack counties provide for a two per cent tax on most retail sales and a three per cent levy on motel and hotel bills and restaurant checks of $1 or more.

HST Near Tears As Students Join Birthday Tribute

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A hint of tears came to Harry Truman's eyes when 71 exchange students from foreign lands trooped in to shake his hand Tuesday.

"It was so kind of you to come and celebrate the birthday of a 78-year-old man who has just about reached the end of the road," said the former president.

Their meeting climaxed the annual birthday party given for Truman by hometown friends. Guests included Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Hastings Insists Probe Important, Criticizes Mayor

Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, who headed a special Common Council investigating committee, which, was declared illegally formed, in a statement today disagrees with the claim of Mayor John J. Schwenk that the goal of such an investigation is without purpose and meaning.

The mayor made the claim in his announcement Tuesday of his veto of a measure aimed at gaining details of a March police board meeting at which it was claimed the mayor said that commissioners who did not agree with him could resign. The measure was intended to authorize the naming of another committee.

"In vetoing a special investigation committee resolution yesterday," Hasting said, "Mayor Schwenk used about 500 words to simply say that the people of Kingston will not get to hear the truth."

Alderman's View

The mayor he says "now appears to be doubting the intelligence of our residents in the City of Kingston, which is a grave error. Our people know that the mayor publicly invited this special investigating committee to meet with him in a closed meeting to discuss the investigation. Now he says that 'the investigation as defined in the resolution is completely without meaning.' Our people also know that the mayor publicly said that he would cooperate with the original investigation, but he vetoes the legal means of forming the committee. It is evident that these contradictions will be remembered by the people."

"The mayor," he says, "also mentions wasteful and unnecessary funds. No figures or facts. Just distasteful words, in an attempt to avoid embarrassment and to anger the public against such spending."

Claims Credit for Party

The mayor, he said, "then speaks of legislative responsibilities, and on this subject, I invite and urge every resident in the city to visit your city clerk's office in City Hall, and review legislation which has been introduced, worked through committees and enacted on your Common Council floor since the first of January. Our residents will note that every piece of important and progressive legislation such as housing for the elder citizens, transfer of park land for schools, to name a few, were introduced and worked through the council by Democratic aldermen."

"As a matter of fact," he said, "I personally introduced the legislation to lower parking meter rates (which we have not seen yet) but when the Democratic aldermen fill Mayor Schwenk's only campaign promise yet achieved, how much more cooperation can one expect.

"It is about time that the Republican office holders from the mayor down to the junior aldermen, stop hiding behind the Democratic alderman's hard work and such terms as sore losers and dirty politics, and start earning their salaries which are paid by our hard working taxpayers, who want results—not vetoes."

Hong Kong Returns Peiping Refugees

HONG KONG (AP)—Hong Kong police and British troops have rounded up thousands of refugees from hunger-ridden Red China in recent days and returned them to their Communist homeland.

Overcrowded Hong Kong doesn't have room for them. Other non-Communist nations won't take them.

Some had endured almost incredible hardships in their futile flight by land over rough terrain or by sea crammed below the decks of smuggler junks.

Border patrols caught many as they hid in the underbrush-covered hills on the Hong Kong side of the border.

Others were trapped aboard junks or picked up on side roads as they tried to make their way to the crowded cities of Hong Kong and Kowloon.

They were gathered at a police camp in the closed border area, fed, given some food to carry, and then returned to border crossing stations in police vans and trucks. Their fate, after their forced return to Red China, is unknown.

Government officials refuse to say how many illegal immigrants have been returned. The conservative English-language Morning Post, quoting sources close to the police, said several thousand had been forcibly returned to China in the last week.

Since 1948, the year the Chinese Communists mounted their final drive to seize control of the mainland, more than a million refugees have crossed the China border into this tiny British colony.

Most of them—and their children born since then — are still here. No other nation has been willing to accept them in significant numbers.

Hong Kong's population — 600,000 at the end of World War II—has swollen to nearly 3.5 million. The colony has an area of only 391 square miles.

Government officials say the colony no longer has the capacity to care for the natural increase of its present population — 91,000 more births than deaths in 1960—and the 10,000 or more refugees who try to sneak into the colony every month.

We believe your roof is a vital part of your building.
We consider, in making a proposal, that you believe in us and that you want a good roof, with the very necessary parts that go to make up the total.
The type and quality shingle or built-up roofing you choose is MOST important. However, proper application, proper flashings, and proper treatment of unusual parts of your roof must be a part of the job to make a strong integrated roof at completion.
Even though YOU pay for it . . . we consider your roof is OUR roof, after we complete it.
